SUMMARY.

A fire broke out on the steamer Volturno while on the voyage from Rotterdam to New York.

Steamers went to the rescue, in response to wireless calls; but they were unable to render help owing to a gale raging.

Out of 757 persons on board, 136 are missing.

The land reform campaign was opened by Mr. Lloyd George at Bedford.

He characterised the present land system as a ghastly failure, and condemned the landlord monopoly.

The Government's policy, he said, was to reduce the game lands by two-thirds, and give the cultivator greater security.

The ceremony of installing General Yuan Shih Kai as President of the Chinese Republic was a brilliant function.

President Wilson pressed an electric button at the White House, allowing the water to flow into the Culebra Cut, 4000 miles away.

Vessels of light draught are now able to navigate the greater part of the Panama Canal.

It is said that the President is asking Congress to abandon the idea of discrimination against foreign shipping.

Women suffragists broke the windows in the residences of several doctors in the West End of London.

A band of suffragists interrupted the service in Westminster Abbey by singing chants for the imprisoned suffragists.

Sir George Reid has been elected president of the Australian Chamber of Commerce in London.

The New Zealand footballers defeated the Barbarians at San Francisco by 30 to nil.

Earl Grey says the Unionists should accept the invitation to consider seriously the Home Rule problem on Federal lines.

Lord Dunraven is also appealing for a settlement by conference.

The French President, who is visiting Madrid, refused to attend a bullfight organised in his honour.

The Miners' Federation Conference negatived a resolution for a five-days' working week on all coalfields.

The Master Cotton Spinners' Federation has confirmed the recommendation of the executive to close the mills on the 25th inst.

The champion Shorthorn bull at the Palermo show, in the Argentine, was sold for £16,000—the world's record.

The clauses in the new Tariff Act in the United States in regard to the rebate is to be ignored until further notice.

President Huerta has established himself as Military Dictator of Mexico.

There is now little likelihood of the elections taking place.

The Quinlan Grand Opera season was brilliantly inaugurated with "The Mastersingers" at Her Majesty's on Saturday night.

The Prime Minister stated at a banquet on Saturday that Mr. Griffin intends to remain and look after his Federal capital plan.

A sum of £150,000 has already been spent on the capital. The work is to be pushed on, and £285,000 will be expended this year.

It is stated that Mr. H. Willis, M.L.A., will contest the Upper Hunter as an independent candidate.

Mr. P. B. Colquhoun has been selected as the Liberal candidate for Mosman.

Residents on the Southern line between Picton and Mittagong are challenging the departmental survey for the deviation.

Mr. M. Cromarty defeated Mr. Fegan by five votes in the Liberal selection for Wickham.

The final of the series of functions to celebrate the Newington College jubilee was a garden party, which was largely attended.

On the concluding day of the A.J.C. Spring meeting, Duke Foote won the Randwick Plate, and Matoures the Waverley Handicap.

The stakes distributed at the meeting aggregated £24,023, of which £5812 was secured by "Mr. J. Baron."

Mr. J. E. O'Brien won £4801 in the Derby and The Shorts, and Messrs. J. and P. Brun £4264 by Cagou's win in the Metropolitan.

Andelosia won the Caulfield Guineas at the V.A.T.C. Spring meeting, and Mountain Princess the Caulfield Stakes.

Saturday's shooting at Randwick was confined to the service events. The firing was excellent.

The Rawson was won by the Randwick Literary Institute Rifle Club, with Hawkesbury College second.

There were five cases of smallpox during Saturday and yesterday. The vaccinations numbered 81.

Dr. Cumpston describes the rejection of the Vaccination Bill as a calamity.

The Federal Government, he says, will have to continue the regulations now in force until the disease is stamped out.

A couple of trucks broke away during shunting operations at St. Marys Railway Station, and dashed along the main line.

The signalman turned them into a siding, and they struck the dead-end with great force.

The Mayor of Manly has submitted a minute to the council recommending the removal of the tramlines from the Corso.

He proposes to have the lines brought along Belgrave-street to relieve the congested traffic along the main thoroughfare.

The decision of the President of the Arbitration Court in the case of the Postal Electricians was a victory for the men.

The A.W.U. has endorsed a schedule of rates and conditions which it suggests should govern the rural industries.

The total number of students at evening continuation schools for the last quarter shows a decrease on the previous quarter.

The Manly Council has decided to ask the company for an improved ferry service with the city.

A van attached to a train from Stawell to Ballarat caught fire, and travellers' samples, merchandise, and mail bags were destroyed.

The president of the Methodist Conference spoke at the opening of the new Methodist Church at Tarana.

He deprecated the tendency to hold religious obligations lightly.

A train dashed into a train standing at Lowood (Q.) station, 10 goods waggons being derailed.

The fireman of one of the engines was rendered unconscious, and the driver was injured.

Mr. W. L. Allardyce, C.M.G., Governor of the Falkland Islands, arrived in Newcastle on Saturday.

He says the Falkland Islands are an Eldorado for whalers.

The late Mr. T. P. Reeve, Churchman and philanthropist, was buried on Saturday.

Manly won the first and second grade premierships in the Suburban and Country Golf Association grade matches.

The North Shore Rowing Club's regatta was held on Saturday in the form of a Henley-on-Parramatta.

Leichhardt won the champion fours, and Sydney the maiden eights.

Efforts are being made to introduce German farmers in the Albury district on the share system.

Several persons had narrow escapes during a fire in a big boarding-house in Wellington.

The threatened strike of builders' labourers in Melbourne has been averted.

The opening of the yachting season was celebrated by the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron on Saturday by a series of evolutions.

At a smoke social in Melbourne the Postmaster-General foreshadowed several reforms in the Postal Department.

At the motor cycling matches in Melbourne H. M'Coll, one of the competitors, was fatally injured.

The mails by the R.M.S. Moldavia, dated London, September 12, will be delivered from the G.P.O. to-day.

A quiet market ruled for mining stocks on Saturday. There were strong buyers of Mount Oxide Options.

Forecast.—Except for some showers, with thunder, in the north-eastern districts, fine generally, with east to south-east winds.

LASSETTERS'
WHITE ROBES.

The seasons come and the seasons go—Dame Fashion says this, that, or the other. We think these colours are lovely, and those are "de rigueur," this year. But —the sun comes along, and the air is filled with glow and refulgence, and we say every time, let us have something that is white, something that looks cool, something that is more or less diaphanous, something that will not show the dust, something which, if soiled, is easily renewed; something which never looks vulgar, which makes the plain woman look pretty, and the pretty woman angelic. The season offers a large assortment of white materials to choose from. There are White Cambrics and Lawns for hard wear; there are dainty White Muslins for occasional wear; for Puritanical Neatness there are good quality Japanese Silks; for elegant denseness there are beautiful embroidered Cotton Voiles and Superb Embroidered Nets. For ordinary every day wear, at prices within the reach of all purses, come White Linens and White Crepes.

LASSETTERS
carry full stocks of all these, in a large range of Styles and Prices.
Below will be found just a typical example of each of the varieties of fabric mentioned above:—

CHARMING WHITE CAMBRIC ROBE.—This is a one-piece garment, prettily trimmed, with wide strips of good Swiss Muslin Embroidery Insertion, Yoke and Cuffs of fine Valenciennes Lace and Insertion, trimmed down both sides of front and right round skirt, giving tunic effect. Price, 17/11.

ALL-OVER BRODERIE ANGLAISE ON LAWN.—One-piece Robe, made in a fine lawn, embroidered all over with Broderie Anglaise Pattern, two-piece pointed turndown Collar and Gauntlet Cuffs, edged with pretty Embroidery Beading and Valenciennes Lace, new three-quarter sleeve, and piped armhole. Price, 21/.

ONE-PIECE ROBE, IN WHITE MUSLIN.—This is made in a fine Organdie Muslin, embroidered right down front of Bodice and Skirt with a handsome, wide, open work pattern, also with narrow stripes of embroidery and spoke Stitch, Square Neck, waistband, and bottom of skirt finished with a two-inch embroidery beading. Price, 21/9.

SIMPLE JAPANESE SILK ROBE.—This one-piece Robe is made in a Superior Quality White Japanese Silk. It is quite simply made, with no trimming. It has a turndown Collar, turnback cuffs to the three-quarter sleeves, which are put in with a tuck, cross-over effect to front of bodice, finished with buttons. A short basque gives tunic effect. Skirt is plain, with a deep hem, and a one-inch tuck down centre, back, and front. Price, 50/.

CHARMING WHITE COTTON VOILE ROBE.—This is made in a good quality fine cotton voile, trimmed on bodice with pin and half-inch tucks, front panel of wide Guipure lace, falling loose below waist; also with high collar of Guipure, which can be removed, as neck is finished with French Knots. Skirt has a wide 14 inch Band of Guipure round, just above wide hem, finished with Silk Sash, in various colours. Price, 63/.

BEAUTIFUL EXAMPLE OF A FINE EMBROIDERED NET.—This one-piece Robe is dainty in the extreme, deeply embroidered on skirt, bodice and short sleeves, covered with embroidered patterns and fine beading and tucking, it has a slight V at neck, trimmed daintily with small porcelain buttons; it has also a short basque, embroidered all over, finished at edge with dainty bob trimming. Price, 5 Guineas.

THE PRETTIEST WHITE CREPE ROBE OF THE SEASON.—This one-piece garment is made in an all-wool Crepe, beautifully tucked in front with long rows of perpendicular tucks from neck to hem. Turndown Collar and Gauntlet Cuffs of Fine Muslin, embroidered with French Knots, in colours, and whipped on the scalloped edges with contrasting tones, trimmed with Butterfly Bow and Waistbelt and Sash in Paillette Ribbon, finished with White Knitted Buttons. Price, 4 Guineas.

PREPARING FOR SUMMER.
FLEET FESTIVITIES and the Big HOLIDAY PROGRAMME are EVENTS of the PAST. TOWN and COUNTRY alike are SETTLING down, MAKING their preparations for SUMMER, and ONCE MORE resuming the REGULAR ORDER of AFFAIRS. SUMMER SHOPPING is now an ESSENTIAL PART of the DAILY PROGRAMME, and WISE Folk SAVE NO END of MONEY by PUTTING PERFECT FAITH in ANTHONY HORDERNS' FAMOUS LOW PRICES.
These GREAT PROMOTERS of ECONOMY go a LONG WAY towards REDUCING the COST OF LIVING by SUBSTANTIALLY INCREASING the PURCHASING POWER of the SOVEREIGN. Here are some SEASONABLE examples:—

THE CHILCOTT REFRIGERATOR.
CHILCOTT REFRIGERATORS are SCIENTIFICALLY constructed with PERFECT AIR CIRCULATION, thereby assuring the MAXIMUM efficiency with a MINIMUM ice consumption. The CHILCOTT is made at OUR REDFERN CABINET WORKS, designed to meet Australian conditions, and is more EASILY OPERATED than ANY OTHER MAKE.

"THE LAST DAYS OF POMPEII,"
—a 7000ft Adaptation of Lord Bulwer Lytton's
Immortal Roman Tragedy—
ON A PEDESTAL HIGH ABOVE ANY FILM WORK
PREVIOUSLY PRESENTED IN AUSTRALIA.
Just as Mr. Spencer predicted,
"MORE ARTISTIC THAN 'QUO VADIS?'
and just as thrilling."
The reproduction of Lord Lytton's intensely powerful dramatic story was carried out amid the exact localities described by the author, and presents
A SERIES OF WONDERFUL SPECTACLES, AMAZING IN THEIR MAJESTIC GRANDEUR,
Culminating in an Awe-inspiring Representation of
THE DESTRUCTION OF POMPEII.
"Day was turned into night, and light into darkness; an inexpressible quantity of dust and ashes was poured out, deluging land, sea, and air, and burying two entire cities, Herculaneum and Pompeii, while the people were sitting in the theatre."
Thousands of actors appear in the cast, while 50 Mounted Gladiators and 15 Lions figure in the gorgeous circus ensemble.

WANTED, good LADY VOCALISTS, Dancing, Soubrette. Lady to play piano and sing; also advance agent, experienced. Apply by letter only, at once, Loraine, Montana Hotel, King-st, city.

ROSE DAY.

SATURDAY NEXT, OCT. 18.

From early morning until late at night Thousands of Ladies will appeal for contributions in the streets of the City and Suburbs on behalf of fifty-six noble charities of Sydney. These embrace in titutions for the Blind, the Deaf, the Sick, the Destitute, the Fatherless, the Crippled, and the Incurable, regardless of Race or Creed.

THE DAY IS DEDICATED TO CHARITY.

All that is needed is money, and unto everyone who gives will be given a rose, "the mother of flowers." The rose is the chosen symbol of charity for the day.

IT IS IMPORTANT THAT ALL GROWERS OF ROSES SHOULD CO-OPERATE. Those who have not arranged to give blooms to the collectors in the different suburbs and city areas will assist materially by bringing as many as possible into Sydney early on Saturday morning. Depots have been arranged at the following centres:—Central Railway Station, for all growers for all lines terminating there; Circular Quay, at the respective wharfs of Parramatta, Lane Cove, North Sydney, Neutral Bay, Mosman, Cremorne, Manly, and Watson's Bay ferries; Town Hall, for Leichhardt, Balmain, Forest Lodge, Annandale, Abbotsford, and all trams converging on George-street; Mark Foy's, corner of King and Elizabeth streets for all trams from Bellevue Hill and Waverley, King and Elizabeth street corner also for trams from Rose Bay, Darling Point, and Edgecliff tram.

ALL COLLECTORS ARE EARNESTLY REQUESTED TO SECURE THEIR OWN SUPPLIES. It is also urged, so as to be in keeping with the spirit of the day, that all collection stands should be florally decorated.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR OF NEW SOUTH WALES AND LADY EDELINE STRICKLAND, WHO HAVE EXPRESSED WHOLE-HEARTED SYMPATHY WITH THE MOVEMENT, OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, OF WHICH HER LADYSHIP IS PRESIDENT, WILL INSPECT THE DIFFERENT CITY STANDS AT 12.30.

A PRIZE of a Box at the Quinlan Grand Opera will be given for the BEST DECORATED STAND.

OTHER PRIZES—A Box at "Within the Law" for the lady representing the area in which the largest sum is collected. TWO SEATS for "Within the Law" for the lady making the largest individual collection in each area. BOX for "Dorothy" or "Within the Law" for the lady collecting the greatest amount of money on the Rose Cards, which cards may now be had on application to Mr. Arthur Upjohn Secretary United Charities, Hoffnung's-chambers, Pitt-street.

ALL LADIES DESIRING TO ASSIST IN COLLECTING ON "ROSE DAY" please communicate with Mr Upjohn before Wednesday next.

SPRING MEETING.

THE A.J.C.

ANOTHER WIN FOR DUKE FOOTE.

BARDEN'S STABLE IN FORM.

The Spring Meeting of the Australian Jockey Club was brought to a conclusion at Randwick on Saturday in ideal weather, and, although most of the interstate visitors had returned home, there was again a large muster of country sportsmen, the attendance totalling about 40,000. The course and surroundings looked bright and fresh, notwithstanding the wear and tear of the previous days, and reflected great credit on Ranger Brown, who was responsible for their upkeep. The carnival has undoubtedly been one of the most successful held at headquarters, and during the four days nearly 200,000 people witnessed the racing, which was interesting from start to finish, and free from serious accident or unpleasantness. The general arrangements, which were in the hands of Mr. C. W. Cropper, were in every way satisfactory. Mr. L. De Groen's Vice-regal Concert Band was stationed on the lawn, and during the afternoon played a programme of popular airs.

ON THE LAWN.

A PICTURESQUE GATHERING.

A gloriously fine day favoured the A.J.C. members for the close of their spring racing carnival on Saturday, when there was another large and fashionable attendance. The day proved one of the most pleasant of the meeting. Admiral Patey, accompanied by Flag-Captain Radcliffe, and attended by Flag-Lieutenant Foe, was amongst the numerous spectators, and expressed his pleasure at being present. There were no vice-regal visitors, but the members' enclosure and stand were thronged with a gaily and beautifully dressed gathering. Many luncheon and afternoon tea parties were given, and the many social gatherings and events of the past week formed a general topic of conversation.

In the fashions seen at the Randwick races the majority of dresses were very pretty and charming. The acme of good dressing is suitability to the occasion, and, of course, we are now discussing "race" clothes, which are for future festive occasions, such as garden parties and fetes, "at homes," and other social gatherings.

There is a general and welcome improvement in the colours now worn, only here and there daring bright contrasts being noticed. Patterned materials are much worn, from the handsome satin brocades and broches to the dainty floral ninons, crepes, or voiles, now so fashionable for the coatees so much in vogue. It is distinctly an expensive season, for although the dresses appear, and are, so simply made their beauty depends upon the "cut," the hand work put into the best of them, and the numerous little accessories so essential to the "finish" of a toilette generally add considerably to the expense. The collars and sashes (quite an important adjunct), the buttons, the frills, the gloves, the flowers, the hosiery, and the footwear have all to be considered, and must harmonise or correspond in colour with the dress.

Many of the best skirts were much fuller and more draped than recently. Here and there were women who walked about in the tightest and shortest of skirts, and very much overdressed; but on the whole it was a well-dressed crowd.

Apropos of the millinery, there is no doubt the choice of hats grows more difficult every season, and never was it more apparent than at the present time, when so many milliners will insist upon substituting eccentricity for smartness upon their customers; consequently there were examples of "freak" millinery—all too common nowadays. The best-dressed women wore small or moderatel sized hats, the majority trimmed with black or coloured tulle and feathers, which were becoming to most wearers; and for those who are prejudiced against the fashion of wearing feathers or ospreys the new and fashionable "wheat," in every colour, was substituted with charming effect, and made an inexpensive form of trimming. The dainty ribbon-trimmed straw hats also looked well. The soft and delightful shades have nearly made the crude and glaring colours things of the past, and no woman need now wear anything that would offend the eye.

Lady Barton wore white satin veiled with black ninon, trimmed with black satin, and a black hat with white feathers. Lady Innes, brown crepe de Chine and ninon, and a brown tulle hat with pink roses. Mrs. T. F. Knox, black crepe de Chine and ninon, and a small black toque with black osprey and clusters of heliotrope flowers. Mrs. Worrall, cream silk veiled with grey voile, and touches of shot vieux rose, black hat with shaded grey feathers. After the races, Mrs. Steer Bowker entertained a large number of friends at tea at her residence, Brantwood, New South Head-road, Darling Point.

THE RACING.

The high-class character of the sport on the preceding days of the reunion, was fully maintained on the final day, though the fields were not of such large proportions. Speculation was well sustained, and with three favourites getting home in safety, while the winners of the other three events were second or third favourites, backers had all the better of the financial deal. As on the previous days the going was excellent, and the mishaps that occurred were incidental to racing over obstacles. In the Dowling Steeplechase several of the contestants came down, Inverlorn at an early stage over the fence opposite Oxenham's, and the same obstacle in the second round proved fatal to the Victorian gelding Tinapagee, who broke his neck; while the last fence brought down Wadden. Fortunately, none of the riders was injured. The feature of the racing was the successes achieved by the stable over which J. Barden presides, three of the races falling to horses owned by "Mr. J. Baron," whose colours were accorded quite an ovation when Duke Foote captured the Randwick Plate.

The Highweight Handicap, with which proceedings commenced, attracted a score of runners, and there was most money for Alfred Jackson and Mersina, the former of whom had a slight call in the market at the rise of the barrier; while Delara, Noogilla and Bavard were the best supported of the others. Nombi, Milfoil, Oweenee, and Warman formed the leading division for half the journey; then Carna ran through, taking temporary charge at the bend, but, with Nombi, swung out right across the course as they came into the straight, losing so much ground that both horses were among the last to pass the post. Warman and Oweenee were first into the home stretch, where Alfred Jackson ran up behind the leaders, and, getting through inside the distance, was able to withstand a bold charge from Border King, who finished at his girths; while Virginie, who had made up a deal of leeway in the last couple of furlongs, filled the other situation. Mersina was always in a good position, but was just beaten out of a place. Alfred Jackson was bred by his owner, "Mr. J. Baron," and is by imported Trussing Cup (son of Orme) from Electra, by Russley from Electric Light, by Grand Flaneur, and though in his fourth year this was his first win.

The Waverley Handicap was responsible for a field of a dozen, and despite his complimentary burden Alured was sent out a pronounced favourite, with Electrakoff and Matouree next fancied, while Sir Vive and Tartanus were the only onthers who chances were seriously considered. Irish Figure with Alured and Elystan to escort him, carried his field along at a sound pace to the seven furlongs post, where Tartanus, who had been running in the rear, joined the leading division. Irish Figure held his place until the distance was reached, then Elystan put in his claim, drew up alongside the leader, and in their wake the favourite and Electrakoff were threatening danger. Just there Matouree appeared upon the scene, and putting in a solid run, got his head in front at the half-distance, and won from Electrakoff and Alured, who were only separated by a head. Sir Vive was up with the leading division in the early stages, but lost his place, and, coming again with a late run from the distance, finished with Irish Figure, who had cut out nearly all the work, just behind the placed horses. Alured put up a good performance, for he was conceding 27lb to Matouree. The winner was bred at the Wambo stud, and is by Playbill (imp.) from Trilby, by Lochiel from The Oaks, by Goldsbrough, and he has not won out of his turn, for he has not troubled the judge since he secured the November Handicap at Williamstown (Vic.), last year.

Nine faced the big jumps in the Dowling Steeplechase, in which Victoria was represented by Guncap and Tinapagee, while Glenmore acted on behalf of New Zealand. Glenmore came across the Tasman sea with a good reputation for fencing, but he somewhat frayed it by making a mistake on Metropolitan day, notwithstanding which he was again soundly supported on this occasion, and only a shade of odds was available against him as they lined up before the starter. Tinapagee was next fancied, and there was also good money for Wadden, Guncap, and Belenus, but expansive prices could be had about the balance of the field. The early running was made by Guncap and Don Q., but the latter was soon out of commission, having parted company with his rider at the obstacle near the mile post in the first round, Inverlorn having come to grief over the preceding fence. Crossing the hill for the first time Guncap was at the head of affairs, but going down towards Kensington he was joined by Wadden and the favourite, the trio flying the fence at that point almost in line. On landing the favourite drew clear from Wadden, while Guncap lost ground, and thence the issue lay between the two leaders, who, fencing in fine style, crossed the quadruple in front of the stand, where Tinapagee began to take liberties with the brush, and the next fence brought down the son of Marcombe, whose racing career was brought to an untimely end. Glenmore held his place across the hill for the second time, but Wadden was upsides with him before reaching the Kensington fence, and cleared it with the New Zealander at his girths. Thence the pair, locked together, fought out a bitter battle to the final obstacle, which brought Wadden to grass, leaving the favourite with a substantial advantage of 30 lengths from Guncap, and, though victorious, the son of Captain Webb came home very tired. The last obstacle stopped Busra, and Torone did not get round. Belenus put up a good fight, and received third money.

The field for the Members' Handicap was one short of a dozen, and at the rise of the barrier favouritism was disputed by Cedilla and Kirribilli, while Crosska, who had yet to join the winning list, was also stanchly supported, and the Newmarket stable representative Stainer had a good following. The contest, however, was practically a one-horse affair, for Crosska, who was quickest off the mark, was joined at the seven-furlongs post by Tintagel, and the pair, on terms, rattled along in front to the half-mile post, where the latter beat a retreat, and, though in turn Kirribilli and Simon Frisco tackled Crosska, he scored an easy win. Crosska was bred by his owner, "Mr. J. Baron," and is by Tarka, a horse got in England, by Tarporley, and imported with his dam, Petruschka, and is therefore half-brother to the Melbourne Cup winner Prince Foote; while his dam, Truss Crosse, is by Trussing Cap (imp.) from La Crosse (imp.), by Ladas. This was Crosska's first success under colours, and the colt is the first of his sire's progeny to win an important race.

Duke Foote was opposed in the Randwick Plate by Cadonia, Midnight Sun, Embracer, Posinatus, Harpist, and Radnor, and backers were called upon to lay substantial odds on "The Duke," while Radnor was regarded as his most dangerous opponent; a few investments were made on Harpist and Cadonia, but it was a case of "write your own tickets" about the others. After Midnight Sun and Posinatus had each had a short turn in front, Harpist relieved them of further responsibility, and, drawing clear as they swept round the bend, opened up a gap of four lengths at the judge's box from Midnight Sun, Embracer, and Radnor, who were in line, and just clear from Posinatus and the favourite. There was no change of positions along the side and back stretches (the pace being very solid) until the six-furlongs post had been cast behind; then Midnight Sun and Embracer faded out of the fray, while Duke Foote and Radnor moved up to the heels of Harpist, whom the favourite indulged in the lead until the distance was reached, and, cutting the son of Sir Tristram down before getting to the half-distance, easily accounted for him from that point. Having demonstrated that he could live to the end of a well-contested two-miles journey, the well-performed son of Sir Foote was heartily cheered as he entered the weighing enclosure. The time for the two miles (3m 29¾s) was fast, and was 3¼s better than that registered by Trafalgar in the corresponding race last year.

The Final Handicap, which brought to a close the most successful meeting ever held on the metropolitan heath, attracted a field of 13, and there was most money for Cider and Riverbird, who disputed favouritism; while Limelight, Woolerina, and Merton Lad were next fancied in order, and N.S.W. and Mandowa had each some admirers. Merton Lad and Cider made the early running, but the former lost his place five furlongs from home, leaving Riverbird to escort Merton Lad until fairly in line for the judge's box. The son of Ayr Laddie found an opening on the rails as they swept into the straight, and Foley, taking advantage of it, had his mount at the head of affairs when the distance was reached, with Merton Lad, Limelight, and N.S.W. at his girths, and King Mostyn coming at a sound bat; but Limelight, finishing with great determination, threw out a bold challenge to the Newmarket representative at the half-distance, and beat him after an interesting encounter, in which King Mostyn joined, and the trio finished separated by half lengths. The winner is an imported horse by Lally (son of Amphion) from Umbrosa, by Ayrshire from Shade, by Bruar from Foliage, by Young Melbourne. He is the property of Messrs. Main Brothers, of the Retreat stud, near Bethungra, and his only success previously was in the Chelmsford Handicap at the last annual meeting of Tattersall's Club.

Betting: 9 to 2 v Alfred Jackson, 5 to 1 v Mersina, 8 to 1 v Delara, 10 to 1 each v Noogilla and Bavard, 12 to 1 v Carna, 14 to 1 each v Milfoil, Border King, and La Fiancee, 20 to 1 each v Oweenee and Warman, 33 to 1 each v the others.

Nombi was the first to show out, while Virginie was slow to find her legs. Nombi led past the five furlongs post closely followed by Oweenee, Milfoil, and Warman, with Virginie whipping in, but as they neared the half-mile post, Milfoil came through, and passed that point with Warman, Oweenee, and Nombi close up, and they were succeeded by Alfred Jackson, Mersina, Carna, and Bavard, with Virginie still in the rear. Carna ran through as they came round the bend, from Nombi, Milfoil, Oweenee, Lady Denman, and Alfred Jackson, with Blast at the tail of the hunt. Carna swung right out at the home turn, leaving Warman, Nombi, and Oweenee to enter the straight, followed by Lady Denman, Mersina, Milfoil, and Alfred Jackson. Oweenee ran to the front at the distance from Lady Denman, Mersina, Milfoil, Alfred Jackson, and Virginie, with Border King at the head of the others. Alfred Jackson came through inside the distance, with Mersina, Virginie, and Border King in his wake, and coming on Alfred Jackson won by half a length from Border King, who beat Virginie by a length and a half for second place. Mersina was a head away fourth, with John McCormack, La Fiancee, Oweenee, Lady Denman, and Royal Laddie almost in line next, and Carna whipping in. Time, 1m 15½s.

WAVERLEY HANDICAP, a handicap sweepstakes of 10 sovs each, with 500 sovs added. For three-years-old and upwards. The owner of the second horse to receive 100 sovs, and the owner of the third 50 sovs from the prize.—1¼m.

Mr. W. Kelso's br h Matouree, by Playbill (imp.)—Trilby, aged, 7st 4lb (C. Emerson) ... 1
Mr. A. A. Donald's b g Electrakoff, by Menschikoff—Electra, aged, 8st 2lb (W. M'Lachlan) ... 2
Mr. "J. Northern's" br h Alured, by Flavus (imp.)—Aline, 5yrs, 9st 3lb (P. J. Foley) ... 3

Other starters: Eric, 7st 8lb (L. A. Walker); Sir Vive, 7st 3lb (G. Pinn); Elystan, 6st 13lb (G. Smellie); Irish Figure, 6st 13lb, inc. 4lb over (A. Thomas); Crown Grant, 6st 11lb, inc. 2lb over (W. Callinan); Tartanus, 6st 9lb (F. Russell); Olive Green, 6st 10lb, inc. 1lb over (W. M'Cabe); Necktie (imp.), 6st 7lb (J. Reynolds); Adgio, 6st 12lb, inc. 5lb over (T. O'Keefe).

Betting: 5 to 2 v Alured, 4 to 1 v Electrakoff, 5 to 1 v Matouree, 7 to 1 v Sir Vive, 10 to 1 v Tartanus, 20 to 1 each v Adgio and Necktie, 25 to 1 each v others.

Irish Figure moved off in front and showed the way into the straight and down the running, followed in order by Alured, Necktie, and Sir Vive, after whom came Electrakoff, Crown Grant, Matouree, Adgio, and Tartanus, with Eric last. That order was preserved as they turned out of the straight and along the side, and Irish Figure rattled past the mile-post, with Alured and Elystan at his heels, then, at length intervals succeeded Sir Vive, Electrakoff, and Necktie, with Tartanus and Eric in the rear, but Tartanus improved his position in the next furlong and ran up next to Irish Figure, Elystan, and Alured. Irish Figure came past the six-furlong post with Elystan at his heels; Alured was half a length away next, and a length in advance of Electrakoff, Sir Vive, Tartanus, and Matouree. Tartanus moved up into third place next to Irish Figure and Elystan, and so they rounded the bend and turned into the straight. Irish Figure and Elystan were disputing the lead at the distance, just clear from Alured, Electrakoff, and Matouree, but inside that point Matouree found an opening on the rails, of which he took advantage, and silencing opposition at the half-distance, won by half a length from Electrakoff, who beat the favourite by a head for second place. Sir Vive and Irish Figure were a length away next, with Olive Green and Elystan at their heels, Eric at the head of the others, and Tartanus and Adgio at the tail of the procession. Time, 2m 2s.

DOWLING STEEPLECHASE, a handicap sweepstake of 1 sov each, with 500 sovs added. The owner of the second horse to receive 100 sovs, and the owner of the third 50 sovs from the prize.—About 3m.

Mr. H. J. Cameron's b g Glenmore (N.Z.), by Captain Webb-Sonnus mare, aged, 11st 7lb (W. Adams) ... 1
Mr. A. T. Creswick's ch g Guncap, by Carbinier—Benzine, aged, 11st 6lb (J. Edwards) ... 2
Mr. J. C. Finn's ch g Belenus, by His Reverence (imp.)—Miss Chatsworth, aged, 10st 4lb (S. Howie) ... 3

Other starters: Wadden, 11st 7lb (A. Hawkins); Tinapagee, 10st 12lb (F. M'Cabe); Busra, 10st 9lb (N. Stuart); Inverlorn, 10st 8lb (E. Moon); Torone, 9st 9lb (J. Shepherd); Don Q., 9st 4lb, inc. 4lb over (F. Moore).

Betting: 6 to 4 v Glenmore, 5 to 1 v Tinapagee, 7 to 1 each v Wadden and Guncap, 8 to 1 v Belenus, 12 to 1 v Busra, 25 to 1 each v others.

Guncap made play, and with Don Q. and Glenmore at his side, cleared the first obstacle three lengths from Wadden and Tinapagee, Guncap, and Don Q. crossed the quadruple in front of the stands, followed by Wadden, Glenmore, Tinapagee, and Belenus, but the fence opposite Oxenham's brought down Inverlorn, and Don Q. parted company with his rider at the first of the double at the foot of the hill. Wadden crossed the fence on the hill, with Guncap and Glenmore at his girths, and Belenus and Tinapagee four lengths away, and Busra last. Guncap, Wadden, and Glenmore came down the hill to Kensington in line, and the trio flew the fence at that point together, but a little further on Glenmore took charge, and opening a gap of three lengths at the obstacle near the three furlongs post, showed the way over the quadruple in front of the stands, followed at three lengths' intervals by Wadden, Tinapagee, Guncap, and Belenus. The obstacle near Oxenham's brought down Tinapagee, and for the second time Glenmore flew the racecourse fence and crossed the hill two lengths from Wadden, who was eight in front of Belenus and Guncap, with Busra 30 lengths away. Wadden headed Glenmore as they came down the hill, and led the New Zealander by half a length over the fence near Kensington, with Guncap, Belenus, and Busra following at lengthy intervals. Wadden and Guncap flew the fence at the half-mile post on terms, but the next obstacle brought down Wadden, and stopped Busra. This left the New Zealander with a substantial lead from Guncap and Belenus, and coming on Glenmore won easily by eight lengths from Guncap, who was 25 lengths clear from Belenus. Time, 6m 43½s.

MEMBERS' HANDICAP.—A handicap sweepstakes of 10 sovs each, with 500 sovs added. For three-year-olds. The owner of the second horse to receive 100 sovs, and the owner of the third 50 sovs from the prize. 1m 1f.

Mr. "J. Baron's" br c Crosska, by Tarka—Truss Crosse, 3yrs, 7st 3lb (C. Emerson) ... 1
Mr. Hugh Macneil's ch c Simon Frisco, by San Francisco (imp.)—Isolt, 3yrs, 7st 7lb (J. Williams) ... 2
Mr. N. Mendes' br or blk g John McCormack, by Harmonist (imp.)—Sonsie Lass, 3yrs, 7st 5lb (J. Townsend) ... 3

Other starters: Cedilla, 8st 5lb (A. Wood); Pompa, 7st 7lb (J. Lightfoot); Kirribilli, 7st 9lb, inc. 2lb over (W. H. Smith); Tintagel, 7st 6lb (A. Thomas); Lord Castlereagh, 7st 4lb (W. M'Cabe); Stainer, 7st 4lb (R. Bloomfield); Mungana, 7s 4lb (G. Pinn); Narivo, 6st 12lb (J. Reynolds).

Betting: 3 to 1 each v Cedilla and Kirribilli, 4 to 1 v Crosska, 8 to 1 v Stainer, 12 to 1 v Simon Frisco, 15 to 1 v John McCormack, 25 to 1 each v others.

Crosska and Mungana moved off in front, and at the mile post Crosska was leading by a length from Tintagel and Kirribilli, after whom came Pompa, Mungana, and Stainer. Crosska and Tintagel were on terms at the seven furlongs post, the other positions being unchanged, and so they ran to the five furlongs post, where the pair were a length and a half in advance of Kirribilli, after whom succeeded Narivo, Stainer, and Simon Frisco. Crosska shook off Tintagel at the half mile post, and turned into the straight with Kirribilli, Simon Frisco, and Tintagel in pursuit. The last-named melted out of it ere they reached the distance, where Crosska was four lengths clear from Simon Frisco, and drawing right away in the run home, won in hollow fashion by 12 lengths from Simon Frisco, who was a length in advance of John McCormack. Stainer was a length and a half away fourth, and a couple in advance of Kirribilli and Pompa, while the others were whipped in by Mungana and Tintagel. Time, 1m 54s.

RANDWICK PLATE, a sweepstakes of 10 sovs each, with 2000 sovs added. For three-years-old and upwards. The owner of the second horse to receive 400 sovs, and the owner of the third 200 sovs from the prize.—2m.

Mr. "J. Baron's" b h Duke Foote, by Sir Foote (imp.)—Ortelle (imp.), 6yrs, 9st 7lb (W. M'Lachlan) ... 1
Mr. Hunter White's ch h Harpist, by Sir Tristram (imp.)—Choir Girl, 4yrs, 9st. (J. Pike) ... 2
Mr. I. Earnshaw's b c Radnor, by Earlston (imp.)—Burletta, 3yrs, 7st 4lb (G. Pinn) ... 3

Other starters: Cadonia, 9st 7lb (W. Black); Midnight Sun, 9st 6lb (A. Oliver); Embracer (imp.), 9st 3lb (W. Barnett); Posinatus, 9st 3lb (P. Maher).

Betting: 3 to 1 on Duke Foote, 5 to 1 v Radnor, 10 to 1 v Harpist, 12 to 1 v Cadonia, 50 to 1 v Midnight Sun, 66 to 1 v Posinatus, 100 to 1 v Embracer.

Midnight Sun was smartest on his legs, but as they neared the half-mile post Posinatus was showing slightly in advance of Midnight Sun, and Harpist, Radnor and Embracer were a length further back and three in front of Duke Foote, who was a similar distance in front of Cadonia. Rounding the bend Harpist took charge, and, setting a sound pace, came down the running and past the judge's box four lengths from Midnight Sun, Embracer, and Radnor, who had Posinatus at their girths; Duke Foote was a length away, and five clear from Cadonia. Without change they turned out of the straight and raced along the side and back stretch, until approaching the five-furlong post, where Midnight Sun melted out of it, and Duke Foote and Radnor drew up to the heels of Harpist, with Midnight Sun nearly six lengths away. Harpist held his place to the distance, where Duke Foote tackled him, settled his pretensions in a few strides, and easily beat him home by a length and a quarter. Radnor was half-a-dozen lengths off third, and five in front of Cadonia; then, at similar intervals succeeded Midnight Sun and Posinatus, with Embracer 15 lengths in the rear. Time, 3m 29¾s.

FINAL HANDICAP, a handicap sweepstakes of 10 sovs each, with 500 sovs added. The owner of the second horse to receive 100 sovs, and the owner of the third 50 sovs from the prize. For three-years-old and upwards.—1¼m.

Messrs. H. and G. Main's ch h Limelight (imp.), by Lally—Umbrosa, 5yrs, 7st 13lb (A. Wood) ... 1
Hon. A. Wynne's b h Cider, by Ayr Laddie (imp.)—Praleen, 4yrs, 8st 10lb (P. J. Foley) ... 2
Mr. "W. T. Nowlan's" b g King Mostyn, by Mountain King—Alice Mostyn, 4yrs, 7st 2lb, inc. 2lb over (R. W. Brennan) ... 3

Other starters: Riverbird, 9st (P. Maher); Mandowa, 8st 9lb (W. Black); Woolerina, 8st 5lb (W. H. Smith); Kilmeadon, 8st 2lb (W. Barnett); Sandbath, 7st 13lb (C. Emerson); Merton Lad, 7st 13lb (W. M'Cabe); Cavity, 7st 13lb (J. Townsend); N.S.W., 7st 7lb (A. Thomas); Leta, 7st 3lb (J. Reynolds); Lady Rouvray, 7st (W. Callinan).

Betting: 3 to 1 each v Cider and Riverbird, 5 to 1 v Limelight, 7 to 1 v Woolerina, 8 to 1 v Merton Lad, 10 to 1 v N.S.W., 14 to 1 v Mandowa, 20 to 1 each v others.

Cider and Woolerina broke the line, but as they neared the end of the first furlong Merton Lad joined Cider, and they were closely attended by Lady Rouvray, Woolerina, King Mostyn, and Cavity. When they reached the mile post Merton Lad was leading by a length and a half from Cider, after whom came Lady Rouvray, King Mostyn, Woolerina, and Riverbird. Riverbird ran up into fourth place at the six furlongs post, and at the end of the next furlong was at the girths of Merton Lad, who showed the way round the bend from Riverbird, Kilmeadon, and Cider. Merton Lad turned into the straight just clear from Kilmeadon and Riverbird, while Cider found an opening on the rails, took advantage of it, and was in charge at the distance from Merton Lad, Limelight, and King Mostyn, with N.S.W. at the head of the others. Approaching the half-distance Limelight threw out a bold challenge to Cider, whom the imported horse had in difficulties inside that point, and beat him home by half a length. King Mostyn was a similar trifle off third, with N.S.W. at his heels; then after a gap of four lengths came Merton Lad, Lady Rouvray, Kilmeadon, and Woolerina in line with Mandowa at the head of the others, while Sandbath and Leta were the last to get home. Time, 2m 7¼s.

THE STAKES.

The stakes distributed at the meeting aggregated £34,023, of which £5813 was secured by "Mr. J. Baron," who was credited by Duke Foote with the Spring Stakes, Craven Plate, and Randwick Plate, while Challenge Crosse, Alfred Jackson, and Crosska each captured a race; Beragoon's victory in the Derby and Golden Hop's success in the Shorts were worth £4861 to Mr. J. E. O'Brien; Cagou's win in the Metropolitan credited the New Caledonian sportsmen, Messrs. J. and P. Brun, with £4264; Aleconner's achievement in the Epsom Handicap brought £2465 to Messrs. Baillieu (Vic.); Eugeny's win in the Breeders' Plate was worth £1717 to Mr. S. D. Cohen; the successes of Woorak in the Gimcrack Stakes and Marcellus in the Grantham Stakes realised £1595 for "Mr. K. S. Macleod" (Vic.); Alured, by his win in the Sydney Handicap, second in the Metropolitan, and third in the Waverley Handicap, earned £1312 for "Mr. J. Northern;" and Radnor's winnings for his three placings brought £1100 to Mr. I. Earnshaw. Those whose winnings did not run into four figures were:—Messrs. T. H. Lowry, £780; R. B. Hogue, £645; H. Cohen, £600; R. P. King, £593; H. and G. Main, £535; Geo. Gilbert, £526; F. Merton, £500; W. Kelso, £496; Hunter White £400; J. Chambers, £400; E. J. Watt, £387; C. Hebden, £387; H. J. Cameron, £386; C. D. B. Wright, £381; A. G. White, £300; J. Tillett, £300; S. Hordern, £300; G. D. Greenwood, £250; H. and G. Main, £250; A. A. Donald, £200; J. Mills, £150; E. Leslie, £150; J. C. Finn, £150; J. Tomlinson, £120; Murphy and Sheldon, £100; A. T. Creswick, £100; A. Callinan, £100; Hon. A. Wynne, £100; Rogers and Rivers, £100; Hugh Macneil, £100; E. Selva, £100; H. G. Clarke, £100; R. W. Clancy, £100; F. Lavender, £75; A. Foley, £75; A. Clarence, £60; W. T. Nowlan, £50; D. A. Kerr, £50; F. H. Hutchings, £50; J. Birks, £50; E. M'Laughlin, £50; N. Mendes, £50; W. H. Mate, £50, breeder of Derby winner, £250.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

FORBES, Saturday.

The Wednesday and Saturday sections of the Forbes Rifle Club have completed the shooting for the Brownhill competition, with the result that C. O. Buckland, the winner of the Wednesday section, and C. Shervington, the winner of the Saturday section, are to shoot off the final on a date to be arranged.

PENRITH, Saturday.

The monthly prize shoot of the Penrith Rifle Club (for October), which took place on the Belmore Park range, seven shots (in two stages) at 800 yards, handicap limit 70, resulted as follows:—W. S. Walker (6), 33, 34—70; R. B. Patterson (6), 28, 35—69; G. Beatty (8), 31, 29—68; H. Messer, (6), 30, 31—67; C. Aynsley (8), 31, 32—70.

The match between the St. Mary's and Enfield Clubs, 10 shots each at 500 and 600 yards, eight men a side, which took place at St. Mary's, resulted as follows:—

St. Mary's: C. Lyneham, 44, 40—84; H. Dollin, 40, 43—83; P. Woodland, 39, 44—83; E. Basedow, 45, 37—82; R. Woodland, 37, 38—75; K. Basedow, 43, 28—71; T. Fisher, 33, 37—70; G. Adams, 32, 28—60. Total, 608.

Enfield: W. West, 43, 40—83; E. Buckland, 43, 38—81; E. Wakely, 40, 37—77; T. Dawson, 42, 26—68; W. Matthews, 30, 35—65; A. Haldane, 21, 38—59; D. Wearne, 28, 30—58; A. West, 22, 34—56. Total, 547.

"ON SERVICE."

SNAP-SHOOTING AT RANDWICK

BISLEY REPRESENTATION.

RAWSON AND HOAD MATCHES.

Saturday's shooting at Randwick was confined to the service events. All the matches were fired under service conditions at khaki-clad "enemies," who streaked across the sky-line, or who showed their heads and shoulders for a few brief seconds above the trenches.

The shooting was excellent. Despite a gusty northerly that blew across the range, and in spite of the shimmering mirage which at noontide danced in front of the targets, the marksmen put up some splendid performances. These service matches have become a feature of the Randwick meeting, and are the nearest possible approach to actual service conditions. The tyros' events are over. To-day the "A" series events for the champion marksmen will begin. The term "tyro" nowadays is a misnomer when applied to any of the contestants at Randwick, for even the "tyro" events were won by possibles. It simply means that those competing in the "B" and "C" series have not previously won any prize of a greater value than £3 at any rifle meeting in the State.

THE SHOOTING.

It was noticed by the range officers that several of the competitors were using ammunition not bought on the range, so the executive investigated the matter, and some of the riflemen were fined. They had been using the 1910, 1911, and 1912 ammunition, instead of the 1913 cartridges, which should have been purchased during the meeting. Other competitors were fined for refusing to take a turn at scoring, in accordance with the regulations. For the efficient working of the competitions during the "A" matches the executive intend to adhere strictly to the regulations during the present week.

Considerable interest centred in the Rawson match, a teams' snapshooting contest for four men and a commander, the prize being the silver cup presented by the late Sir Harry Rawson. Each team had to take position under cover behind sandbags or stones, and on the appearance of the head and shoulder of the "enemy" each man fired without unduly exposing himself. It was a good test of snapshooting, and the prize went to the Randwick Literary Institute Rifle Club, with a score of 158. Hawkesbury College came a good second. Last year the event was won by Randwick A, and in 1911 by Parramatta.

The Hoad match, at the running man, provided one of the most sensational finishes ever seen on the range. As the khaki figure ran across the mound each of the teams in turn, firing from under cover at unknown ranges, emptied their magazines at the quickly-moving figure. When the hits were counted it was found that Randwick, Penrith, and Randwick Literary Institute had tied. Three "shoot-offs" had to be ordered before, amid great excitement, Randwick were acclaimed the winners. Penrith won this match in 1911, and last year the Tramway team were successful.

The Frank Stephens individual service match, rapid firing at disappearing targets, was won by E. G. Brigdale, of the Sydney Club, who put up a fine shoot, getting all his shots on the moving enemy. Two countrymen, D. G. Maxwell (of the Hawkesbury College) and H. C. Shoemark (of Coolamon) came next in order.

J. S. Birne, of the Railways, won the Holmes service match, for while the khaki man did the 100yds run across the hill he got 11 hits in, and five of these were bulls. Next came Lieutenant Clark (of the 29th Infantry) and M. Horan (of the Hawkesbury College), each of whom got 11 hits, but they only got one bull.

THE DINNER.

Senator Millen, Minister for Defence, and Senator Oakes were the guests of the N.R.A. at luncheon at the camp on Saturday. During the day they went all over the range, and took a keen interest in the competitions. Mr. E. J. Brown, chairman of the National Rifle Association, presided, and submitted the health of the Minister. The various requirements of the range and of the association were put before the Minister, especially the matter of the representation at Bisley, where Canada had a special "hut" on Bisley Common, and was represented each year, thus giving a splendid advertisement to that Dominion. Mr. Brown said the riflemen had a lot to thank Senator Millen for, but that was nothing to what they hoped they might be able to thank him for in the future. (Cheers.)

In responding to the toast, the Minister said it afforded him great pleasure to see for himself the conditions on the range. He recognised the fact that riflemen were an important factor in the State, and he had already ear-marked £2000 to enable an Australian rifle team to visit Bisley next year. Further, he hoped to see an Australian hut erected at Bisley, so that Australian rifle shots would be able to meet and converse in their own building in the same manner that the Canadians did at the present time. The matter of additional target accommodation at Randwick, on which representations had been made, he promised would have full and favourable consideration. (Applause.)

NEWINGTON COLLEGE.

CONCLUSION OF FESTIVITIES.

The last of a series of functions which have been held during the past fortnight to celebrate the jubilee of Newington College, was held on Saturday afternoon last in the college grounds, when some hundreds of ladies and gentlemen accepted invitations to attend a garden party. The grounds of the institution looked their best, and a very pretty scene was presented.

The Rev. C. J. Prescott (principal of the college) and Mrs. Prescott received the visitors on the lawn near the fine colonnade. During the afternoon, tea was served on the upper and lower lawns and on the colonnade. A great deal of interest was taken in a cricket match, which was played between the first eleven of the college and a team from the I. Zingari Club. Among the visitors were Mr. Justice, Mrs., and Miss Pring, Mr. W. Robson, M.L.C., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brunsdon Fletcher, Mme. Soubeiran, Miss Gurney, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Carter and Miss Carter, Mrs. and the Misses Murray Oram, Dr. and Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. and Miss Curnow, Mr. W. E. V. Robson, M.L.A., and Mrs. Robson, Mrs. R. S. Warry, Miss Cotterell, Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Vickery, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vickery, Mrs. Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. G. Vickery, Miss E. Vickery, Miss Druce, Rev. T. B. and Mrs. Holmes, Mr. R. A. Walden, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Phillips, Rev. H. and Mrs. Kelynack, Mr. R., Mrs., and Miss Cowlishaw, Mrs. Cull, Mr. and Mrs. F. Cull, Mr. Lukey, Dr. and Mrs. Harper, Dr. L. H. Owen, Mr. J. and Mrs. Hulme, Rev. J. Mrs. and Miss Bryant, Mrs. and Miss Moore, Mrs. E. J. Rodd, and the Misses Rodd, Miss Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Pitt, Mrs. W. H. Nicholls, Miss Prescott and Miss Kathleen Prescott; also a large number of old boys.

W.C.T. UNION.

CONVENTION CONCLUDED.

The annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of New South Wales was concluded at the Bathurst-street Baptist Church on Friday.

Mrs. Allen read a report on enlisting the sympathies of ministers, and a report on the distribution of literature was presented by Miss Bowes.

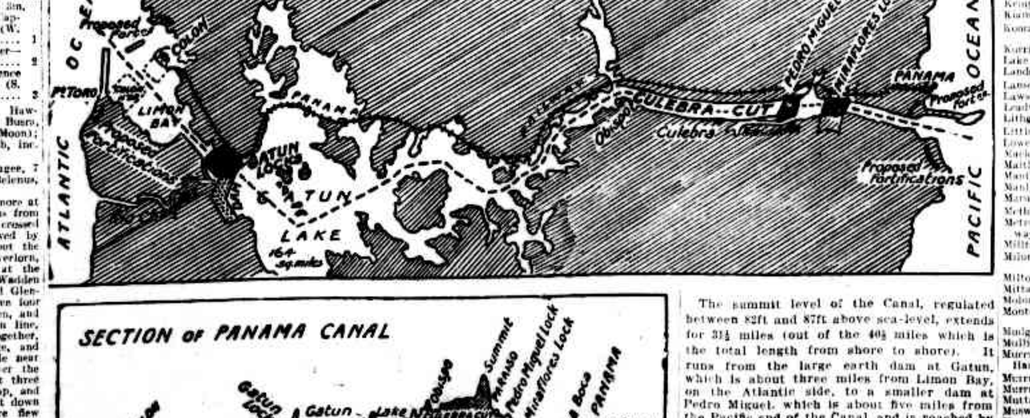

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—President, Mrs. Blow; vice-president, Mrs. Nolan; corresponding secretary, Miss Bowes; recording secretary, Mrs. Wotton; treasurer, Miss Hartshorne; secretary, Mrs. C. Smith.

Resolutions were carried urging that the British Government should disallow opium being forced upon China, that hotels and wine shops be closed at the same hours as other business places; and also denouncing boxing exhibitions, the increased use of the totalisator in Tasmania, the increase in the number of business places where alcoholic drinks can be obtained, the proposed reopening of canteens at military camps, deploring cigarette smoking, advocating a conscience clause in the Compulsory Training Act, urging members to vote no-license, and deploring "the immodest dress of the extreme fashions of the present day, and would appeal to women in the name of their womanhood to refuse to adopt the same."

ITCHING BURNING RASH ON ARMS.

"Bayview," Bibles street, Rockdale, N.S.W.—"My arms were covered with an itching, burning rash, which kept me awake at night (being always worse at night). I went to a chemist, and he told me it was dry eczema. He gave me ointments which I used for six weeks without any good result. Just as I was getting disheartened I saw advertised the Cuticura Ointment, so I sent for some, and I am pleased to say a little of it cured me and I have never had the slightest return of the eczema. I would advise anyone suffering from any form of skin disease to give Cuticura Ointment a trial. I am bathing my baby with Cuticura Soap, and am pleased to say she has a lovely skin." (Signed) Mrs. A. Whitford, November, 1912.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of each, with 32-page Skin Book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. T., Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

The summit level of the Canal, regulated between 82ft and 87ft above sea-level, extends for 31½ miles (out of the 40½ miles which is the total length from shore to shore). It runs from the large earth dam at Gatun, which is about three miles from Limon Bay, on the Atlantic side, to a smaller dam at Pedro Miguel, which is about five miles from the Pacific end of the Canal, and is reached by a flight of three locks at the former point.

This great engineering work is described elsewhere.

THIRD LINE.

THE MUSKETRY RETURNS.

11,264 EFFICIENTS.

CIVILIAN MARKSMEN.

This year there are in New South Wales 11,264 efficient civilian riflemen out of a total enrolment of 13,400. Last year there were 10,510 efficients out of 12,339.

The returns for the second military district (N.S.W.) were recently approved by the Minister for Defence, and were made available on Friday by the officer in charge of rifle clubs (Mr. Sherbon). The report is a comprehensive document, and shows the complete record of every one of the 293 rifle clubs in the State.

A new feature is introduced this year into the report, for it shows the military unit to which each of the rifle clubs has been allotted for purposes of mobilisation. It is not generally known that a scheme has been prepared by the military authorities, and in case of invasion the whole of the civilian marksmen of Australia would immediately take their place in the fighting line. So although the civilian riflemen are generally looked upon as the "third line" of defence, coming after the navy and the army, they are in fact part and parcel of the second line, a component part of the Australian army.

As a result of the formation of several new clubs, the percentage of efficients is something less than last year, though the total is greater. The comparative statistics are as follows:—

Year.	Total.	Exercised.	Not exercised.	Efficients.
1911-12	12,339	10,260	2,079	10,510
1912-13	13,400	10,873	2,527	11,264

The honour of having the largest proportion of efficients, and therefore the highest figure of merit, belongs to the Picton Club. The best shot in each of the 11 district associations has been awarded a badge by the N.R.A. The district champions are as follow:—

No. of dist.	Name of best shot.	Name of club.	Score.
1	W. Cutler	Randwick	193
2	P. H. George	Quirindi	189
3	A. C. Gallagher	Queanbeyan	188
4	W. E. Linn	Orange	190
5	E. Bonsor	Albion Park	185
6	J. W. Freak	Glen Innes	190
7	R. C. Cox	Cobbora	187
8	H. J. Thorpe	Girilambone	188
9	J. P. McQuillen	Greenethorpe	188
10	C. H. Beasley	Delegate	182
11	H. C. Kiddle	Taree	188

From these district champions comes the State champion, and this year the honour goes to W. E. Linn, of Orange.

MR. PHILLIPS FOX'S PAINTINGS.

Art lovers will find a treat in store for them at the exhibition of Mr. E. Phillips Fox's pictures, opening at the Royal Art Society's rooms, 76 Pitt-street, at 2.30 this afternoon. A press view of the pictures, 83 in number, was given on Saturday. A native of Melbourne, Mr. Fox is an Australian artist, who has attained to a considerable degree of eminence in the art world, and many of his paintings have been hung at the Royal Academy, the Paris Salon, and the International. He is a Societaire of the Salon Nationale des Beaux Arts, a distinction which has only fallen to about four British artists. This gives him the right to exhibit six works of art in each section of the exhibition without submitting them to the jury. It is in the painting of light and atmosphere that Mr. Fox excels.

In "The Arbor," which was exhibited at both the Royal Academy and Paris Salon exhibitions, and which is priced at 500 guineas, we have an admirable example of his work. Indeed, Mr. Fox himself regards it as the finest thing he has done. It depicts an al fresco tea party, and the light is coming from all directions. It is full of subtle lights and shadows, in the sense of moving sunspots, and the child in red in the foreground strikes a beautiful light, which balances the whole picture. The mother, too, with the black and white dress, and the blue scarf thrown over her shoulders, is a very striking study. The modelling and the reliefs are perfect. The painting is reminiscent of the same artist's "Al Fresco," now in the Adelaide Gallery, but it is carried to a much more complete stage.

"Lamplight," another Academy and Salon picture, is also a beautiful piece of work. It is the hour of dusk, and through the window the fading daylight is seen, whilst the glow of a lamp is beginning to strengthen inside. Here we have the two conflicting lights—an effect that lasts, perhaps, for only ten minutes or so—and the subject is a difficult one to treat. It represents a corner of Mr. Fox's own salon in Paris.

A somewhat similar effect is obtained in The Terrace—fading day, with the rising moon, and artificial light shining on to the terrace. The impression of the distance—the hazy atmosphere of the fading day on land and water—was obtained by Mr. Fox from the Hotel Metropole on his previous visit to Sydney about eight years ago, though the picture was painted in Paris. The figures stand out boldly, and the draperies are beautifully treated, whilst there is also an excellent study of still life.

A very vivid impression of sunlight is given in "The Green Parasol." The subject is handled in a masterly manner. The sunlight is seen through the parasol, and there are conflicting lights thrown from a sunlit garden. The painting of green chiffon over white is an admirable illusion.

"The Ferry," one of the Academy pictures, is a very brilliant painting of sparkling sunlight.

The same bright effect is obtained in the "Bathing Hour," a French beach scene.

"Dejeuner"—a little episode in the artist's own garden in Paris—is also notable for the admirable rendering of contrasting lights and shades. "Motherhood," showing a mother and her two children in a shaded avenue, and "Vanity," a harmony in pink, blue, and gold, are also among the outstanding pictures in the exhibition.

There are some exquisite studies in the nude.

In view of the fact that Mr. Fox has been engaged upon the portrait of Mr. Andrew Fisher in Melbourne for the Commonwealth Government, it is also interesting to find here an excellent example of his work as a portrait painter, in the portrait of the late Mrs. L. Ellis, the flesh tones being very sympathetically felt.

Sydney Mail Annual for 1913.

PRICE SIXPENCE.

READY TO-DAY, OCTOBER 13.

The Most Notable Pictorial Production of the Year.

With Beautiful Coloured Supplement, entitled "The Unconventional Guests."

A Charming Coloured Plate for framing—A Study of Child Life, THAT IS SURE TO BE POPULAR.

The Annual does not take the place of a weekly number of the "Mail." Moreover, it is different from the Christmas Number, in the fact that it is Practically all Pictorial.

It might reasonably bear the sub-title, "A Pictorial Newspaper Magazine for Home and Abroad." It is the one publication of the year that makes for friends in the United Kingdom and other countries. It is the most effective reply possible to any misapprehensions that prevail abroad as to the conditions of Australian life.

No other publication gives such a good impression of the Magnificent Scenery of the Commonwealth.

Several Cook Islands pictures are introduced to give an idea of the Isles of Romance in Australasian Seas.

No Home in Australia should be without the Annual. The price is so small compared with what is offered that a quick sale is assured. Our advice is to leave an order with the local newsagent.

DO IT NOW,

to avoid disappointment. This is not mere Advertising. The Annual in past years has been such a "quick-seller" that many people have failed in their late efforts to secure a copy.

GRAND OPERA.

"THE MASTERSINGERS."

"Die Meistersinger," which opened the Bayreuth festival last year, in the same way gloriously inaugurated on Saturday night the new operatic season at Her Majesty's Theatre. Thus was made good the most serious gap in the musical continuity of local stage representation. The work was launched at Munich in 1868, and took 14 years to reach London, and four more to arrive in New York. Many years of weary waiting have since elapsed, and it is to the enterprise of Mr. Thomas Quinlan that at last a stage performance has been given here of "The Mastersingers."

Well prepared for the vivid delineation of mediaeval German life in a picture executed in robust colours, the audience had had but little intimation of the blissful idyllic charm which suffused the music of the last act. The long first scene at this point caused an excitement all the more intense because there was no opportunity for expressing it at the moment. For this reason the enthusiasm between each act, when Herr Richard Eckold, the Wagnerian conductor, and all the principals were called and recalled, was renewed with overwhelming fervour at the end of the evening.

Hans Sachs, the poet shoemaker, a real historical character of ancient Germany, is practically the hero of the opera. Mr. Robert Parker nobly looked, and acted, and sang the great role. The audience, who remembered him last year as the truculent, ferocious sheriff of Puccini's realistic Californian opera, now saw him as the handsome apostolic-looking, elderly poet, wise and sedate. The change was so complete as to form a tour de force. Another singer, Mr. Spencer Thomas, last year of less weight in the combination, sang the principal tenor role of Walter in a manner which proved him an artist of consequence. He has made an immense advance in the use of his liquid voice. Mr. Maurice D'Oisly, the new lyric tenor, sang very pleasantly as David, and acted the part with sprightly spirit. There was a warm welcome back for Miss Jeanne Brola, a sweet-looking Eva in a part which is musically slight. Eva is the only central female figure in all Wagner's operas which is not heroic.

But behind all the demonstrations of delight accorded these and other artists was the deep-seated feeling of admiration for the splendid Quinlan orchestra. This supplied the soul of the representation. After all, the orchestra paints the landscape of Wagner's music so that it moves before our mind as visibly as the scenery and action with which he does but accentuate the impression. It is, in fact, all-important. Choral opportunities are not very great in "The Mastersingers." "Tannhauser" on Tuesday will more fully reveal that section of the enterprise. There was, of course, a great and brilliant assemblage, and, in traditional operatic fashion, the season was opened with the National Anthem.

It was well for the mass of the audience that they knew intimately the imposing overture which embraces the important themes of the great work, because the long evening, which lasted (in spite of moderate "cuts") from 7 until half-past 11, unfolded to them a vast amount of strange matter. This splendid overture, though it belongs to an epoch just subsequent to "Tristan," stands next to "Tannhauser" as the most elaborate vorspiel Wagner ever wrote. Thus it served to inaugurate impressively the coming festival of music at our premier playhouse. Dominant features were observed in the martial pomp of the Mastersingers' theme, and the gorgeous character of the processional march, whilst, after the love episode and the piquant staccato babble of the apprentices, there was a magnificent conclusion, in which the ponderous masses of rich sound took on a joyous character through the tintinnabulation of jingling bells. Though all this was finely played (Mr. Percy Frostick again as leader), Herr Eckold's inspiration was still more evident in the tender nuances he secured in the opening of act two and act three. His beat was firm without being fussy, and he was wonderfully watchful in helping the artists and choristers with their cues. Generally, he kept all going wonderfully well, though there was a momentary trouble both with the extra trumpets on the stage and the chorus in the final scene. That such a huge work should be presented as it was at a few hours' notice after arrival from Melbourne constitutes, however, in itself a considerable feat.

So far the audience was on familiar ground—thereafter much was strange. Whilst the first two acts held the interest even at a first hearing, though may be with a half-acknowledged sense that there was something heavy in its greatness, the real art significance in the so-called "comic" opera burst upon the mind only in the marvellous third act. The arresting charm of the first and greater half of it will never be forgotten by those who heard it on Saturday. Unsounded deeps of sentiment and of melody culminated in a vocal quintet of rapturous beauty. Changing this atmosphere, so tense with suffering for the noble Hans Sachs, and with blissful visions of love for the maiden he resigns to the hero of her heart's desire, Wagner brings on the festival of the guilds in the meadows outside Nuremberg, and strains of rude rejoicing rend the air. But poetry and sentiment soon rose once more. Hans Sachs is acclaimed by the people, and finally the Franconian knight sings again the entrancing theme of the Prize Song, and is rewarded with the laurel wreath and the hand of Eva as the curtain falls. Here hundreds who had read and accepted for years the classification of the masterpiece as a "comic opera" felt that it really belonged to operas of romance. The glow of sentiment makes more lasting appeal than the play of humour. Some such idea may have lingered in Cosima Wagner's comparison when she wrote that "'The Mastersingers' is to his other conceptions much the same as the 'Winter's Tale' to Shakespeare's other works." Now "Winter's Tale" is remembered above all for the emotion and romance of the Statue Scene.

The overture melts insensibly into the chorale sung by the congregation of St. Catherine's Church in Nuremberg, and the curtain rising reveals an ingenious disposition of the scene. Only the unencumbered space in the extreme west end of the sacred fane is shown, together with the two or three rearmost pews, in which Eva and her nurse, Magdalene, are sitting. Immediately behind these seats are the iron-work gates of the chancel. The open-space referred to serves for the assembling of the mastersingers to discuss the voice-trials for the approaching festival. The apprentices noisily erect the little curtained platform where the Marker is to sit, with one side usually open to the audience. Before the service ends, Walter von Stolzing, a Franconian knight, is seen signalling Eva Pogner, from whom he learns that her hand will be bestowed by her father upon the singer who wins the title of "master" for his prize-song at the contest. The rest of the act is devoted to the preliminary trial, showing the vindictive behaviour of old Beckmesser, the Marker, who covers his slate with crosses denoting Walter's "faults." Hans Sachs alone sees art and charm in the young knight's novel methods, and the meeting breaks up in disorder. The never-ceasing flow of orchestral leit motives and melody cannot here be commented upon. The most beautiful song was the famous one known in Germany (and on English concert programmes) as "Am Stillen Herd," in which Walter explains who was his master; and before this some characteristically joyous and tuneful music gave an opportunity to Mr. D'Oisly (David), who sang it with the required directness and vivacity. Mr. William Anderson, as the well-bearded Pogner, displayed an excellent basso cantante; and another new artist who stood out was Mr. Graham Marr, a rich-voiced baritone. Where Kothner explained the formal manner of mastersong, this artist smoothly rolled forth a gracefully florid passage in the old style.

An exquisite introduction to the second act, an orchestral nocturne in the sense that it suggested evening, brought in passing touches from the wood-wind as of warbling birds. After the apprentices had enjoyed their lively dances, and roundelays, Hans Sachs, seated beneath an elder-tree that shaded his humble house, delivered a wonderful Monologue upon the strange sweetness of the song devised by young Walter. The lovely Spring motive was heard in the orchestra, and a splendid vocal theme of stately and melodious breadth was sung by the poet. This was one of Mr. Parker's finest efforts; and his musing tenderness and declamatory power touched the audience once more in the equally famous soliloquy of the third "Mad, mad. All the world's mad!" founded on the "Wahn motive, which the audience had already heard in the preceding prelude transferred in turn from 'cellos to violas and thence to the violins.

Beckmesser, the pedant and Curmudgeon who hopes to win the hand of Eva with his machine-made song, is the butt most frequently aimed at by the humour of the underplot. Mr. William Dever cleverly accentuated the crabbed perversity of this veteran Town Clerk, and the scene in which he tried to persevere with his Serenade, whilst Sachs hammered away at his "faults," formed an enjoyably farcical passage. The tumultuous uproar and inrush of the apprentices in their contrapuntal ensemble with orchestra was realistically rendered at this point by the united forces.

Miss Brola sang and acted with refinement as Eva, and though her voice was frequently obscured by the heavy orchestration, she had her effective moments, notably so in the rapturous meeting with Walter in the second act, and in the appeal to Sachs in the third. The soprano did not enunciate her words clearly (a general fault, with rare exceptions), and no one had the least idea what the preceding scene with Sachs was about. As a matter of fact, the maiden proposed marriage with him rather than that she should fall a prey to the vocal prowess of the ugly Beckmesser. It was the poet's secret grief that he had begun to fall in love with his little friend, but he discovered in time her admiration for Walter. Miss Brola's suggestion of Eva's passion for Walter, as the lovers gazed at one another over the poet's bowed head, in act 3, was admirable. Miss Mabel Dennis was well in character as Magdalene, though the music should be sung by a heavier voice. This artist joined with Sachs, Walter, David, and Eva in the beautiful interpretation of the lyrical quintet founded on the Prize-Song. All this long scene was crowded with gems, and the orchestra was like a choir of warbling birds. Mr. Spencer Thomas, a "Walter" of knightly bearing, always shone out in the Prize Song, which was marked by warmth of emotion and melody of voice. In the final scene of festival music the chorus "enforced attention by deep harmony" in the famous German chorale "Wach Auf," a tribute of adoring esteem addressed to Hans Sachs. The words "Awake, the dawn of day draws near" were taken by Wagner from the poem "The Wurtemberg Nightingale," which the real Hans Sachs wrote in honour of Martin Luther. Minor parts were efficiently filled. Mr. George King directed the stage.

"Rigoletto" at 8 o'clock to-night will be signalised by the debut of Miss Felice Lyne, the new American soprano, and by the first appearance this season (in the name-part) of Mr. Wm. Samuell. Signor Tullio Voghera will again conduct.

"THE CINGALEE."

On Saturday evening, at the Theatre Royal, "The Arcadians" was replaced by "The Cingalee," which will hold the boards during the ensuing week. The counter attractions were heavy, but, notwithstanding that fact, there was a fine house, and the revival was received with cordiality and enthusiasm. The only material departure from the previous cast was that Mr. Phil Smith filled the role of the fussy and choleric Sir Peter Loftus, High Commissioner and Judge at Ceylon, and the impersonation was in every respect successful, Mr. Smith making as much as possible of the humorous side of the character. The reception extended to the principal members of the company was just as marked as in the case of the revival of "The Arcadians," and Miss Florence Young especially came in for a warm welcome. She played Lady Patricia Vereker with the old time sympathy and appreciation, and scored a hit with the song "My Heart's At Your Feet," and was also in excellent form in the melodious duet with Reg. Roberts "You and I," which was encored. Miss Sybil Arundale confirmed the good impression made by her on her first appearance in Sydney as Nanoya, and a good deal of extra work was thrown upon her shoulders by the insistent demand of the audience for a repetition of her songs, notably "My Cinnamon Tree" and "Sloe Eyes." Miss Dorothy Brunton as Peggy Sabine scored well in the duet with Mr. Percy "Pretty Poll," and also caught the fancy of the audience with the song "She's Alright," her assertion as to the Australian girl that "she's a bonza" being carried by acclamation. Miss Vivian Talleur as Angy Loftus was principally responsible for the graceful incense and scarf dance in the second act, and Miss Violet Collinson, who led the quartette of pretty tea girls, gave full effect to the tea song, in which she was capably assisted by the chorus. Mr. W. Talleur Andrews, as Hon. Harry Vereker, was in fine voice, and again delighted the house with his rendering of "Pearl of Sweet Ceylon" and "Cingalee." Mr. W. S. Percy kept the audience merry with his "Labu" English in his old part of Chambuddy Ram, and his song "Silly Ass" was received with much favour. He also shared the honours with Miss Brunton in "Gollywogs." Mr. Victor Prince was imposing as "Boobhamba Chettar Bhoy," the bumptious noble of Kandy; and musically his greatest success was "It Will all Come Right in the Future," a topical song, which was brought up to date by a reference to the Australian fleet and one or two political questions. As Bobby Warren Mr. Reg. Roberts was effective in the duet "You and I" and the song "The Ladies." The choral work was excellent, and Mr. Charles Albert and the Misses Lacy and [illegible]adley had to repeat their weird "Devil Dance." The opera was again efficiently staged. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

MR. McCORMACK'S CONCERT.

Mr. John McCormack, the famous Irish tenor, had another night of triumph at the Town Hall on Saturday. The scenes were a repetition of those which took place on Friday night. If anything, indeed, the demonstration surpassed that of the previous night in its wild enthusiasm. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, and many people were unable to gain admission.

The McCormack season has been phenomenally successful. Sydney certainly loves Mr. McCormack, and after his concert concluded on Saturday night—not at 10, as it was officially timed to conclude, but at a quarter to 11—he was besieged in his room by the Sydney concert girls, armed with their autograph albums, so that it was well after 11 before he got away.

In the first part of the programme, Mr. McCormack sang the prize song from "The Mastersinger" (by request), and "Mother Machree" and two or three other favourites, as encores before he was allowed to rest. He opened the second part of the programme with the three-bracketed songs, "Ideale" (Tosti), "A Toi" (Bemberg), and "Eleanore" (Coleridge Taylor); and then had to sing several more as encores. These included "The Rosary" and "Molly Brannigan." His concluding numbers on the programme were:—"When Other Lips" (the song which reached all hearts on the Friday), "Lagan Love Sogn," and "The Low-Backed Car;" but before he got through he had also sung "Kathleen Mavourneen," "I Hear You Calling Me," "The Lord is My Light," and "Molly Bawn." It was truly a feast of song. There was no denying that audience. Its applause was tumultuous, and it rose, one collective body, and swarmed along the floor of the hall till it was standing all round the platform; whilst those on the platform itself were standing all round the singer, some shaking hands with him; others throwing flowers at him. It was thus that Mr. McCormack sang his last two numbers, standing there on the platform facing this huge standing audience.

Miss May Huxley (soprano) sang Meyerbeer's "Shadow Song" and Gounod's "Ave Maria" (with violin obligato by Mr. Donald McBeath) in the first part of the programme, and in the second she sang "Spring's Awakening." Her encores included "Ye Banks and Braes" and "Killarney," her personal charm, added to her sweet voice, quite captivating the audience. Mr. Donald McBeath played "Traumeri" (Schumann), "Swing Song" (Ethel Barns), "Le Songe" (Felix Gage), and "Allegretto" (Boccherini-Kreisler), and had also to respond to encores with Mr. Vincent O'Brien, the able accompanist. He also played Corelli's "Suite in F Major," for piano and violin. The management had hoped to arrange a special matinee for to-day, but it was found impossible. Messrs. J. and N. Tait announce, however, that there is every probability of their being able to arrange for Mr. McCormack to give another season in Sydney.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

A spectacular drama "The Last Days of Pompeii," was screened at Spencer's Lyceum on Saturday. The pictorial version of Lord Lytton's work follows the main incidents of the story very closely. Scenes in the forum and in the palace are very realistic, and the various characters, too, are well portrayed. The characters of Arbaces, the crafty Egyptian, Nydia, the blind flower girl, Glaucus, the noble Greek, and Ione, the beautiful Christian, are cleverly acted. The scenic interest is well sustained, and the amphitheatre assembly, with the subsequent earthquake spectacle, represent a triumph in construction. The audience was thrilled by the thousands of shouting spectators, and excitement ran high as the city trembled before its destruction. Falling volcanic ashes, flaming scoriae, tottering buildings, and the frantic populace impressed the audience by their awesome significance. The escape of Glaucus and Ione in a barge opposite the living cauldron Vesuvius, was a scene to be remembered. The film is one that holds the interest of the audience from start to finish.

CHAPTER V.

WHEREIN POWER TRAVELS EAST.

One summer's day at high noon a man rode into Bison from the direction of the railway, and, judging by the critical yet interested glances he cast right and left while an unwilling mustang plodded through the dust, he seemed to be appraising recent developments keenly. As the horseman was Francis Willard, and as this was the first time he had visited Bison since leaving the ranche, there were many novelties to repay his scrutiny. The number of houses had been nearly doubled, the "store" had swollen proportionately, not to mention the Bison Hotel, which had sprung into being on the site of the ramshackle lean-to, where once MacGonigal's patrons had stabled their "plugs," and a roomy omnibus rumbled to and fro in the main street before and after the departure of every train from the depot.

These unerring signs of prosperity spoke volumes, but it was only when the rider drew rein near the mouth of the Gluch that he was able to note the full measure of Bison's progress. Deep in a hollow to the left were two mills instead of one, and the noise of ore-crunching rolls was quadrupled in volume. Two long rows of recently-erected cyanide vats betokened the increased output of the mine, and, even while Willard sat there, gazing moodily at a scene almost strange to his vision, an engine snorted by, seemingly hauling a dozen loaded trucks, but in reality exerting its panting energy to restrain the heavily-freighted cars from taking headlong charge of the downward passage. Another engine, heading a similar string of empty waggons, was evidently on the point of making the ascent, so Willard jogged an unwilling pony into movement again, and entered the Gulch.

Beyond the two sets of rails nothing new caught his eye here until he had rounded the curve leading to the watershed. Then he came in sight of the original entrance to the mine—a shaft was being sunk nearly three-quarters of a mile away, but he was not aware of that at the moment—and noticed that a short, stoutly-built man, jauntily arrayed in a white canvas suit and brown boots, who had a cigar tucked into a corner of his mouth, had strolled out of a pretentious-looking office building, and was obviously surprised by the appearance of a mounted man in that place at that moment.

MacGonigal had, in fact, recognised Willard the instant he swung into view, because none of the ranchers rode that way nowadays, a more circuitous but safer road having been cut to avoid the rails.

Mac had certainly remarked that he was dog-doned when he set eyes on Willard, and a similar sentiment was expressed more emphatically by the visitor, for there was no love lost between these two, and, in consequence, their greetings were unusually gracious.

"Wa'll, Mr. Willard, ef this don't beat cock-fightin'" cried MacGonigal, when the other halted at the foot of an inclined way leading to the level space from which rock had been blasted to provide room for the various structures that cluster near the outlet of a busy mine. "Now, who'd ha' thought uv seein' you hereabouts ter-day?"

"Or any other day, Mr. MacGonigal," said Willard, forcing an agreeable smile. The prefix to MacGonigal's name was a concession to all that had gone before during a short half-hour's ride. The ex-storekeeper was now the nominal head of a gold-producing industry which ranked high in the State, and the bitterness welling up in Willard's mind, had been quelled momentarily by sheer astonishment.

"That's as may be," returned Mac affably, rolling the cigar across his mouth. "But, seein' as you air on this section up the map, guess you'd better bring that hoss o' yourn into the plaza. A bunch of cars is due here any minnit."

Willard jogged nearer and dismounted, and a youth summoned by MacGonigal took charge of the mustang.

"Hav' yer come ter see Power?" inquired the stout one, with just the right amount of friendly curiosity.

"Well, no, not exactly. I shall be glad to meet him, of course. Is he somewhere around?"

"No. He went east two days sence."

Now, the movements of local financial magnates are duly chronicled in the Colorado press, and MacGonigal was sure that Willard had not only read the announcement of Power's departure, but had timed this visit accordingly. Still, that was no affair of his. Willard was here, and might stay a month if he liked, because he would have to pay for a bed and board in the Bison Hotel, which MacGonigal owned.

"Ah, that's too bad," said Willard, feigning an indifference he was far from feeling. "Still, I have no real business on hand. I happened to be at a loose end in Denver, and didn't seem to know anybody in the Brown Palace Hotel, so I came out here to take a peep at the old shanty, so to speak."

"You'll hev' located an alteration or two already?" chuckled the other.

"Every yard of the way was a surprise."

"Guess that's so, but what you've seen is small pertaters with the circus on the other side of the hill."

"On the ranch. Things can't have changed so greatly there."

"You come this-a way, an' survey the park."

MacGonigal led the visitor through a check office, and along a corridor. Throwing open a door, he ushered him into a well-furnished room, with two French windows opening on to a spacious verandah.

"This yer is Derry's den," he said. "He likes ter look at the grass growin', but my crib is at the other side, whar I kin keep tab on the stuff that makes most other things grow as well. Not that it ain't dead easy ter know why Derry likes this end of the outfit, an' nobody livin' 'ill understand that better'n yerself, Mr. Willard, when you've looked the proposition over for ten seconds by the clock."

Willard had never found MacGonigal so loquacious in former days, but he was too preoccupied by the tokens of success that met his furtive gaze in every direction to give much heed to any marked change in his guide's manner. Moreover, he had scarcely set foot in the verandah before he yielded to a feeling which, at first, was one of undiluted amazement. The annual rainfall had been normal since he abandoned ranching, but Colorado in June is not exactly the home of lush meadows during the best of years, and he was staring now at a fertile panorama of green pastures and thriving orchards, while the ranch itself was set in the midst of smooth lawns embosomed in a wealth of shrubs and ornamental trees. Greatest miracle of all, a tiny stream of pellucid water was flowing down the Gulch.

"I don't quite grasp this," he muttered thickly, while his eyes roved almost widely from the dancing rivulet to the fair savannah which it had made possible.

"A bit of a wonder, ain't he?" gurgled MacGonigal placidly. "Jest another piece uv luck, that's wot it air. Derry can't go wrong, I keep tellin' him. I had a notion the bull blamed show wuz busted when we struck a spring at the end o' the first dip two hundred feet, but Derry just laughed in his quiet way, an' said: 'There oughter be tears round about any place called Grief, an' now we have Dolores wepin'. We've tapped a perennial spring, Mac, an't it's the very thing I wanted ter make the ranche a fair copy of Paradise.' There you hev' it—Derry's luck—a pipe line laid on by nature, an' him raisin' apples, Mr. Willard, raisin' pippins as big as your fist, on land whar you couldn't raise a bundle of alfafa."

Willard had to find something to say, or he would have choken with spleen.

"Evidently the inrush of water did not injure the mine!" he blurted out, but, for the life of him, he could not conceal the envy in his voice.

"Did good, reelly," chortled MacGonigal. "We had to drive a new adit, and that cleared away enough rock ter give us elbow-room. The fust intake waz up thar," and he pointed to that part of the Gulch where Power had once wrought with death on a long-vanished ledge. "Now we go in about a hundred feet west of this yer verandah, an' the haulin' is easier."

"Mr. Power and you have created a marvellous property here," said Willard, after a long pause.

"Not me," said MacGonigal quickly. "I helped Derry with my wad, but he did all the thinkin' and' it's like a fresh chapter outer a fairy tale when I wake up every fine mornin' an' remember that my third share is bringin' me in close on five hundred dollars a day."

"So Power's interest is worth three hundred thousand dollars a year?"

"More'n that, I reckon. The output keeps on pilin' up, an' Derry's horses 'll add a tidy bit to his bank balance this year."

"His horses?"

"Yep. Hain't you heerd? One-thumb Jake is manager of the plug department. Nigh on fifty two-year-olds 'll be sold this fall at two hundred dollars an' more a throw. I suspicioned Derry wuz goin' crazy when he bought up so many mares, but I allow he hez the bulge on me now. An' Jake! Deng me ef he didn't show up at a dance t'other evenin' with a silver fringe on his chaps."

Willard turned reluctantly into the darkened room, and, by some mischance, when his eyes had recovered from the external glare, the first object they dwelt on was a framed pencil sketch of the Dolores homestead as he had last seen it—a dreary, ramshackle place, arid and poverty-stricken. In the corner was written "Nancy," and a date.

AMUSEMENTS.

CRITERION THEATRE.

Bayard Veiller's American melodrama, "Within the Law" is still proving to be a great attraction at the Criterion Theatre. The sensational scenes of the burglary and the smart police catch provide plenty of excitement. Miss Muriel Starr heads a capable company, which includes Harry Worth, Lincoln Plummer, E. W. Morrison, and Eric Maxon. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

PALACE THEATRE.

To-night the production of "On Our Selection" will enter upon the closing nights of its phenomenal season at the Palace Theatre. At the conclusion of the Sydney season, Steele Rudd's popular drama, with the full company, will visit the following places in New South Wales, for short seasons:—Newcastle, Maitland, Lithgow, Bathurst, Orange, Cowra, Cootamundra, Wagga, and Albury.

Mr. Allen Doone will open his Sydney season on Saturday next with the romantic costume drama, Barry of Ballymoore. Mr. Doone will play the name part in the new production, and will introduce several new songs. The box plan will open at Paling's on Wednesday next.

THE ALLEN DOONE SEASON.

On Saturday next the well-known Irish comedian, Allen Doone, will open a season at the Palace Theatre with his new play, "Barry of Ballymoore." Special scenery and costumes, and the "Dancing Kiddies" are said to be features of the production. The plan opens at Paling's on Wednesday.

ADELPHI THEATRE.

Mr. George Willoughby's production, "The Night Side of London," illustrating the evils of the white slave traffic, will only be shown at the Adelphi Theatre for a few more nights. On Saturday next it will be replaced by Charles Darrell's latest play, "White as a Lily," a drama that is said to be exceptionally rich in its situations and scenes. Representations of an avalanche and the Aurora Borealis are amongst the attractions.

LITTLE THEATRE.

On Saturday night the "Butterflies'" delightful season of mirth and music came to a close—a matter for regret, no doubt, to many people. Next Saturday night "The Dominoes" will make their first appearance, under the direction of Messrs. Carter and Reynolds. They will present an original musical entertainment, the bill including comedians, singers, and dancers. The plan is at Paling's.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

One of the best turns at the National Amphitheatre on Saturday was that of the Four Avolos, English xylophone exponents. This quartette was here about six months ago, and proved exceedingly popular. Their turn is artistic, and the items rendered on their instruments included many comic opera favourites. Henry and May, comedy cyclists, also made their reappearance after a considerable interval. The sparkling vivacity of the pretty May and the sheepishness of Henry provided some delightful comedy in addition to the cycling feats. Paul Delano, a tattooed juggler, was new on the bill, and performed some remarkable feats in his line. Other new items on the programme were Mysto, an excellent conjuror and illusionist; Leonard Nelson, comedian, who proved to be as great a favourite as ever; and Ray de Vere, balladist. The Lessos again brought forth a lot of applause with their almost incredible balancing feats. Carrie Moore was still on the bill; others contributing to the general success included the Duckworths (comedy acrobats), Hilary Long, and Gladys and Alber (comedy duo). To-day and Tuesday Lalie Brooke will appear in "Feminine Fads and Fancies," prior to her departure for America. A number of new attractions are announced for Wednesday's matinee.

CENTENNIAL SKATING PALACE.

Roller skating, with three sessions daily, will be continued at this rink until about November 15, after which it will be furnished as a picture theatre. Bickford's seats will be provided, and 4000 people at one time will be able to view the films.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Among the star attractions at the Princess this week are The Brooklyns, novelty and bouncing-table acrobats; Verne and Smith; The Dentines, aerial gymnasts; and Roy Kene, the Yiddisher boy. Next week there will be at this theatre a re-appearance in Sydney of Miss Millie Doris, the "Girl with the Hot Cross Bun."

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.

A changed programme was given at the Saturday matinee, and will be continued throughout the week. Among the artists were:—Amo and Almo, foolish fellows; Hart and Kenny, duettists; Mel Brewer, tenor; MacMartin, etc. Included in the programme is a farce comedy "The Foiled Mashers."

IMPERIAL THEATRE.

The Imperial Theatre, which for months past has been known as the Imperial Skating Rink, had its opening night on Saturday. Its unique attractions, its airy spaciousness, and its unusually good orchestra, ought to ensure unqualified success. Two features that will be appreciated by audiences are the comfortable seats, and the refreshment buffet. To-night an exclusive programme will see the first showing of a film adaptation of Tolstoi's great book "The Living Corpse."

WEST'S PICTURES.

The exciting drama "From Circus to Racecourse" was accorded much attention at West's Glaciarium and Olympia last week.

To-day "East Lynne," which has worn so well as a popular melodrama, will be screened on the cinema sheet. Its presentation will spread over the whole evening's exhibition, a fact which should attest its general interest. Blanche Forsythe, an English emotional actress, assumes the role of Lady Isabel.

CRYSTAL PALACE PICTURES.

The Australian Navy pictures vied with an English series of topical events at the Crystal Palace on Saturday. "Wild Animals at Large," the principal subject for this week, should contain all the elements of thrilling sensation. A circus menagerie on show was ever an attraction; but this picture will show the wild beasts—and some kangaroos—raiding a township on their escape by a railway accident. Labour Day also will be conjured up once more by the scenes to be presented in the Australian series.

LYRIC, COLONIAL, AND EMPRESS.

"Truth Will Out" will take star place at the Lyric Picture Hall to-day. At the Colonial "The Sham Sheriff," which tells of the reform of a waster, is to be screened for the first time; and a romantic drama in three acts entitled "Wanted," may be viewed on the Empress screen.

SMOKE CONCERT.

On Saturday evening the annual smoke concert of the South African Soldiers' Association was held in the G.U.O.O.F. Hall, Castlereagh-street. The function was very successful. Captain Neild, of the 16th Imperial Bushmen, presided. The arrangements were in the hands of Lieutenant Sargent.

CRICKET.

SECOND ROUND CONCLUDED.

PREMIERS DEFEATED.

GORDON WIN OUTRIGHT.

The second round of grade matches was concluded on Saturday in the warm weather, although a fairly strong nor'-easter blew throughout the afternoon, which had the effect of tempering the sun's rays—in fact, during the last hour of play it was rather cool. Taken right through, however, it was an interesting afternoon's cricket.

In contrast to the play on the first day, when the batsmen held the upper hand, the bowlers had the better of matters, the difference between the two days' records being six runs per wicket, viz., 27 and 21 respectively. The margin is a very wide one, and similar to that which occurred in the first round.

The most notable happening on Saturday was the defeat of the premiers—North Sydney—at the hands of Petersham, who thus have the honour of dislocating a long record of wins, the last defeat sustained by North Sydney being in the 1911-12 season by Redfern. Petersham's victory is the more surprising because of their bad showing in the opening round against Balmain, who got within one wicket of an outright victory. However, Petersham performed with distinct credit in dismissing North Sydney for such totals as 143 and 133, a result chiefly due to the fine bowling of T. J. E. Andrews, 11 for 144, and J. Scott, seven for 80. Petersham were within 23 runs of an outright victory, with seven wickets in hand, when "time" was called.

Gordon followed up their success against Paddington by winning outright against Middle Harbour, who, however, batted two men short in each innings. In this match Bowden and Maclean were the successful bowlers. Gordon are now leading in the competition.

Balmain, who had scored 278 runs to the one for four by Sydney on the first day, made a great effort to dismiss Sydney twice during the afternoon, but they could only manage to dislodge 14 batsmen for 234 runs, of which nine fell to the prowess of B. J. Folkard, who thus accomplished a very fine double-barrelled performance, having scored 101 on the previous Saturday. His full bowling record was 10 for 128. As he also scored 99 and took eight wickets for 104 runs in the first round, Folkard has begun the season in a remarkable manner.

Another match in which the batsmen had to strive hard to avert an outright defeat was that between Paddington and University. The latter had scored 327 runs on the first day, and on Saturday dismissed sixteen of their opponents for 211 on a wicket that, not having been topdressed so far this season, was not benefited by the trampling it received by the school children on Thursday last. However, Groundman Stewart will start top-dressing the pitch tomorrow, so that the usual excellent "strips of granite" will shortly be in evidence.

Waverley occupied the worst position of any team in the competition at the end of the first day's play—a position exactly the reverse of the first round—having been headed on the first innings by Central Cumberland, who increased their four for 158 to seven for 271 (declared), in the hope of again dismissing the seasiders cheaply in the second innings. However, Waverley, who collapsed for 124 in their first innings, responded with seven for 228, and thus easily staved off the major points defeat.

After twice failing badly in the first round against Waverley, the Redfern batsmen rehabilitated themselves on Saturday by scoring 318 for the loss of seven wickets, in response to Western Suburbs' 370 on the first day. Rix, whose form late in the previous season was a feature of Redfern's in-cricket, played a meritorious innings for 135—the only century of the afternoon.

Following are the results of the games:—

Petersham, 186 and three for 68, defeated North Sydney, 143 and 133, by 43 runs on first innings.

University, 327, defeated Paddington, 96, and six for 115, by 231 runs on first innings.

Balmain, 278, defeated Sydney, 133, and five for 105, by 145 runs, on first innings.

Central Cumberland, seven for 271 (closed), defeated Waverley, 124, and seven for 228, by 147 runs on first innings.

Gordon, 411, defeated Middle Harbour, 127 and 134, by an innings and 150 runs.

Western Suburbs, 370, and Redfern, seven for 318, played a draw.

On Saturday 80 wickets fell for 1668 runs, at an average of 20.85 runs per wicket. The rate on Monday was 27.30 per wicket.

At Petersham the premiers were almost defeated outright, the local team requiring 23 runs with seven wickets in hand when stumps were drawn. Norris carried his 30 not out to 70—a fine patient innings, which occupied just over two hours in the making. Petersham lost two more wickets before North Sydney's total was passed, but a useful stand for the last wicket by Asprey and Norris put their side 43 to the good.

North Sydney again failed with the bat, no man notching 20, although no fewer than eight reached double figures, and the innings closed for 133. Andrews again bowled throughout the innings, and secured six wickets for 66, giving him a match total of 11 for 144 off 32 overs. Scott had three for 40, and Sedgers one for 23. R. V. Minnett was out c Norris b Scott 0 in each innings. The fielding was good, and Harvey's work as wicketkeeper was first-class. Petersham required 91 to win outright, but had only 40 minutes to bat. Andrews and Norton commenced briskly, and the former notched 43 not out in a total of 68 for three wickets. Middleton secured all the wickets for 28. Hopkins and Hordern, who each secured four wickets in the first innings, did not bowl in the second, the North Sydney captain evidently being of the opinion that Petersham could not get the runs in the time available. This is North Sydney's first defeat in fifteen games, the last being at the hands of Redfern in the last game of the season 1911-1912.

On a wicket which did not favour the bat, Paddington experienced a rather anxious time in averting an outright defeat against University, whose bowlers held the upper hand throughout the afternoon. So well did W. J. Stack (five for 25) and R. J. A. Massie (four for 43) bowl, that Paddington's first innings ended at six minutes to four for a total of 96. Trenerry and Callaway (18 each) put on 34 runs for the second wicket; but the former was all at sea to Massie's bowling. After the partnership had been sundered, M. A. Noble saw the remainder of his team summarily dismissed. Noble's 21 not out was a splendid effort, being watchful and elegant, with the leg-glance—a beautiful stroke—the chief scoring medium. Following on, Paddington lost six wickets for 115. Noble again scored 21, and Colt Callaway (26), R. A. Munn (23 not out), and H. Frances (16 not out) were the other chief scorers. The youthful Callaway has a strong defence, and is a very promising batsman. Munn played solidly, and Frances executed several neat off-clips. Massie, who took six for 62 in the match, and Stack six for 45, bore off the bowling honours. The left-hander kept a very fine length, and swung away from the batsman. He also sent down some very fast balls, which included a few yorkers. Stack's bosies proved troublesome. Cooney's fast bowling was a trifle on the short side. The fielding was not up to University's usual high standard.

Balmain have started the season auspiciously. In the first round they just failed to defeat Petersham outright, and in the second they dismissed 15 of Sydney for an aggregate of 238, 14 wickets falling on Saturday for 234. Thus the metropolitan club were still 40 runs behind when stumps were drawn. The batting of Sydney was not of a high-class character, the majority of the batsmen experiencing difficulty in negotiating B. J. Folkard's medium-paced bowling. In the first innings six wickets were down for 51; but the next three—Sydney batted one man short—gave trouble, the total reaching 133. Haworth (25) and Toby (22 not out) both played sound cricket. Finneran's 18 included 16 off one over sent down by Folkard. In the second innings five wickets fell for 105, Jenkins (25 not out), Achurch (27), and Webster (17 not out) being the principal run-getters. Folkard's bowling record for the match was ten for 128. Six of the seven wickets that he captured in the first innings were clean bowled. Radcliffe kept wickets neatly.

Central Cumberland were keen on defeating Waverley outright at Parramatta Oval; but they found the seaside batsmen much more difficult to dislodge on Saturday than on the first day, and had to be content with a win on the first innings. Cumberland had dismissed Waverley for 124, and had notched 158 for the loss of four wickets on the first day. This they increased to 271 for seven wickets and then applied the closure. Waverley requiring 147 to avert an innings defeat. This they did by scoring 228 for the loss of seven wickets. E. L. Waddy increased his 115 not out to 131, and J. B. O'Neill (44), and Syd. Thomas (21 not out) were the other chief scorers for Cumberland. No fewer than eight of the nine Waverley batsmen who went to the wickets in the second innings scored double figures, with W. W. Grace in the lead with a brightly-compiled 75—two sixes and eight fours. H. Murray (36 not out), W. E. Pite (39), and F. E. M'Elhone (25) all played well. And if S. E. Gregory did not score largely—12—he played a very valuable innings, helping Grace to add 52 for the fourth wicket at a critical period of the game. Coogan, O'Neill, and Cranney each obtained two wickets for Central Cumberland, who, like Waverley, fielded well. Ward and Shea were the pick of Waverley's bowlers, though Flynn was not punished.

A fair crowd was attracted to Redfern Oval, probably in the hope of witnessing some sparkling batting and a brilliant finish, Western Suburbs having scored 370 on Monday last. Singularly enough, however, not a single "sixer" was hit, and the finish proved somewhat disappointing, although the spectators were treated to a fine display by Rix, who compiled 135 in 180 minutes. The left-hander scored 22 fours in an innings which was marked by soundness, as well as brilliancy. Barnes batted steadily for 48, being quite overshadowed by Rix in the rate of scoring, although the former executed some graceful strokes on both sides of the wicket. Vincent (30) made a fine effort to assist Rix in bringing victory to Redfern; but when the latter was clean bowled by Owen the batting became very slow, and a draw appeared to be the best Redfern could hope for. A little enterprise at 5 o'clock might have proved successful. Although Dive (three for 79) and Owen (three for 80) bowled their leg-breaks with fair length throughout, they appeared to be unable to "cap" their success by dismissing the last few Redfern batsmen, who played keenly for the draw, as the time for drawing stumps approached. A few of the Western Suburbs' fieldsmen made mistakes; but the outfield is not exactly of the billiard-table variety.

Gordon outclassed Middle Harbour in their match at Manly Oval. On the first day the visitors scored the fine total of 411, and on Saturday dismissed their opponents twice, thus securing the major points. Middle Harbour were unfortunate in having to bat two men short in each instance, Walton being absent through a family bereavement, and Otley having gone to Bowra. Each of Middle Harbour's innings lasted 90 minutes, the totals being 127 and 134. D. A. Gee topscored in each innings with 58 and 71 respectively, but his second effort was the better one. He was batting 43 minutes in his first innings, which was a brilliant one. He was particularly severe on Shortland. He hit five sixes and two fours, but gave two chances. His 71 included nine fours and two sixes. J. Randell was the only other batsman to reach the twenties in either innings, and both he and Gee were brilliantly caught and bowled by Maclean in the second innings. Bowden's six for 38 in the first innings was a fine bit of bowling, and two chances were missed off his bowling. He secured two wickets in his second over, and two in his fifth. In the second innings Maclean carried off the honours with six for 30. Scott was not made much use of after hurting one of his legs early in the afternoon.

PARIPAN—THE IDEAL WALL-COVERING FOR AUSTRALIAN HOMES.

Its use is recommended by eminent sanitarians, because it keeps the walls germproof and dust free. It is specified by leading architects because of its extraordinary beauty and durability.

This excellent lacquer-enamel will give decorative effects as pleasing as those you get from high-grade paints or enamels, but at a much smaller cost.

PARIPAN LASTS LONGER THAN ANY OTHER WALL COVERING.

And can be kept bright and clean by sponging with soap and water.

Tell your decorator to use Paripan for the walls of every apartment in your house.

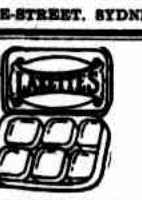

You can select a different shade for every room, and get either a flat or glossy surface. Paripan can be applied to wood, wallpaper, plaster, etc., and is very easily worked. Your decorator will have no trouble with it whatever.

For full particulars of Paripan write to-day to EXPERIENCE

is always the final and most complete test of the worth of any medicinal preparation. Those who know that a remedy has given them relief from troublesome and distressing disorders are always worth listening to. Their advice is generally worth following. There are many thousands of such people in the world to-day, in all walks of life, who have proved, over and over again, the splendid value of Beecham's Pills as a corrective and curative medicine. Their testimony is based upon knowledge and experience. They have subjected Beecham's Pills to possible—they have taken them! And the effects have been excellent. There has been a speedy disappearance of dyspeptic troubles, such as biliousness, headaches, flatulence, constipation, and uneasiness of the stomach and bowels. Sluggish organs have been roused into healthful activity—the blood has been purified—and the whole system strengthened and invigorated by the use of

BEECHAM'S PILLS.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

VITICULTURE.

That Murray Valley vignerons have only themselves to blame for the decadent state of the wine industry, because of their consistent dependence with the Government for assistance, is a wrong impression. Owing to the vineyards being mostly large, in some cases 100 acres and over, reconstructive work has been rendered as difficult as the effect of the delay in obtaining resistant vines has been detrimental. It is comparatively an easy matter to replace diseased vines in a five or 10 acre vineyard by means of self-raising the vines, but it is a different proposition reconstituting on a large scale. Some vignerons have been anxious to graft a few thousand vines each season, but there has been, and still is, a difficulty in obtaining a sufficient quantity of phylloxera resistant stock. Practically all the wood raised at the nurseries at the Howlong Viticultural Station, and at the Wagga Experiment Farm, is drawn by the Government, and this supply has each year been totally inadequate for its purposes.

Some vignerons who have grafted vines, without any previous practical experience, are anxiously waiting to see what percentage of the grafts strike. The fact that the great majority of grafts in the Government nurseries are said to have proved a failure, has made many vignerons shy of this work. So, under these circumstances, and in view of the fact that the eyes of vignerons had been turned to the propagation of vines by the department in the nursery, lately situated at Raymond Terrace, is it any wonder that more vignerons did not graft vines? And while the Government was prepared to sell rootlings ready grafted on phylloxera-resistant stocks at £5 a thousand, is it to be wondered at that vignerons refused in many cases to pay nurserymen £20 a thousand for similar vines? Therefore, the present serious position is due to the department having failed to keep time with the progress of reconstituent work in Victoria, and its inability to supply anything like the numbers of vines required. The result is to be seen in all the viticultural districts of the State, and to single out Albury, where there is an estimated depletion of 50 acres formerly devoted to vines, is not giving by any means the worst instance. And the decrease in acreage will grow larger if the Government does not help, in a practical way, the vigneron to overcome his difficulties.

The criticisms by Mr. G. P. Frere, of St. Hilaire Vineyard, Albury, as published of late in these columns, have, no doubt, been aimed at the department in the hope of it remedying matters in the most practicable way possible, and not with any desire to stir up mistakes of the past. Mr. Frere has pointed out that no good would be served were he to do so, although he rightly observed that the lessons of the past should serve as a warning in the administrative work of the viticultural branch in the future. A suggestion that that gentleman made several months ago, namely, that a vineyard should be selected in each wine-growing district for experimental and demonstration purposes, and for grafting vines suited to the climatic conditions of the district, is certainly to be commended, and worth the serious consideration of the Minister for Agriculture. The object is to carry out experiments similarly to those of the wheat plots, which have proved of direct value to growers. If vineyards were established, as suggested, there is no doubt that the vigneron would benefit as greatly as the wheat grower has by the wheat plots, while the former would be afforded opportunities of learning to do more for himself. At present, vignerons are uncertain as to the results of grafting they have done.

Vignerons will no doubt be pleased to know that the Minister for Agriculture has not lost any time in carrying into effect his intention to increase the acreage of phylloxera-resistant vines at the experiment farms at Wagga and Yanco. The only reason to be inferred from the fact that the area at Howlong is not to be increased is because phylloxera made its appearance there some time ago among the European vines. Up till a year ago there were only 4 acres of resistant vines at Wagga, but last planting season the area was brought up to 18 acres, and this year it has been further increased to 30 acres. At first about nine varieties were grown, but some of these having been rejected and replaced there are now the following:—Rupestris du Lot, Mourvedre X. Rupestris, 1202, Aramon X. Rupestris Ganzin, Riparia X. Rupestris, 3306, and Riparia X. Cordifolia Rupestris, 106-8. Prior to the increase of the area, and since, the yearly output has been 50,000 cuttings. Mr. M'Keown, manager of the Wagga Experiment Farm, estimates the output, as soon as the vines are in full growth, at between 490,000 and 500,030. Last season the growth of the vines was regarded as most satisfactory. Experiments in subsoiling the vineyard are contemplated almost immediately. The estimate of carrying out this work at Wagga is a little high, and, as it was not done by an expert, explosives in subsoiling are to be put to a practical test as to the cost and most suitable time to do the work, notwithstanding the present is not the right season. It may be mentioned that the vineyard was subsoiled to a depth of 14in. when the land was cleared. After that lucerne was grown on it for some years, and Mr. M'Keown says the action of the lucerne roots has improved the mechanical condition of the soil.

Apparently the department is now endeavouring to practically assist the industry, and to compensate for past neglect.

RURAL WORKERS.

A.W.U. DEMANDS.

The Australian Workers' Union which, at the beginning of the year, absorbed the Rural Workers' Union, has endorsed a schedule of rates and conditions which it suggests should govern the rural industries.

In a letter to Mr. T. I. Campbell, general secretary of the Farmers and Settlers' Association of New South Wales, Mr. E. Grayndler, general secretary of the A.W.U., expressed a desire to meet in conference representatives of the various rural producers' associations from each State, so that an endeavour might be made to arrive at a settlement of the rates and conditions for all the States, as is done by the Australian Workers' Union for the members of the union in the pastoral industry. He suggested that either Melbourne or Sydney would be convenient as a place of meeting. The industries affected would be:—Agricultural, market gardening, viticultural and fruit-growing, dairying, and general work of all kinds in connection with those industries.

Mr. Campell sent a reply, stating that, as far as his executive was aware, there was no dispute between members of the association and their employees, and, therefore, there was no necessity for a conference. The union is now preparing for the submission of its claims for hearing before the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Court, namely:—

AGRICULTURE.

In respect to the agricultural industry, it is suggested that the hours be 48 per week—7.30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on five days of the week; one hour for dinner each day; 7.30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. The rates proposed are:—Binder, stripper, and harvester drivers, 10s per day, or £2 10s per week; stack-builders and thatchers, 15s per day; general harvest hands, £2 5s per week; general farm hands, £1 15s; ploughmen, £2; and drill drivers, £2.

For grain carrying and stacking the hours are similar. The rates are:—Carriers and stackers, 10s per day; truckers, 10s; and carriers only, 13s.

Chaffcutting hours are to be 48, made up as follows:—From 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on five days of the week; one hour for dinner each day; 7 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays; two "smoke-ohs," 15 minutes each, on forenoon and afternoon of each day. The rates suggested are:—Engine-drivers, 12s 6d per day, or £3 per week; feeder, 12s 6d per day or £3 per week; bagsewer, 10s per day, or £2 15s per week; bagger, 9s per day or £2 10s per week; all other employees, 8s per day, or £2 2s per week. These rates include board and lodging; where board and lodging are not provided 16s extra is proposed to be added.

Corncrushing, compressing, hay, straw, or fodder:—Rates: General workers, £2 10s per week; where board is not provided, 16s per week extra.

Threshing grain.—Rates: Engine-drivers, 12s 6d per day, or £3 per week; general hands, 8s 6d per day, or £2 5s per week; "chaffy," 10s per day, or £2 10s per week.

Market gardening.—Hours, 48 per week, work to cease at 12 noon on Saturdays. Rates per week, with board and lodgings, £1 15s; where board and lodging is not provided, £2 8s.

Viticultural and fruit-growing industry.—Rates: Dippermen, barrowmen, carriers-out, gangers, lumpers, pruners, feeders, weighers-out, pressers, box-makers and nailers, £2 14s; other employees, male and female, over 18 years of age, £2 8s; other employees, male and female, under 18 years of age, £2 2s; other employees not classified, £2 8s.

DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

Dairying hours per week, 48. Rates: Milkers over 17 years, £1 16s per week; milkers under 17 years, £1 5s; board and lodgings to be provided in addition to above rates.

Butter and Cheese Factories and Creameries.—Hours per week, 48. Rates: Foreman, £3 10s per week; engine driver, £3 5s; fireman, £2 15s; butter workers, £3 10s; cheesemakers, £3 10s; testers and graders, £3 5s; weighers and packers, £3; creamery manager, £3; casual workers, per day, 11s; youths, 16 to 18 years, £1 10s; youths, 18 to 20 years, £2; all workers not classified, £2.

Condensed and Preserved Milk and Casein Industry.—Hours per week, 48. Rates: Minimum rate for employees over 18 years of age, £2 10s; minimum rate for employees under 18 years of age, £2 2s.

Cooks.—Rates: To cook for 12 men or under, £2 10s per week; for every additional man above 12, 4s each.

Workers Engaged Fencing, Clearing, Making Irrigation Channels, Dams, etc.—Hours per week, 48. Wages, £2 14s.

Preference of employment is asked to be given to members of the union, other things being equal. The employer is asked to provide the employees with good and sufficient housing accommodation, cooking, and table and washing utensils, wood and water free of charge. Provision is made for payment for overtime in all the sections. Fifteen per cent. extra is to apply to Western Australia.

COMPULSORY SPRAYING.

The secretary of the Fruitgrowers' Association of New South Wales (Mr. H. J. Rumsey) has received a letter from the Under-Secretary, Department of Agriculture, in reply to a communication in regard to the compulsory spraying of fruit trees, informing the association that the department was fully alive to the position respecting this matter, and felt sure that growers would see the necessity for being fully prepared by obtaining the necessary equipment without delay. Taking into consideration all the circumstances, it was not deemed expedient to make any changes in the direction of rescinding notices already issued. The remarks concerning a third spraying in some localities had been noted.

TICK REGULATIONS.

PENALTY OF A SOLITARY TICK.

The "Kyogle Examiner" writes:—"Mr. S. Gay will probably be about the first cattle-owner who will have to comply with the six months' continuous dipping which the department has just decided to enforce. The full penalty has been incurred through the discovery of a solitary tick. The total number of cattle examined was in the vicinity of 300 head, and as these are bullocks a few weeks off being fit for the butcher, the seriousness of the position must be apparent to the most casual observer. It means that, while the cattle will naturally go off in condition, Mr. Gay will have a considerable amount of capital lying idle, which owing to an absurd and drastic condition he will not be able to touch. To many such a predicament in which Mr. Gay finds himself might easily result in financial disaster, and for no other reason than that a single tick was discovered on a beast. Such a possibility cannot be viewed with any degree of equanimity, and the department should be forced to realise that the finding of one tick is not sufficient serious to justify the imposition of such extraordinary stringent conditions. The sooner departmental recognition of this fact is evidenced, the better it will be for the peace of mind of the district."

P.P. BOARDS.

CHAIRMAN RESIGNS.

BATHURST, Friday.

A definite development in the case concerning the payment by the directors to the chairman (Mr. J. J. Sullivan) of the Bathurst P.P. Board of nearly £100 some months ago for service during the stock inspector's illness, occurred at to-day's meeting of the board, when Mr. Sullivan resigned upon the directors reappointing Mr. W. L. Kable, who asserted the illegality of the payment, auditor for the ensuing year. The case has created considerable interest in the west, and raises several points affecting the administration of the P.P. Act. The department is now considering the action to be taken in the matter. Another application for the position of auditor was received from Mr. H. C. Firman, of Sydney. During the ensuing discussion, Mr. Sullivan contended that he had not been paid as acting stock inspector, but merely for duties performed during Mr. Brett's illness. He objected to Mr. Kable trying to throw a slur on the manner in which he (the speaker) had performed his duties. No complaint had been received to the effect that he had not carried out his duties properly.

Several directors upheld the auditor, and admitted the board had made a mistake in paying the sum. Mr. Sullivan's motion for Mr. Firman's appointment as auditor lapsed for want of a seconder, and Mr. Kable was re appointed. Mr. Sullivan thereupon wrote out his resignation as a member of the board, with which he has been connected for over 30 years.

SCIENTIFIC FARMING.

In an address given to the Freeling branch of the South Australian Agricultural Bureau, by Mr. G. Boerke on "Scientific Farming," he said that a man was farming scientifically when he did four things—measured, recorded, studied, and experimented. "Measurement" was the basis of all the sciences. It was obvious that the man who, say, measured the milk obtained from his cows, the food they consumed, and the labour they involved was more scientific and better able to improve his position than the man who merely milked his animals, and sold the produce without having any precise knowledge of the cost of production and of the capacity of the cows. The same principle could be applied to the growing of crops. "Records" enabled the farmer to see at a glance what was being done, and the results that were being obtained. In other words, they provided him with exact knowledge, which was the starting point in the quest for improvement. To achieve that improvement it was essential to study the methods adopted and the results recorded by others. Before applying the information thus gained to the whole of his farm, however, it was necessary for the farmer to conduct experiments, which would reveal its true value and possibilities.

FODDER CROPS.

EXPERIMENTS WITH WHEAT.

DAPTO.—Further interesting experiments in wheat-growing for fodder purposes have been made in this district. Mr. George Gear, of Marshall Mount, has a splendid crop of both Thew and Medial varieties, the former being five feet six inches high, and the latter six feet six inches high. Although sown over a month later than the Thew, the Mediah is nearly as forward as the other variety. The experiment is of value to farmers as it shows that by sowing these two varieties of wheat about the same time they can have a crop ready to cut for fodder when the earlier variety has been used.

LANDHOLDERS AND SHARE-FARMERS.

It does not appear to be generally known that provision is made by the Pastures Protection Act, 1912, whereby any person may take proceedings for the punishment of any offence under that Act, but any penalty imposed shall belong and be paid to the board of that district in which proceedings were taken, any law to the contrary notwithstanding, and the court imposing the penalty shall order accordingly. Prosecutions are invariably instituted by the Pastures Protection Boards, but an exception to this was recently in evidence in a case where a share farmer proceeded against a landholder on whose land the crops were raised, for not taking proper steps to suppress and destroy rabbits on the holding, which had destroyed a large part of the crop. The prosecution was successful, and a fine and costs were imposed. If the prosecution had been abortive, the prosecutor would have been ordered by the court to pay the costs.

RABBIT WARRENS.

One of the P.P. boards has decided to prosecute in cases where owners adjoining a netted-in holding allow rabbit warrens to exist within one chain of their neighbour's netted fence, after being notified by the inspector to destroy such warrens.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

The students from the agriculture classes at the Sydney and Granville Technical Colleges, accompanied by the instructor (Mr. Henry Lord), visited Mr. A. R. Lloyd's poultry farm at Pennant Hills on Saturday afternoon last for a practical lesson in poultry raising.

FIRE AT MORTDALE.

A fire broke out yesterday afternoon in a wood and iron building used as a store and dwelling in Pitt-street, Mortdale, occupied by E. N. Murray, and resulted in extensive and serious damage, both to the building and the contents.

A policy for £600 in the Ocean Accident Company covered the contents, while the property was insured for £400 in the Metropolitan Fire Assurance Company.

You may not be able to read your favourite music —but you can play it

NOT so very long ago there was but one way to master the piano, and a very laborious way it was. Scales and exercises, exercises and scales, year in and year out—that was the only way that one could obtain musical proficiency. The Steck Pianola Piano has changed all that. With the Steck Pianola Piano you start to-day where the scales and exercises ended—as a proficient pianist. You get straight to the real pleasures of music—the expression of your thoughts and emotions.

The Steck Pianola Piano

(Also Steinway, Weber, Stroud)

Reads the music—you interpret it

The music roll takes the place of the sheet music, the delicate mechanism of the Pianola Piano is the brain that reads the notes and the fingers that play them. The rest is left to you, and by the wonderfully susceptible devices of the Pianola Piano you are enabled to interpret the music in your own way equally as much as if your hands were touching the keys. Note by note the music is wholly under your control.

Call at Pianola Hall to-day and inspect the wonderful variety of models. The Pianola Piano can no longer be regarded as a luxury—you will be suprised to find that the various prices and terms of deferred payment bring the genuine Pianola Piano within the reach of everyone, whilst we will accept your piano in part exchange.

The word "Pianola" is a trade mark, and therfore if you would have the only piano-playing instrument recognized by the great musical authorities and possessing the exclusive devices which have made it famous you must choose no instrument that does not bear the word "Pianola" on it.

¶ The Steck Pianola Piano, whose wonders as a Player-piano are not equalled by any other at any price, is an instrument ideally unmechanical and mysteriously sympathetic to your slightest expression and modulations.

¶ Come and hear it, to-morrow. We ask you to be our guest without obligation of any kind.

¶ If unable to call let us send you a Catalog of the Steck Pianola Piano. We will send it free if you will ask for Catalogue T

STATE ELECTIONS.

ADDITIONAL LABOUR SELECTIONS.

THE PREMIER AND MR. M'GOWEN CHOSEN.

The executive of the Political Labour League has at last made its selections for Cootamundra and Redfern, which constituencies are now represented, respectively, by the Premier, Mr. W. A. Holman, and the Minister for Labour and Industry, Mr. J. S. T. M'Gowen. Endorsement has been given to the candidature of these leaders of the Labour movements. Owing to Mr. Holman's attitude on the referendums a good deal of opposition, it is said, had to be overcome to secure his selection.

The difference between the case of Mr. Holman and the case of Mr. Page, M.L.A. (whose candidature for Botany was not endorsed) was that Mr. Holman, by reason of his absence from the State, did not oppose or fail to support the referendums. Mr. M'Gowen in one or two speeches in support of the issues placed himself in rather an ambiguous position, as he was an opponent of the referendum on the previous occasion.

One section of the P.L.L. executive is described, unofficially, to have been opposed to giving any consideration to Mr. Holman that was not extended to Mr. Page. By a majority vote, however, it was decided, in view of the fact that the fate of the Labour party would be at stake at the coming elections, to give elasticity to the guiding rule of the last special conference, and enable the selection to be made, the grounds being expediency and individuality.

Mr. Holman will be asked to sign a pledge which will require all Labour candidates for Parliament to pledge themselves to support the referendums should they again be brought forward.

Another selection made by the executive of the P.L.L. is that of Mr. F. J. Foster, ex-M.P. for New England, who will contest the electorate of Darlinghurst in opposition to Mr. D. Levy, M.L.A.

MOSMAN LIBERAL SELECTION.

The selection of a Liberal candidate for the electorate of Mosman was made on Friday last, the final figures being made available on Saturday. The voting was carried out on the preferential system. The first count gave P. B. Colquhoun 734, S. R. Innes-Noad 680, A. D. Walker 394, D. D. Middleton 331, C. Manning 482, and Dr. Morris 19, the last-named dropping out. At the next count, Mr. Colquhoun had 741, Mr. Innes-Noad 685, Mr. Manning 484, Mr. Walker 396; while Mr. Middleton came out with 335. In the third count, Mr. Colquhoun had 796, Mr. Innes-Noad 758, Mr. Manning 572, and Mr. Walker, with 433, came out. In the next, Mr. Colquhoun had 914, Mr. Innes-Noad 868, Mr. Manning coming out with 627. The next count gave Mr. Colquhoun 1026 and Mr. Innes-Noad 992, but as this was not an absolute majority, the count had to go into the third preference. Mr. Colquhoun was ultimately selected with a majority of 129, the figures being 1393 to 1264 in his favour.

MOTOR CYCLIST KILLED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Two accidents, one terminating fatally, happened yesterday at the motor cycling contests, which were held on the Amateur Sports Ground. One competitor, H. McColl, lost control of his machine, and when a few yards from the grand stand, where the track dips considerably, he crashed against the fence, his chest falling on the pickets. He was removed to the Homoeopathic Hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured, and collarbone broken. He died this morning. McColl, who was 28 years of age, was a motor importer.

A. Maplestone was the victim of the second accident. His machine skidded, and he was thrown on the track at the same spot where McColl was fatally injured. Maplestone's shoulder was dislocated, and he was also badly bruised and cut. Maplestone was admitted to the Homoeopathic Hospital.

LATE MR. T. P. REEVE.

Mr. Thomas Parker Reeve, whose death was announced in our Saturday's issue, was born at Deptford (England) 89 years ago, and throughout his life, up to about two years ago, he had enjoyed the best of health, having been able to move about until the last few months.

The late Mr. Reeve was for about 60 years actively associated with the work of the Methodist Church, and was a member of the first conference held here as far back as 1855. He had also been a lay preacher for 50 years, and had filled the position of trustee of Church properties, was a member of the council of Newington College, was general secretary of the Sunday School Union in the Sydney district, and also filled other offices, besides taking an active part as a Sunday-school worker. He was lay secretary for many years of the Church Sustentation Society, and had been a member of the committee of management of the society since its formation. He was also one of the founders of the New South Wales Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and a vice-president of the committee. Up to the time of his death, he and Mr. W. Crane were the sole survivors of the original committee. The Sydney Female Refuge and the Ragged schools were other institutions with which Mr. Reeve had identified himself, giving religious instruction regularly at the latter up to within a year of his death. He also acted on the principle of giving one-tenth of his income to assist philanthropic movements, but during latter years he gave one-fifth. Mr. Reeve also took a great interest in the work of the Sydney City Mission, occupying a seat on the council for many years, besides assisting many other institutions. In fact, his life was a long service in the interest of his fellow-men wherever he had an opportunity of doing it.

Mr. Reeve left three sons and two daughters, the former being the Rev. F. W. Reeve, of St. Luke's Anglican Church, Mosman; Rev. G. A. Reeve, of the Kiama Methodist Church; and Mr. T. H. Reeve, of Campbelltown. His daughters are Mrs. Bellhouse, widow of the late Rev. R. E. Bellhouse, whose son, the Rev. H. E. Bellhouse, is stationed at Wellington, and Mrs. W. A. Pepperday, of Rugbeia, Rowley-street, Burwood.

The funeral took place on Saturday. A service was held in the Methodist Church, Stanmore-road, and was conducted by the Revs. James Woolnough, T. B. Holmes, C. J. Prescott, and J. G. M. Taylor. At the graveside at Rookwood Cemetery the Revs. Dr. Sellors, T. B. Holmes, E. J. Rodd, and H. Price officiated, amongst the principal mourners being the Revs. G. A., F. W., and Mr. T. H. Reeve (sons), Mr. W. A. Pepperday (son-in-law), Messrs. R. and S. Pepperday, Dudley, Reg. Parker, Wilfred, Harold, and Ernest Reeve, and the Rev. H. E. Bellhouse (grandsons). Amongst the large number of friends at the graveside were Rev. Woolls Rutledge, Dr. Norman Peckley, Rev. J. A. Buchan, and Messrs. Ebenezer Vickery, W. Crane, Pickering, M'Manus, jun., M'Manus, senr., and G. A. Gifford.

RAILWAY POLICY.

FIVE YEARS AHEAD.

The Minister for Works (Mr. Griffith), while giving the Legislative Council credit for desiring to be be fair in regard to the Government's railway proposals, takes exception to the remarks of Mr. Ashton in Friday's debate.

"Mr. Ashton," said the Minister on Saturday, "says that the Government is making Parliament ridiculous by passing more railway measures than the funds in sight can construct. My reply is, that it is a proper thing for the country to know five years beforehand what the railway-construction programme is to be. By adopting such a course, the Lands Department is enable to co-operate intelligently with the Works Department in throwing open land for settlement in the vicinity of the lines authorised. Intending settlers also are able to know where they are, if the lines are actually authorised by Parliament, and only await the opportunity for construction.

"I hold the view that railway development should always be indicated by Parliament five years ahead at least, to enable land settlement to take place upon scientific lines. All the lines under construction, all the lines authorised, and all the lines under investigation should constitute one complete system of construction and connection; and I believe it would be a good thing for the country to have its whole system enacted into law, and carried out as rapidly as funds permit."

CHALMERS.—In sad but affectionate remembrance of our little darling, who departed this life October 13, 1912, aged 3 years and 8 months.

Silently a mother's weeping,
Sadly droops his father's head,
God has claimed our little darling,
He is numbered with the dead.
Though cast down in tears and sorrow,
Though we've lost one we love,
Softly comes the angel's whisper,
Willie's safe in Heaven above.

Inserted by his affectionate mother, father, and sister, Little Jean.

CHALMERS.—In sad but loving memory of our little grandson, William Henry Chalmers, who departed this life October 13, 1912, aged 3 years and 8 months.

God needed one more angel child
Amidst His golden band;
And so He bent with loving smile,
And clasped our Willie's hand.

Inserted by his grandparents, Charlotte and Harry Machan.

CHALMERS.—A tribute of love to the memory of our dear grandchild, Willie, who departed this life October 13, 1912. A bud in heaven. Inserted by his loving grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers, sen., and family.

FAIRHALL.—In sad but loving memory of our darling little daughter and sister, Dulcie May, who fell asleep October 12, 1912, aged 7¼ months.

Little we thought we should lose you so soon,
Loved little darling, just in your bloom,
Memory recalling, in fancy we trace,
Dulcie, our darling, your sweet little face.

Inserted by her fond father and mother.

FAIRHALL.—In loving memory of our dear little granddaughter and niece, Dulcie May, who fell asleep October 12, 1912, aged 7¼ months.

We had a little treasure once,
She was our joy and pride;
We loved her, ah, perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died.

Inserted by her loving grandfather, grandmother, and uncles, Harry and Albert.

FAIRHALL.—In loving memory of our darling little Dulcie May, who fell asleep October 12, 1912, at [illegible], Ashfield. Inserted by her loving grandma, Mrs. A. Fairhall; uncle and aunt, Charlie and Minnie Bean. A bud in heaven.

FARGHER.—In sad but loving memory of my dear grandmother, [illegible] Fargher, who departed this life October 13, 1912, aged 82 years. Asleep in God. Inserted by her loving granddaughter, Louie.

We miss you most who loved you best.

Inserted by her loving daughters, Agnes, Janet, and Christina.

HANNAN.—In sad but loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away October 13, 1912.

If the grave could only open
Many changes you would see;
But perhaps it is far better
There is sweet rest for thee.

Inserted by her loving son and daughter-in-law, Thomas and Lillian Hannan.

HANNAN.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Janet Hannan, who departed this life October 13, 1912.

Many times our thoughts have wandered
To her grave so far away,
Where they laid our loving mother
Just one year ago to-day.

Inserted by her loving son and daughter-in-law, John and Martha Hannan.

HANNAN.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Janet Hannan, who departed this life October 13, 1912.

Away in a lonely graveyard,
Under a lonely sod,

We will remember thee.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Ellie and William Mann.

SMITH.—In loving remembrance of my dear husband and our dear father, James Smith, who died October 13, 1912, aged 74 years. Love's remembrance lasts for ever. Inserted by his loving wife and children.

SMITH.—In sad and ever-loving memory of my dearest father, James Smith, who passed away to the higher life at Dulwich Hill October 13, 1912. Beloved by all who knew him. Sadly missed by his loving daughter and son-in-law, Fred and Ella Bennett, and granddaughter, Dorothy, of Botany. For ever with the Lord.

SMITH.—A tribute of loving memory to our dear father, James Smith, who died October 13, 1912, aged 74 years. Ever remembered by his loving son-in-law and daughter, Sam and Annie Beehag.

SMITH.—A tribute of fond, loving memory of our darling dad, who passed away this day, 13th October, 1912. We love you too dearly to ever forget you. Inserted by his devoted daughter and son-in-law, and grandchildren, Florrie and Harry King.

SMYTH.—In sad but loving memory of my dear husband and father, Peter Smyth, who departed this life October 13, 1909. R.I.P. Inserted by his loving wife and children, Teresa Smyth. Geelong papers please copy.

SPEECHLEY.—In sad but loving memory of my dear mother, Mary Ann Speechley, who departed this life on October 12, 1909. Inserted by her loving daughter, Harriett Howard. Gone, but not forgotten.

STEPHENSON.—In sad but loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah, who departed this life October 13, 1912, in her 72nd year. Gone, but not forgotten. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Phyllis and August Toggville.

STEPHENSON.—In sad but loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Sarah, who departed this life October 13, 1912, in her 72nd year. Peace, perfect peace. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Sarah and Joseph Fairbairn, and grandchildren.

STEPHENSON.—In sad but loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah, who departed this life October 13, 1912, in her 72nd year. Sadly missed. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Rose and Farquhar Black, Brisbane.

STEPHENSON.—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Sarah, who departed this life October 13, 1912. Inserted by the widow and children of her late eldest son, John Henry Stephenson.

STEPHENSON.—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandma, who departed this life October 13, 1912. Inserted by her loving son, daughter-in-law, and granddaughter, Matthew, Ada, and Doris Stephenson.

STEWART.—In loving memory of my dear and faithful wife, Sarah Ellen Stewart, aged 48, who departed this life October 12 1912. Inserted by Joseph Stewart. Thy will be done.

STEWART.—In loving memory of my dear sister and our aunt, Sarah Ellen Stewart, who departed this life October 12, 1912, aged 48 years. Inserted by brother and nephew, William Holmes, sen., and W. Holmes, jun., North Sydney.

TAFT.—In loving memory of my dear wife, Jane Taft, who departed this life October 12, 1906. Inserted by her loving husband, Harvey Taft.

TAFT.—In ever-loving memory of our dear mother, who departed this life October 12, 1906. Never forgotten. Inserted by her loving sons, Harvey, Hiram, and Frank.

TAFT.—In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, who departed this life October 12, 1906.

As long as life and memory last,
We will always think of thee.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Evelyn and John Lennon.

TILLMAN.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Elizabeth Tillman, who died October 12, 1912. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Caroline and George Spowart. Gone, but not forgotten.

TREVILLIAN.—In ever-loving remembrance of our darling Pearl, who died October 12, 1912.

Far and oft my thoughts do wander
To a grave so far away,
Where they laid our darling Pearl
Just one year ago to-day.
You are not forgotten, Pearlie dear,
Nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

Inserted by parents, brothers, and sisters.

IN MEMORIAM.

VANDENBERG.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Sarah, who departed this life on October 12th, 1902. Inserted by her loving brothers, Sam and Herbert.

RETURN THANKS.

Mrs. EVANS, of 222 Crown-street, desires to return her sincere THANKS to neighbours and friends, also Mother Rectress and nursing staff of Sacred Heart Hospice, during her sad bereavement through the loss of her husband.

Mr. F. HARVEY and FAMILY desire to return THANKS to their many friends for letters, cards, and floral tributes and kind sympathy in their late sad bereavement.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1913.

A DEFENCE CONFERENCE.

The considerable attention which has been devoted in the English press during the past few days to the proposal of the Commonwealth Government for an Imperial Defence Conference indicates that the interest in the subject is by no means confined to Australia. Indeed, the whole matter is of such vital interest to every part of the Empire that it is of the utmost importance that the reasons which prompted the Federal Government in suggesting the conference should be fully understood and adequately discussed in the coming period, whatever may be the outcome of the present proposal. The suggested conference is the direct sequel to the Imperial Defence Conference which was held in 1909. The important principle was then accepted by the Imperial Government and by the Commonwealth of Australia and the Dominions of Canada and New Zealand that a common responsibility rested upon each part of the Empire which was directly interested for the defence of Imperial interests in the Pacific Ocean. That was a momentous advance to have made in Imperial development, for, whilst on the one hand it recognised that the mother country ought not to continue to shoulder the burdens of Empire defence alone, it also laid down the principle that any separate efforts made by one part of the Empire must be directed towards a common end—the protection of the interests of the Empire as a whole—and must be organised by means of co-operation with all the other portions of the Empire. It was upon this understanding, and in furtherance of these aims, that Australia undertook to create the fleet unit which is now nearing completion, that the Imperial Government announced its intention of organising two fleet units in the southern seas, that the Dreadnought contributed by New Zealand was to be stationed in the Pacific, and that the naval scheme proposed by Canada was put forward.

That agreement has been carried out by Australia alone, and thus the very foundation upon which it rested—co-operation within the Empire for the joint defence of Imperial interests in the Pacific—has been removed. It is at least open to question whether the scheme to which the Australian people were committed would have taken the precise form which was given to it if this result could have been foreseen. The Australian fleet unit is not now some isolated force which is to be devoted to purely local purposes alone. Its integral association with the great Imperial fleet, which must still be Australia's chief safeguard against menace from without, has been placed beyond all dispute or cavil. But the 1909 scheme made it clear that the raison d'etre of the establishment of the Australian navy was not so much the protection of the shores of the Commonwealth, but a contribution, in common with the rest of the Empire, towards a common responsibility. Australia is justified, therefore, in asking that the parties to the 1909 agreement shall be called together in order that an explanation may be given for the non-fulfilment of the understanding then arrived at, and that a discussion may take place as to the future organisation of the Imperial defence forces in the Pacific and the co-ordination of the Australian fleet unit with other Imperial forces. There is, it is true, political instability both here and in England which may place obstacles in the way of the immediate holding of the conference. But there is this to be said in favour of Senator Millen's contention in this connection in the statement which we published on Saturday last, that both parties in Australia have proposed this conference, and there is no serious difference in policy between them. Moreover, if the conference is held in London, the inconvenience to British Ministers should be slight.

PANAMA AND AUSTRALIA.

Yet another stage has been reached in the progress of the Panama Canal, and a most notable stage it is. On Saturday the President of the United States exploded a charge at Gamboa Dyke, the last barrier between the Culebra Cut on the one side and Gatun Dam on the other. Atlantic has been linked with the Pacific, and though their waters have not actually mingled yet, because of the difference of level, the end of the undertaking is now in sight. Already vessels of light draught are navigating three-quarters of the channel. Colonel Goethals pronounces that the canal will be opened for traffic in January, and should no unforseen calamity like a landslide delay operations, the New Year will witness one of the greatest, if not the greatest, engineering feats known to history. What remains still to be done is largely in the nature of cleaning up and putting the finishing touches to the work. The great difficulties have been overcome, the chief problems have been mastered, and one can hardly be surprised that the American nation has regarded this occasion as second only to the passage of the first ship from ocean to ocean, and have rejoiced accordingly. Indeed, it does right to rejoice, for its sons have at length translated into fact what has been a dream for almost five hundred years. The old Spanish conquistadores saw the possibilities, but to realise them was beyond their power. De Lesseps, the hero of Suez, found Central America a very different proposition to the healthy desert of Egypt; Panama was the grave of his reputation and of many thousands of his countrymen. But his failure was not without its usefulness. It taught the world that he who would cut the isthmus must first make the isthmus habitable.

The manner in which the United States set about the task is too well known to need recapitulation. The doctor has contributed scarcely less to the triumph than the engineer. Each has waged unremitting war, the one against the tiny organisms which breed death in the very air, the other against those vast and almost inexplicable movements of mother earth, which, by a sudden slide or a subsidence, will destroy the work of years in a few minutes. The ceremony of Saturday is the testimony to the success of each—with a reservation or two. It looks almost as if repeated land slides had forced the hands of the engineers, and as though in desperation they had let in the water to the celebrated Culebra Cut to provide some pressure upon banks which are continually slipping. Dredges now appear to be taking the place of giant scoops and railway lines, which in itself is significant. But perhaps the main difficulties in these directions have really been overcome. The canal is not yet formally open, but the authorities announce that it has now reached such a stage that its completion is merely a matter of two or three months. Whether it will have any effect on the commercial relations of Australia is a much-discussed question. Prima facie its importance to us is not very immediate. The route to Europe it provides is not appreciably shorter than that by Suez, and though it may give travellers an attractive alternative to the ordinary voyage, it is not likely to be used extensively by European shipping bound to our shores. On the other hand it brings the east coast of the United States very much nearer to us, and if America is going to make a breach in her tariff wall for our raw products, our trade with her Atlantic coast may receive a fillip. Of course, the imposition of tolls on all save American shipping in effect confines its commercial use to the American flag, and up to the present, despite all protests, America has persisted in her interested interpretation of the Hay Pauncefote Treaty. But it is known that President Wilson favours the more impartial construction, and it is not too late for the American Government to reconsider its pronouncement over the question of the tolls.

FEDERAL LOANS.

Mr. Fisher's criticism of the loan projects of the Federal Treasurer fails far from the mark. The leader of the Opposition must well know that these loan proposals are the natural corollary of his own policy. His party left the Treasurer with the legacy of a mass of commitments which had in some way or other to be financed. As heavy a burden as was reasonably possible has been cast upon the consolidated revenue. The whole of the so-called surplus of some two and a half millions sterling is to be mopped up, and even then the Treasurer could not make both ends meet without either imposing still heavier taxation or raising a loan. He adopted the latter course, and we think rightly so. Anyone would imagine that Mr. Fisher had himself never cast any liabilities of this kind upon the people of the Commonwealth. As a matter of fact, not only had he done so, though pledged to refrain from so doing, but he also exhausted several sources of supply. He took over a goodly portion of the note money and lent the balance to the States at interest. He absorbed the other trust moneys in the statutory trust funds. He took over heavy liabilities from the States on account of the transcontinental railways and on account of the Cockatoo Island works, and became liable for the interest thereon, though by some curious fallacy of reasoning he does not regard these as part of the Commonwealth but as part of the State debts. As far as the taxpayers of the Commonwealth are concerned it really does not matter what it is called. They have to pay the interest bill all the same, and it is all one to them whether they pay it in their capacity as citizens of the Commonwealth or as citizens of the State.

Non-borrowing is a fetish which Mr. Fisher still worships with his lips while his heart is elsewhere. He borrowed more than his successor with greater needs proposes to borrow. There is nothing against borrowing itself; everything lies in the spending. There is a certain class of expenditure that should be made out of revenue and never out of capital. Were Sir John Forrest proposing to spend loan moneys upon works or services that should properly be charged to revenue we should be among the first to protest. The line of demarcation is well and easily drawn. But he is making no such proposition. Mr. Fisher says that the Liberal Government is paying for its defence out of loans, whereas he paid for his out of taxation. This is only partly true, and it is because it contains a half-truth that the charge appears to have some seriousness. As a matter of fact there is no proposal to construct warships out of loans or any other necessary adjunct to the defence system that would consist of an asset of a wasting character. All that is proposed is that some land which will be used for defence purposes and which will not depreciate, but will in all probability vastly appreciate in value as population of the Commonwealth grows, will be acquired and paid for out of borrowed money, which is a very different thing. There can be no valid objection to this, and criticism like that of Mr. Fisher is merely of the carping order. No one wishes to see the Commonwealth become responsible for large amounts of borrowed capital. Debt is always to be avoided where possible. But the finances should be regarded as a whole. In some cases it is quite reasonable to thrust some burden on posterity, and where posterity is to be handed over a valuable asset as against the debt there can be no logical objection to this being done.

THE LIMIT OF COMPROMISE.

The latest development of the Home Rule problem—practically an offer made by one member of the British Ministry, Mr. Churchill, to concede some form of special treatment to the Protestant counties of North-east Ulster—is one which for the last three years has constantly been placed before the readers of the "Herald" as practically certain to occur. Those who have followed the articles of our London correspondent on this subject may remember that, from the time of the first debate on the Home Rule Bill onwards, the view has constantly been put forward in the "Herald" that, in spite of all the preparations in Ulster, in spite of all the speeches of Sir Edward Carson, and the drilling with dummy guns, which have recently been supplanted by rather more effective weapons, in spite of the apparent deadlock and impossibility of peaceable solution, there was a solution which had not yet been attempted, but which some at least of the politicians on both sides have had in the back of their minds from the beginning. In the first debate on the present Home Rule Bill there occurred a certain significant passage of arms between Sir Edward Carson and Mr. John Redmond, the leaders of the two sides in Ireland, which, although neither side at the time followed up the compromise clearly hinted at, has never faded from the memory of either party. Sir Edward Carson, in his speech on that occasion, claimed that not one argument had been brought forward in support of Home Rule for Ireland which would not be an equally strong argument for Home Rule for Ulster. Mr. Redmond was immediately on his feet to ask if Sir Edward Carson would accept Home Rule for Ulster if it were offered. Sir Edward retorted that the offer must be made before he could be expected to answer it—and there, for the moment, this crossfire ended.

But the idea which was at the back of it did not end there, and it is not done with yet. There is a great body of Conservatives which is not unfavourable to Home Rule, provided it does not lay itself open to the charge of deserting Ulster. Indeed, it is only three years ago this month that nearly the whole of the Conservative press of Great Britain was engaged in an extraordinary stampede towards Home Rule. The opposition of Ulster afterwards pulled it up short; but where there was so much readiness in the English Conservatives actually to advocate Home Rule three years ago, there cannot be any very convinced opposition to-day. There are many Liberals who do not believe that the objections of Ulster to Home Rule are sincere or final. They say: "We know that under the present Home Rule Bill no injustice can happen to Ulster, and we refuse to believe that her opposition is so unreasoning and prejudiced that she will go to extreme lengths before she is actually oppressed." It may be that those who hold this view do not know Ulster. At any rate, there distinctly exists another section of Liberal opinion which, whilst convinced of the urgency of Home Rule, says: "Ulster's opposition is unreasoning and wrong-headed, but it exists, and it is genuine. Whether we agree with it or not, have we the right in the name of freeing three-quarters of Ireland from a form of Government which it abhors to force upon the remaining quarter a Government which it equally detests?" This section holds that, whilst Ulster cannot for a moment be allowed to prevent—as it has attempted to prevent—self government being given to the rest of Ireland, at the same time and for the same reasons it cannot be denied self government, if it should choose to ask it, for itself. Both Mr. Asquith and Mr. Birrell have made statements which fall very little short of this. But it is Mr. Churchill in particular—with his scheme for a federation of Great Britain which he still advocates—who has placed himself at the head of the section which seems to go farthest in the way of compromise. Whether the rest of the Cabinet and the party agrees with him is not yet clear; but, if it does not, this section is probably too strong to allow of the Home Rule Bill being carried as it stands without submission to a general election before it is put in force.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

When one as patriotically Australian and as well informed as Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald tells us that in the matter of municipal government, more particularly in the direction of town beautifying and town planning, we are twenty years behind the times, it gives us pause. We in Sydney, conscious that the setting of our city cannot anywhere be eclipsed, are apt to allow things to rest at that. Nature has done so much for us that we seem to think that we can rest on our oars and still lead in the race, whose goal is the city healthy and beautiful. But we cannot. Already other cities have eclipsed us, and now we are told that we are twenty years in arrears. It is no new discovery for those who have travelled through the highly-organised municipalities of the Continent of Europe, or have visited those delightful spots in England, such as the garden suburb of Hampstead, the garden city of Letchworth, or Ealing, Bournville, or Port Sunlight. We think of these places and then turn our thoughts to Daceyville without, perhaps, absolute despair, but with a fuller consciousness of how much still remains to be done, not only in organising, but also in propaganda work. If it were but possible by the use of some magician's wand to transplant the whole population of our capital for one brief hour to Hampstead, and then back again, we doubt not but that we should have garden suburbs and garden cities of our own in no time scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land. All that is needed is a concrete example, and only time and much disinterested work of enthusiasts like Mr. Fitzgerald will give us that.

The visit of Mr. Griffin, the Chicago town-planner, has given us some stimulus. He has at least awakened thought. He has pointed out our opportunities. Next year the good work will receive an additional impetus through the visit of Professor Mawson, whose name is well-known as one of the leading English experts on this fascinating subject. Besides Mr. Charles C. Reade, who recently discussed town planning in Australia at the recent great meeting of enthusiasts at Ghent is organising under the auspices of the Garden City and Town Planning Association of London, a tour for the popularisation of this important subject throughout the Commonwealth and New Zealand, and hopes are being expressed that Mr. Raymond Unwin, whose name has been immortalised by his work at Letchworth, will be able to come as the chief exponent of this policy of city and town beautification, and the introduction of health-giving sun and trees and flowers into suburban and even factory areas. The State Government has decided to construct another Daceyville at Newcastle. It is to be hoped that the Premier's experiences at Hampstead and elsewhere will serve him in good stead, and that the new Daceyville will be a decided improvement on the old. But there are other questions besides mere artistic effects. There is the all-important matter of finance which has a way of obtruding itself into so many schemes of social betterment. When Governments have to borrow money and pay half-yearly instalments of interest, they must build on sound foundations, or their most enthusiastic efforts are apt to fall to the ground. We are not so sure that the Daceyville books will stand a searching test. It is to be hoped that the new Daceyville, if it ever comes to fruition, will not be open to adverse criticism in this respect.

State Session.—The Legislative Assembly will meet to-morrow afternoon, not for the transaction of business of its own initiation, but merely to receive messages from the Legislative Council in reference to the railway propositions before that Chamber. The session should in the ordinary course of events close to-morrow.

Office Without Power.—The Prime Minister, Mr. Cook, stated, in an address on Saturday evening, that the taxation in Australia to-day was 30/4 per head more than three years ago. "You showed your appreciation of that sort of thing," observed Mr. Cook, "by relegating these gentlemen to the Opposition side of the House, and if you did not put the present Government into power actually, you put the other Government out of power. (Laughter.) We are doing our best in a difficult position. We are doing nothing, and doing it very well—(laughter)—and I am afraid it will not be possible to do very much of a legislative kind until we get a further accession of power. While getting into administrative office, we are really not in power, and cannot be until you yourselves have spoken more decisively than on the last occasion. 'They cannot: we shall not.' That is the Opposition dictum that has gone forth, but we will give them a run for their money before we have done with it. "No matter," declared Mr. Cook, amid great cheering, "how determinedly they may try to block the business of the country, we are going to try to push ahead, believing that the people of this country are on our side, and that the cause of Liberalism is in the ascendant in Australia."

Tingira Boys.—"Under the signature of 'Tom Bowling,'" said Senator Millen, Minister for Defence, yesterday, "I notice that one of your correspondents in Saturday's issue speaks of the scurvy treatment meted out to the young lads on the Tingira in keeping them from their sea training during the last few months, and, further, in denying them the opportunity of participating in the recent reception to the fleet. Your correspondent either writes without a knowledge of the facts, or is influenced by some strong prejudice. The boys have been taken from their ship solely because of the outbreak of diphtheria. This outbreak, unfortunately, has proved of abnormal tenacity, but it is sufficient to say that every step taken has been taken under the highest medical authority, the one desire being to avoid a recrudescence of the disease. It is ridiculous to suppose that the department out of sheer wantonness would have ordered the boys away from their ship at a time like the present for any reason but that stated. Professor Welsh has all through been advising as to the course to be taken. Your correspondent states that the boys are entitled to fair play. I quite agree with him. It would have been monstrously unfair to have returned the boys to their ship until every step had been taken to eliminate the danger to their health."

"Cost of Religion."—The Rev. J. E. Carruthers, president of the Methodist Conference of New South Wales, speaking yesterday at the opening of the Rabone Memorial Methodist Church at Tarana, remarked that there were people who said, "Look at what religion costs." How could anyone dare to say that the service to God cost a lot? One felt ashamed to hear such a statement. Australia had contributed £5,000,000 towards the building of the fleet which recently entered Sydney Harbour, and it would cost £1,000,000 per year to maintain it. These sums represented more than the people of all the Australian States had given to the Churches and religious movements in a year. In New Zealand the vast sum of £9,000,000 had passed through the totalisator. The people of Sydney and its suburbs spent £1,000,000 per year in attending moving pictures. In this State there were £6,000,000 per annum spent in drink, and yet people talked about the cost of religion. There were people who ridiculed the Bible, and held it up to criticism, but it would be a sad day for the world if such people prevailed and reduced the Bible to the realms of mere literature.

A Rough Assay.—In Brown v Minister for Works, now before the Banco Court, one branch of the claim is based upon the metalliferous value of part of the land resumed in connection with the Barren Jack irrigation scheme. A quantity of stone was exhibited, which plaintiff contended showed a payable percentage of silver-lead ore. A witness, who appeared to doubt the richness of the lode, was asked by Mr. Shand, K.C., to break one of the specimens in order to settle the point, but he demurred, being of opinion that the learned counsel, who is of stalwart proportions, was physically better fitted for the task. Mr. Shand, however, declined on the plea of want of experience, and the services of the court attendant were requisitioned. The latter attacked the work with vigour, but with a hammer far too small for the purpose; and chips began to fly in all directions. The members of the press took up their copy and silently stole away, and the legal fraternity also showed a disposition to back out of the firing line. It then dawned upon the attendant that the court carpet was hardly solid enough a foundation for such a rough and ready assay, and, having changed the scene of operations to the adjoining yard, he accomplished his task triumphantly.

Tribute to Australian Wines.—Viticulture is destined to become one of the most important industries in the Commonwealth, according to Mr. Alan Burgoyne, of the great wine firm of that name, and a member of the British House of Commons, who arrived in Sydney on Saturday. The future of Australian wines was exceedingly bright, he said. In fact, he believed that they would in time sweep the market. Australia was the Empire's vineyard, having advantages that South Africa and Canada could never possess. Australian wines were equal to anything produced anywhere. They had a quality and an excellence all their own.

PANAMA CANAL.

THE LAST OBSTRUCTION.

A GREAT FEAT.

There will be at least one man who will receive the news of the last main obstruction to the flow of water through the Panama Canal, which is recorded in the cable news this morning, and that is Colonel Goethals, who, as engineer-in-chief, and general administrator, has been responsible for the supervision of the construction of the canal. His successful combat with disease, his indomitable energy and resourcefulness, has overcome all obstacles hitherto, and the consummation of his labours and aspirations will surely be a matter of considerable qualification to himself, to the American people, and, indeed, to all who have watched the progress of the Canal, and have realised its importance to commerce, and in other ways.

The total cost of the Canal has already exceeded sixty million pounds, but when it is stated that Colonel Goethals has had the task of cutting nine miles through the solid hills, and of excavating nearly two hundred million cubic yards of material, of constructing huge dams and locks, and channels, the surprising thing is not that the Canal has cost so much, but that it has cost so little.

A STUPENDOUS PROJECT.

The only way to realise the stupendous character of the project, it was suggested, was to visit it before it was finally completed, when the locks stood up "raw from the earth, and the approaches to their sides resemble greater aqueducts than the Romans ever built; when the Culebra Cut is still gashed and scarred by construction railways, and reverberates to the shock of explosions, and the unceasing clangour of the travelling cranes, the steam excavators, and the dredgers; when the roar of landslides, artificial avalanches, makes itself heard above the din; when cut and approach and lock are still dry channel; and a country which is to be submerged beneath the Gatun Lake is still studded with human habitants.

But perhaps also a consideration of some of the difficulties may advance the estimate of the Canal's greatness. The task would have been easier had it been undertaken in a dry land. The rainfall is 140 inches a year; the streams become rivers in a few hours, the rivers become devastating torrents. The rivers had done a great part of the excavations for the engineers, but the Chagres which has done most, has been known to rise 35 feet in a day."

THE GATUN DAM.

A reference to the map which we publish elsewhere will elucidate the location of the places which are mentioned in the cable news this morning. The Great Gatun Dam, which is about three miles from Limon Bay on the Atlantic side of the canal, has been constructed with the object of impounding the waters of the River Chagres and its tributaries, and is nearly one and a half mile long, measured on its crest; nearly half a mile wide at its base; about 400 feet wide where the water reaches up its pyramidical side, and 100 feet wide at the top. The dam has the effect of forming the Gatun Lake, which will have an area of over 164 square miles. The waters of this lake have now been enabled to flow into the Culebra Cut, and thus in effect join the two oceans. The top of the dam will be 30 feet above the normal level of the lake, and 115 feet above sea-level. This is explained by the fact that there are locks at Gatun with a lift of 85 feet.

A HIGH-LEVEL CANAL.

Indeed, it must be understood that the canal is not a direct sea-level channel; a high-level canal was the only way of dealing with the local conditions. The first part of the canal from the Atlantic side is along the canalised channel of the River Chagres, as far as the Gatun Dam. By means of the locks vessels are lifted 85 feet into the Gatun Lake. This sheet of water, which is twice the size of Lake Maggiore, and is nearly as large as Lake Geneva, has a channel varying from 500 to 1000 feet in width for a distance of 24 miles, which is more than half the length of the canal from shore to shore. At Obispo the mountain divide begins through which the Culebra Cut has been made. The cut is nine miles long, and has a width of 300 feet. At Pedro Miguel vessels enter a second lock and are lowered over 30 feet to a small lake, which is about 55 feet above sea-level. After a further one and a half mile the third series of locks (at Miraflores) are reached, and they enable vessels to be lowered to sea-level, and to pass out to the Pacific through a made channel about eight and a half miles long, with a bottom width of 500 feet.

THE LOCKS.

In all there are six double locks in the canal, three at Gatun, with a combined lift of 85 feet, one pair at Pedro Miguel with a lift of 30 1-3 feet, and two pairs at Miraflores with a combined lift of 54 2-3 feet at mean tide. The usable dimensions of all the locks are the same—a length of 1000 feet, and a width of 110 feet. Each lock will be a chamber with walls and floor of concrete, and steel gates at either end. The lock gates are steel structures 7 feet thick, 65 feet long, and from 47 feet to 82 feet high. They weigh from 300 to 600 tons each. Ninety-two lock doors or leaves will be required for the whole canal, with an aggregate weight of 57,000 tons.

THE CULEBRA CUT.

"A wonderful spectacle, a tremendous demonstration of human and mechanical energy," was the description given by Mr. William Archer, the well-known publicist, of the Culebra Cut some time ago. "It is simply the transformation of a mountain into a valley," he said; and he gave the following account of a journey, zig-zagging from the highest level to the very bottom of the "prism," with the "two sides of the eviscerated mountain towering above":—"Imagine all the biggest railway cuttings you have ever seen ranged into a sort of giant stairways along the two sides of a great prism-shaped valley, and imagine all these cuttings at a dozen different levels, being daily and hourly deepened by an army of machines and men. The activity is enormous. Here we have whole companies of drills of various kinds boring the rock to be charged with dynamite. A little further on we pause at a given signal, and presently come five or six detonations, one after the other, like a sharp discharge of artillery. The usual charge is about three hundred pounds, but on one occasion 23 tons were used in a single explosion, to blow away a whole hillside. When the ground has been loosened, or 'fired,' as they call it, along comes the mammoth earth-eater, the steam shovel, with its attendant train of dirt cars, digs its shining steel teeth into the hillside, and munches it up at the rate of five cubic yards to a mouthful."

Now it would appear that the last explosion has been made, the last piece of ground "fired," the last steam shovel has done its work on the Culebra Cut. Has Colonel Goethals, however, seen the last of the landslides? If not, there may still be some work for the dirt cars at Gatun and Pedro Miguel and Miraflores. But sufficient for the day is both the evil and the glorious achievement thereof.

DISASTER AT SEA

APPALLING FIRE.

RESCUE FLEET HELPLESS.

236 LIVES LOST.

DREADFUL SPECTACLE.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

A fire broke out on the steamer Volturno (Canadian Northern Steamships, Ltd.) while on a voyage from Rotterdam to New York, and, as far as is known, out of 757 persons on board 236 are missing.

The disaster occurred almost exactly in mid-Atlantic, and a terrible gale was raging at the time.

The steamer Carmania on Thursday morning received a wireless call, stating that the Volturno was on fire 78 miles away, and she forthwith set out at full speed for the scene, arriving there at noon.

She found the Volturno burning fiercely in the forward portion.

BOATS SMASHED AGAINST SIDE.

Two boatloads of passengers got safely away from the burning vessel, but four others were smashed against her sides by the terrific seas that were running, and the occupants were all drowned.

HEROIC RESCUE EFFORTS.

The gale prevented the Carmania's boats from approaching the burning steamer, though repeated efforts were made.

Mr. Gardner, the first officer, made a particularly gallant attempt. His boat's crew battled with the waves for two hours, during which all but three of them had their oars broken or torn from their hands, and eventually they, with the greatest difficulty, made their way back to the Carmania.

In the meanwhile Captain Barr cleverly manoeuvred the Carmania to within about 100 feet of the stern of the Volturno, and he vainly tried to throw a line aboard.

TEN STEAMERS HELPLESS.

By 4 o'clock nine other steamers, having received the wireless appeals for assistance, had arrived, but, like the Carmania, they were powerless to afford any aid to those on board the Volturno, though effort after effort was made. As darkness came on, it was only possible to throw lifebuoys over, and stand by, keeping a sharp lookout for straggling swimmers with the aid of searchlights.

It was an agonising sight to watch the hundreds of passengers, including scores of women and children, crowded aft, while the Volturno's crew fought the flames forward.

AN EXPLOSION.

At 9 o'clock the flames seemed to reach the engine-room, and a terrific explosion, followed by what appeared to be a flight of rockets, occurred.

When darkness fell the scene was a thrilling one—the Volturno burning fiercely, surrounded by the huge, brilliantly-lighted hulls of the international fleet, with their decks crowded by thousands of spectators, and all the vessels plunging and rolling in the mountainous seas.

CRIES FOR HELP.

Cries for help reached the steamers standing by throughout the night, but, as before, they were in the heartrending position of not being able to respond.

At midnight the watchers were vouchsafed a ray of hope, as it was observed that the flames were not making headway aft of the engine-room bulkhead.

At daybreak a sailor of the Carmania jumped overboard with a life-line, and rescued a steerage passenger, who was floating by supported by a lifebelt.

THE GALE ABATES.

With the morning the gale abated, and the sea rapidly became less rough.

At 9.20 o'clock in the morning the survivors were taken off the Volturno, and the vessel was abandoned.

THE RESCUE ROLL.

The Carmania rescued one person, the La Touraine 40, the Minneapolis 30, the Rappahannock 29, the Czar 102, the Narragansett 29, the Devonian 59, the Kroonland 90, the Grosser Kurfurst 105, and the Seydlitz 26.

Among those rescued by the Kroonland were the captain of the Volturno, the chief, second, third, and fifth engineers, and two telegraphists.

THOSE ON BOARD.

According to the purser, there were on board the Volturno:—

Cabin passengers	124
Steerage passengers	540
Crew	93
Total	757

MORE MAY HAVE BEEN SAVED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.

The New York agents of the Uranium Line believe that there is a likelihood of a greater number of those who were on board the Volturno having been saved than was at first though probable.

The steamer Uranium has been despatched by the company to recover what bodies she can, and give them proper burial. She is expected to reach the scene of the disaster on Wednesday.

A Red Cross committee here is arranging to take care of the survivors when they land.

The Volturno was a steel twin-screw steamer of 3602 tons. Her dimensions were: Length, 340ft; breadth, 43ft; and depth, 20.7ft. She was built by the Fairfield Company, Ltd., Glasgow, in 1906.

LABOUR'S REPLY

TO £50,000,000 SCHEME.

IMPORTANT MINERS' DECISION.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The resolution agreed to by the Miners' Federation Conference that there should be a combination of all the big unions to support each other's demands, is exciting much discussion. Labour circles regard it as of great significance.

It is interpreted in some circles as a reply to the proposed fund of £50,000,000 to be raised by employers to deal with strikes and lock-outs.

Very little is now heard of the latter proposal.

Mr. J. Williams, general secretary of the National Transport Workers' Federation, declared yesterday that some action was necessary, in view of the employers' £50,000,000 threat. For years the employers had been combining on an avowed class basis, and there was no binding influence among the organised workers beyond the trade-union congress.

Mr. H. Gosling, president of the Transport Workers' Federation, declared that the employers' £50,000,000 scheme had done more to open the workers' eyes than anything else.

Labour opinions in a dozen provincial towns are conflicting. In some places, including Sunderland, the proposal is eagerly approved, but in others, particularly Manchester, the strengthening of the individual unions is favoured.

The older leaders are cautious in expressing their opinions.

In some centres the opinion is held that the link between the various trades is so indefinite that it is too early to attempt any change.

MINERS' CONFERENCE.

The Miners' Federation Conference, at yesterday's sitting, by 335,000 votes to 271,000, negatived a resolution for a five-days' working week on all coalfields.

The mover of the resolution declared that statistics showed there was only employment for 4½ days per week in the coal trade for all.

The conference recommended that steps should be taken to create a new standard of wages in connection with the various conciliation boards; also for the institution of a minimum wage of 7s per day for miners employed at the coal face, or engaged in ripping.

THE COTTON LOCKOUT.

LONDON, Oct. 10.

The Master Cotton Spinners' Federation has confirmed the recommendation of the executive to close all the mills on the 25th inst. and keep them closed until the dispute at the Beehive Mills in Bolton is settled.

The operatives closed the Beehive Mills a fortnight ago, alleging tyranny on the part of one of the overseers.

The decision affects 2000 firms, with a capital of £50,000,000, employing 100,000 operatives.

PANAMA CANAL.

A NOTABLE EVENT.

FLOODING THE CULEBRA CUT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.

To-day President Wilson pressed an electric button at the White House, thereby exploding a huge charge of dynamite under the Gamboa dyke in the Panama Canal, 4000 miles distant, which allowed the waters of Gatun Lake to flow into the Culebra Cut.

Vessels of light draught are now able to navigate the greater part of the Panama Canal, and steam dredges have started the work of deepening the channel.

Cities on the Pacific coast celebrated the blowing up of the dyke by the ringing of bells, blowing of sirens and whistles, and the temporary stoppage of the car services.

The waters of the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans are, of course, not actually united, as the Culebra Cut is 80ft above sea level, but the waters of Gatun Lake extend from the locks at Pedro Miguel to the locks at Gatun, which is approximately two-thirds the entire length of the "canal."

CELEBRATION IN LONDON.

LONDON, Oct. 10.

Many Americans assembled at the Savoy Hotel to-day to celebrate the removal of the last barrier in the Panama Canal, and the toast of "Success to the Canal" was honoured.

A PATHETIC INCIDENT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.

While the celebrations were proceeding in connection with the Panama Canal Colonel Galliard, the director of the Culebra Cut excavations, lay dying in a hospital near Washington as a result of a general breakdown in health, due to his long labours in the Canal zone.

THE TOLLS QUESTION.

MOVE BY PRESIDENT WILSON.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

It is stated that President Wilson is asking the United States Congress to abandon the idea of discrimination against foreign shipping in regard to the Panama Canal tolls.

CHINA.

PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION.

PLOT TO KILL YUAN SHIH KAI

PEKING, Oct. 10.

The ceremony of installing General Yuan Shih Kai as President of the Chinese Republic for the term of five years was carried out in the Taiho Palace. It was a brilliant and picturesque function.

Chen, chief of the mounted police, has been arrested. He has confessed that the southern rebels bribed him to attempt to assassinate General Yuan Shih Kai at to-day's ceremonial.

A number of bombs had been found in premises occupied by police, and suspicion was aroused by Chen's anxiety to secure a position near the President.

LAND REFORM.

CAMPAIGN OPENED.

IMPERIAL POLICY.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Lloyd George, addressed a meeting of 2500 delegates from the Home, Midland, and Eastern counties' branches of the Liberal Federation in the Bedford Skating Rink yesterday afternoon.

Earl Beauchamp presided, and several of the Chancellor's Cabinet colleagues were present. Intense interest was manifested in the address throughout England.

At the outset Mr. Lloyd George briefly referred to Home Rule and Welsh Disestablishment, and declared that any undisposed-of difficulties in regard to these questions could easily be adjusted by goodwill. In the absence of goodwill the existing difficulties were exaggerated, and imaginary difficulties were created.

BRITAIN'S GREATEST MONOPOLY:

Coming to his main topic, he said that the question of the land entered every necessity of life. Most of the land in Britain was held by a very few, and landlordism was Britain's greatest and least controlled monopoly: Millions, he declared, had been driven out of Ireland by legal process.

He did not attack landlords individually, or as a class—but a human being could not be trusted with such sweeping powers as they possessed, without abuses, oppression, and injustice arising.

The Government meant to deprive the landlords of such temptation.

"A GHASTLY FAILURE."

The present land system was a ghastly failure. The percentage of cultivated land, and the wages of agricultural labourers, were lower in Britain than elsewhere. He wanted to see a man's wage for a man's work. Ninety per cent. of the labourers received wages below the scale necessary to keep a family on workhouse fare—and the worst-paid districts were those where the landlords' sway was the greatest. The housing was atrocious.

The worker formerly had a stake in the country, but the landlords and Parliament had annexed Naboth's vineyard.

SMALL HOLDINGS ACT.

The Small Holdings Act had met with much success, but the worker had not profited to the extent which the Government had expected. One reason for this was the hostility of the county councils, but the chief reason was the prohibitive price of land. Men bought land for social position, for power, and for sporting, which had nothing to do with its intrinsic value.

Until the monopoly and values were placed on a proper basis the small holding scheme would not be a success.

GIVEN UP TO SPORT.

The country possessed millions of acres of uncultivated land, while it was buying millions' worth of food abroad. No country gave up so much land to sport. Even cultivated land was damaged by game. It was no use to say that the landowner paid compensation—valuable food was destroyed, while hundreds of thousands of people had not enough. The farmers must be protected. It was scandalous that rents should be raised on the farmer's own improvements.

THE GOVERNMENT POLICY.

The Government's policy was to reduce the game lands by two-thirds, and to give the cultivator greater security. This might even end the landlord's dominion, but the country had to choose between the power of the landlords and the prosperity of the labourer.

The present land system neutralised the country's natural advantages, and handicapped trade in every direction. The migration to the towns depressed wages, and contributed to the growth of the slums.

WHAT MUST BE DONE.

Before the Government considered the question of land purchase, involving a heavy burden upon the community, it must place the land monopoly on a fair business footing. It must secure the labourer a living wage, a decent house, and a piece of land, and give him the prospect of becoming a small holder. It must provide the cultivator with expert instructors, and also cheapen transport. At present certain railways were giving undue preference to foreign produce. There must be a change in the system of rating. The State must be provided with powers to acquire the land, and to deal with those owners who were unable properly to cultivate their soil, and State aid must be invoked financially to carry out the scheme.

SETTLEMENT BY AGREEMENT.

In addressing a second meeting, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said that, if the Tories were prepared to settle the land problem by agreement, the Liberals would be prepared to work with them; but it must be a real settlement.

NAVAL DEFENCE.

DOMINIONS IN THE DARK.

NEED FOR CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

The "Daily Telegraph," commenting on the recent statement of Mr. Joseph Cook on the subject of a naval conference, states that the dominions are in the dark regarding the navy, and light is refused them.

The paper adds that the Empire is threatened with a development of the most disquieting character, as the tone of Mr. Cook's statement shows.

It contradicts Sir Wilfrid Laurier's assertion that there is no naval emergency at present, and declares that, on the contrary, the situation is growing worse. Britain, with her Empire, is like Atlas bearing a whole world on her shoulders.

"The dominions are showing an anxiety to respond to Mr. Churchill's urgent call," the paper concludes, "and it is not too late for Mr. Asquith to still see the wisdom of calling a conference together."

CANADIAN POLICY.

A STRAW IN THE WIND.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.

The Conservatives won the Chateaguay election by a small majority, thus indicating that the support of the Prime Minister's naval policy is strong in Quebec province.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Opposition leader, took an active part in the campaign on behalf of the Liberal candidate, Mr. Sydney Fisher, who was Minister for Agriculture in the Laurier Cabinet.

FRANCE AND SPAIN.

M. POINCARE'S VISIT.

SPAIN AND THE ENTENTE.

PARIS, Oct. 11.

The newspapers appear to be convinced that as a result of M. Poincare's visit to Spain the latter country has joined the Anglo-French entente.

It is understood that the free passage of French troops through Spain to Africa in the event of a mobilisation has been arranged, also the flotation of a Spanish loan on the French market.

LAWN TENNIS.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

F. Lowe beat C. P. Dixon for the lawn tennis championship of Europe, 10-6, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

HOME RULE.

FEDERAL SUGGESTION.

APPEALS FOR CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

Earl Grey, explainig his opposition to Home Rule last night, declared that the present scheme differed widely from that of Canada because it was based on the assumption that Ireland was a separate nationality.

If the people of Ireland had a right to refuse to be governed from London the people of Ulster were entitled to refuse to be governed from Dublin. The population of north-east Ulster exceeded that of seven out of the nine Canadian provinces, the whole of New Zealand, or 24 out of 49 States of America. It would be a crime to compel Ulster to accept Dublin rule.

Lord Beaconsfield and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain favoured the application of the federal principle to Ireland, and he declared that the Unionists should accept Mr. Churchill's invitation seriously to consider the question of a solution of the problem on federal lines. It was certainly within the field of practical politics.

Lord Dunraven is also appealing for a settlement by conference.

"100,000 MEN READY TO RESIST."

Mr. F. E. Smith, M.P., in a speech at West Bromwich last night, expressing his own personal opinion, remarked that Mr. Churchill was ludicrously wrong in thinking that Home Rule could be forced upon Ulster under the Parliament Act.

Within four months, he declared, there would be 100,000 men in the North of Ireland with guns on their shoulders ready to resist.

He added that a compromise was possible on the basis of the exclusion of Ulster.

THE SUFFRAGISTS.

FURTHER WINDOW SMASHING.

FORCIBLE FEEDING PROTEST.

LONDON, Oct. 10.

The suffragists broke the windows in the residences of several doctors in the West-End to-day as a protest against the resumption of forcible feeding in the case of Rachael Pearce and Mary Richardson, who were arrested in connection with the recent fire at Hampton-on-Thames.

DISTURBANCE IN THE ABBEY.

A band of 20 suffragists interrupted the service in the Westminster Abbey by singing chants for the imprisoned suffragists.

ATTEMPT TO APPROACH THE KING.

As the King and Queen were driving to the Coliseum yesterday to attend the charity performance organised by Mde. Sarah Bernhardt, in aid of the French hospitals in London, several suffragists attempted to approach the Royal carriage with a petition, but were frustrated by the police.

MRS. PANKHURST'S AMERICAN TRIP.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.

Mrs. Pankhurst, has cabled to the women's suffragists here that she has changed her sailing date, declaring that she will travel under an assumed name in order to test the efficiency of male government.

The immigration officials, who will seek to prevent Mrs. Pankhurst from landing, assert she will be unable to escape their vigilance, and they accept her challenge.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

In order to outwit the New York Immigration authorities, Mrs. Pankhurst declares that she will land in disguise.

KIEFF TRIAL.

ANTI-SEMITE PAPER'S FAIRNESS.

CAUSES ITS CONFISCATION.

KIEFF, Oct. 10.

The conservative anti-Semite newspaper "Kiev Liandin," commenting on the trial of Mendel Beilis, a Jew, charged with the murder of the boy Yuschinsky, in order to obtain human blood for the Passover ritual, violently assailed the judicial authorities, especially the public prosecutor.

The paper contended that the charge against Beilis accuses a whole religion of an infamous superstition.

However advantageous or necessary from a party standpoint it might be to prove the existence of ritual murders, the prosecution, the paper added, was not entitled to undertake the task of supplying a living object.

It compared Beilis to Dreyfus, and declared that he was being treated like a rabbit on the vivisection table.

The following day a sensation was caused by the confiscation of the paper.

Other newspapers are also being fined or confiscated daily.

The evidence given at the trial of Beilis yesterday included that of fourteen of the boy Yuschinsky's school-fellows, but their statements were not important in regard to the main issue. Two of them, however, stated that the police had threatened them with imprisonment unless they altered their testimony concerning the date on which they last saw Yuschinsky.

MEXICAN CROMWELL.

LEGISLATORS IMPRISONED.

WILD EXCITEMENT.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.

A member of the Senate recently disappeared in a mysterious fashion, and in view of the fact that the disappearance was given a political significance, the Chamber of Deputies demanded the production of the missing legislator, and declared that if the demand was not complied with the members would leave the capital in a body immediately.

President Huerta, fearing the defection of the members to the rebels, and acting in true Cromwellian fashion, surrounded the House with troops and arrested the whole of the members to the number of 110, and had them conveyed to goal.

The Senate, which had passed a similar resolution to that of the Chamber of Deputies, promptly withdrew it when it learned of the fate of the Deputies.

The city is seething with excitement in consequence of the incident.

MILITARY DICTATOR.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.

President Huerta has established himself as military dictator of Mexico.

There is now but little likelihood of the elections taking place.

President Wilson considers that the nations which recognised the Huertan regime should now withdraw their support.

OIL FUEL.

INFLUENCE OF DIESEL ENGINE.

LONDON, Oct. 10.

Twelve vessels, fitted with Diesel engines, have been built so far throughout the world, and 25 others are being built.

The price of oil has doubled since the introduction of the Diesel engine. Meanwhile, vessels with these engines are being confined to routes where oil is cheap.

DEFENCE.

WHAT AUSTRALIA SPENDS.

MORE PEOPLE WANTED.

FEDERAL POLICY ANNOUNCED.

In the course of a speech on Saturday evening the Prime Minister called attention to several matters of moment, relating to the defence of Australia, the need for developing the Northern Territory, and immigration. In connection with immigration, a new policy was forecasted.

Mr. Cook, alluding to naval affairs, said:—"We are waiting to see whether it will be decided to call the whole Empire together, representatively, to see what can be done regarding the future defence of the Empire as a whole. We don't want to be building fleets here without reference to the place those fleets are to hold in the whole Empire scheme—(hear, hear)—and that is why we have asked for a conference just now. It may be that for various reasons that conference may be refused, but, whatever happens, I hope that before very long concerted measures will be taken by representatives of every part of the Dominions, so as to ensure that what future developments of a naval character may be required, will be undertaken as part and parcel of an Imperial whole.

MORE TO DO.

"And I should like to say that we have a great deal more to do with respect to defence. Our defence proposals are getting very expensive. This year we shall expend about 22/6 per head of the population on defence alone. You have to add to that another £750,000 for the Northern Territory, and add to that the amount the taxpayers are contributing for the maintenance of the sugar industry in Northern Queensland, because it is largely a defence expenditure, for there is our vulnerable point, and there we must get people by hook or by crook, for all your implements of war down here will be of no avail unless we can make good up there in the tropical north of Australia. When you add all these amounts together, you will find that our defence bill to-day is a very big one indeed. And it is not going to grow smaller as the years go by.

"That brings me to the point that we have got to get more taxpayers in Australia, more burden-bearers, to help us share this heavy national obligation, and preserve this heritage of ours intact.

"We have put down on the year's estimates £50,000 for immigration. We believe you cannot get too many people of the right sort in Australia. I will not be satisfied until I see the Commonwealth taking full and sole charge of this matter of immigration. It is our work, and ought not to be left to the States, and I hope before very long we shall assume our rightful obligations and responsibilities in the peopling, as well as the defence, of this great country. (Cheers.)

NORTHERN TERRITORY.

"I spoke of the Northern Territory just now. As the result of three years of Commonwealth control there I find that we have put seven new settlers into the territory—(laughter)—and I believe that seven more are to go up soon. (Renewed laughter.) And this year we have some £700,000 on the Estimates for the territory.

"Something has got to be done with that great lone land up there, and there is only one thing to do, and that is pierce it with railways, and then let your big men go up there; men who know what pioneering means, who will carve their way through that country as they have done through the rest of the back country of Australia. That is the first thing that has to be done up there. They won't go there until you get railways for them to get their produce to market after they have got it. Only then will you get settlement there. At the present time it is only being played with, and a more vigorous and sound policy will have to be adopted, unless millions of money are to be poured into it to no good purpose." (Cheers.)

A DEVIATION.

THE SURVEY CHALLENGED.

SOUTHERN LINE.

Residents on the southern railway line, between Picton and Mittagong, are greatly exercised in their minds over the proposal before the Public Works Committee for the deviation of the line, which, if carried into effect, will cut out Thirlmere, Picton Lakes, Buxton, Balmoral, Hill Top, Colo Vale, and Braemar. The suggestion is to run the line through what is called the Bargo Brush, the idea being the elimination of the steep grades on the existing route, where, in places, a rise of one in 30 takes place. A survey of the proposed route has been made by a Government officer, and he has obtained a ruling grade of one in 75 by cutting out the stations abovementioned.

The residents of the affected towns secured, at their own expense, the services of Mr. Raw, an independent surveyor, and he has reported that he also can obtain a ruling grade of one in 75 by not making such a wide deviation, utilising the existing line for most of the distance, and that the work can be carried out for £150,000 less than the departmental estimate. It is also contended that for three-quarters of its length the official surveyor's line would travel through the catchment area of the Sydney water supply, which would preclude the land surrounding the Bargo line being utilised for closer settlement purposes. There would also be a tunnel three-quarters of a mile long on the route; while the curves he has made provision for are but 10 and 12 chains in radius, as against a 16-chain radius allowed for by Mr. Raw. And certain classes of engines are not allowed to travel on the smaller curves.

Residents at the stations proposed to be interfered with complain that if the suggested line is built it would be impossible, owing to the nature of the intervening country, to construct roads to connect the existing towns with stations erected on the new line, and, although a reduced service is suggested for the old route if the new one be adopted, it is considered that many of the existing residents, some of whom travel to town daily, would be forced to leave the district, thereby entailing the closing up of the schools and post-offices. And if such did happen, the stations themselves would be reduced to unattended platforms, when goods would be received and dispatched at the owner's risk, and as fruit-growing is somewhat extensively carried on there, great loss and inconvenience would be caused.

The residents ask that a third surveyor be sent over the route suggested by Mr. Raw, as they are confident that, if adopted, all would be satisfied, and a saving to the State would be effected.

FIREMEN STRIKE.

WON'T WORK UNDER THE BOARD.

CASINO, Saturday.

A special meeting of the Casino Municipal Council was held last night to consider the position created by the fire brigade resigning, and to try and arrange a settlement. Captain Rayner was present by invitation. On being asked if he or his men would answer any calls of fire he said he and the brigade absolutely refused to do so.

A motion was carried that further representations be made to the Fire Commissioners. Third Officer Watson, who is in town, made arrangements with the police to assist two permanent men now on the station if a fire occurs.

Captain Rayner made an offer that he and his men would work the station free of cost under the municipal council, providing they could get the use of the appliances. They absolutely refused to work under the Fire Commissioners.

ULYSSES GRANT.

VISIT TO SYDNEY

AMERICAN PRESIDENT'S SON.

Among the visitors to Sydney at present is Mr. Ulysses S. Grant, son of the famous Ulysses S. Grant, who was 18th President of the United States.

Mr. Grant is accompanied by his wife. They have passed through New Zealand, Tasmania, and Victoria, and are going to Java in the Tasman, and thence to India, Ceylon, Egypt, and back to America.

Mr. Ulysses S. Grant, jun., was born in 1853, and though only 16 years of age when his father was first elected President in 1868, acted for some time as his secretary in Washington. He was educated at Harvard and Columbia, and was admitted to the Bar in 1876, but never practised. He lives at San Diego, in California, and has been a delegate to several national conventions of the Republican party.

"Don't let us talk politics," said the visitor to a pressman who saw him at the Australia Hotel last evening. "I'm here on pleasure bent. We enjoyed our run through New Zealand. It is a very interesting little country indeed. Tasmania is also a fine place for tourists. What we have seen of Australia we like, but we realise that we have had only a glimpse of the fringe of this vast continent, and that we are not qualified to say much about it. It seems to me that your mode of life is simple and honest, and that makes for a good people. I like the folk here. They are unpretentious. They are not so keen as the people of some countries on the acquisition of wealth.

"There is one observation that I don't mind making. Remember that the timber is a very great asset. We could not help being struck in New Zealand with the great destruction of forests that has gone on there. It seems to be the same here. We know that trees have to come down when the land is wanted for crops or grass, but don't destroy the trees unnecessarily. That is all I care to say. We are having a very pleasant holiday indeed."

DUKE FOOTE.

A GREAT RACEHORSE.

BIG TURF WINNINGS.

The hero of the A.J.C. Spring campaign at Randwick is Mr. J. Baron's six-year-old bay horse, Duke Foote, by Sir Foote (imp.) from Ortelle, by Orvieto from Cheery, by St. Simon, who was bred by his owner at his stud in the Newcastle district.

Duke Foote was out twice under colours as a two-year-old—in the Federal Stakes at Caulfield, and a Nursery Handicap at Randwick—in both of which he ran unplaced. He opened his winning account at the Rosehill August meeting the following season by capturing the Maiden Plate, and followed up his initial success by running unplaced in the Rosehill Spring Stakes, the A.J.C. Derby, and the Grantham Stakes.

He opened his four-year-old season by running third to Colma in the Sydney Handicap, and occupied a similar position in the V.R.C. Coburg Stakes, won by Ladies' Man, but going down to Williamstown a few days later he secured the Williamstown Cup, which carried a cup value £50, besides £1000 in specie. During that season he ran unplaced in the A.J.C. Trial Stakes, the Metropolitan, and the V.R.C. Melbourne Cup.

His sensational career may be said to have started the following season, during the spring of which he won six races in succession—the Warwick Farm Handicap, Chelmsford Stakes, at Tattersall's Club Spring meeting, at Randwick; dead-heated with Aurofodina in the A.J.C. Spring Stakes; won the Metropolitan and Craven Stakes, and, crossing to Victoria, secured the V.R.C. Spring Stakes; but going off before the Melbourne Cup, was badly beaten in the two miles race at Flemington.

In the meantime he had not been out under colours until he made his appearance in the Chelmsford Stakes at Tattersall's Club's meeting, last month, and resumed his winning career, and followed up his success by coming out at the A.J.C. meeting just ended, and capturing the Spring Stakes, Craven Plate, and Randwick Plate, in a style that entitles him to rank among the best Australian racehorses.

Subjoined are his winnings up to date:—

Three Years.
Won Rosehill Maiden Plate	£85
Four Years.
Third A.J.C. Sydney Handicap	£50
Third V.R.C. Coburg Stakes	£30
Won Williamstown Cup	£1,000
and Cup, value	£50
Five Years.
Won Warwick Farm Handicap	£70
Won Tattersall's Chelmsford Stakes	£780
Dead-heated with Aurofodina, A.J.C. Spring Stakes	£500
Won the A.J.C. Metropolitan	£4,060
Won A.J.C. Craven Plate	£1,516
Won V.R.C. Melbourne Stakes	£864
Six Years.
Won Tattersall's Chelmsford Stakes	£558
Won A.J.C. Spring Stakes	£1,130
Won A.J.C. Craven Plate	£1,500
Won Randwick Plate	£1,480
Total—11 wins, one dead-heat, two thirds	£14,069

Duke Foote has still valuable stakes ahead during the current spring, for his engagements include the V.R.C. Melbourne Stakes, Melbourne Cup, Linlithgow Stakes, and C. B. Fisher Plate, for which the added money aggregates £12,000.

The renowned Carbine holds the Australasian record for the amount won in stakes—£29,476. Trafalgar comes next with £22,111; then follow Poseidon, £19,496; Wakeful, £16,690; Prince Foote, £16,520; Newhaven, £13,254; Comedy King, £12,945; Abercorn, £12,731; Malt King, £12,613; Piastre, £12,468; Malvolio, £11,214; Glenloth, £10,714; Lady Medallist, £10,376; Wolawa, £10,238; and Lord Cardigan, £10,124. These are the only horses in Australasia whose winnings have run into five figures.

SUPERANNUATION.

DISAPPOINTMENT IN PUBLIC SERVICE.

Considerable disappointment is expressed in the ranks of the Public Service at the rejection of the Superannuation Bill. The opinion is expressed that the fate of the bill was due largely to being introduced with others, in circumstances that favoured the impression that the scheme had been inadequately considered.

To many who have reached the age of compulsory retirement, and to others who are just approaching that age," said Mr. Beavis, president of the Public Service Association, on Saturday, "the passing of the bill would have been a great boon. Many must now face retirement without provision of any kind, or with inadequate provision; there will be only the Federal old-age pension to fall back upon."

The committee of experts that framed the scheme claimed in its report that around the measure, as a nucleus, a complete scheme of national insurance might be built; this was to be the first instalment. It was chiefly for this reason that bodies such as municipal and shire councils were included. There is reason to believe that the compulsory inclusion of the City Council employees was a main factor in wrecking the bill.

One point has been made clear, and that is that neither in the Legislative Assembly nor in the Legislative Council is there any large section of members opposed to the principle of superannuation. This is the ray of hope which bids the service to take courage.

B.L.F.'S THREAT.

BROKEN HILL, Sunday.

A mass meeting of the B.L.F. this afternoon decided to call a mass meeting of all unionists next Sunday to consider a proposal that if the prosecutions of shop assistants for striking are proceeded with all unionists in the mines and elsewhere be called out, and all shops taking part in the prosecutions be boycotted.

ARMED ROBBERS.

ON THE BARRIER.

TWO MEN BAILED UP.

BROKEN HILL, Sunday.

Mr. Robert Allan, manager of a picture show, reported to the police late on Friday night that as he and a companion were going home after the entertainment they were bailed up by two masked and armed men.

One of the men ordered "Hands up! Bail up!" holding a revolver to their heads. After a moment's parley, during which Allan said he hadn't the night's takings with him, one of the robbers snatched a tin can Allan was carrying, and, shouting "Come on, Charlie, I've got it," rushed off at top speed, followed by his companion.

The can contained nothing but a little milk, and was picked up later further down the lane in which the "hold-up" took place.

Mr. Allan often took the night's receipts home with him, but on this occasion by good luck had given the money to his partner to put in the safe. No arrests have yet been made.

The conduct of the men tends to the belief that they are the same men who recently stole a safe and robbed the express train.

HOUSE AFIRE.

SEVERAL THRILLING ESCAPES

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

Several persons had narrow escapes during a fire in a big boarding-house in Wellington early on Saturday.

The house contained 50 rooms, and there were a good many boarders.

Mr. Bushby, the proprietor, who was sleeping on the ground-floor, was awakened by the noise. When he opened the door in the passage, he and his wife and three children were nearly choked by volumes of suffocating smoke. With Mrs. Bushby and the children he managed to get out safely.

A boarder named Hanson, who found the exit cut off from the upper floor to the fire escape, was rescued by firemen with a ladder. Others got out just in time.

Most of the boarders escaped with only their night attire, and a bitterly bleak southerly made their predicament exceedingly trying. One lodger found his way of escape by a staircase cut off, and endeavoured to reach security by medium of a back window; but finding he could not get out there owing to the flames, he scrambled over the roof to the front of the building and descended by the iron escape. The rungs of the ladder were hot, and burnt his hands badly.

SMALLPOX.

FIVE CASES FOR WEEK END.

For the week-end, the total number of smallpox cases was five. There were two on Saturday, one being from Stanmore and the other from Granville. Sunday's quota was three, two coming from Paddington and one from Granville.

Forty-five persons are in the quarantine station, 156 are convalescent, and one has been discharged.

At the Town Hall on Saturday only 81 persons were vaccinated.

A case of smallpox, reported during last week as having occurred at Auburn, was that of a little girl seven years of age, living in Cumberland-road. The child had not been vaccinated.

Another decided case of smallpox was reported as having been discovered at Granville on Friday last. The sufferer is a railway employee, living in The Avenue, and he was removed to quarantine on Saturday. The patient had not been vaccinated.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

It is reported that Hawkes' Bay natives are protesting against the smallpox restrictions, and intend to refuse to do shearing until the restrictions are relaxed. This means that operations will be held up throughout the district.

THE FALKLANDS.

WHALERS' ELDORADO.

GOVERNOR AT NEWCASTLE.

Mr. W. L. Allardyce, C.M.G., Governor of the Falkland Islands, arrived in Newcastle on Saturday by the steamer Knight of the Garter from Valparaiso.

He said that he had been Governor of the Falkland Islands since 1904. For 25 years prior to that time he had been in the Pacific Islands, and had filled the positions of Colonial Secretary and Acting Governor of Fiji.

During recent years a very remunerative whaling industry had been started in the Dependencies of the Falklands—South Shetlands, South Orkneys, Grahamsland, and South Georgia, said Mr. Allardyce. When he went there in 1904 there was no whaling industry. Last year the whale products were worth over a million pounds sterling. It had been an Eldorado for whalers. There was nothing like it in the world. The modern methods of whaling were very different from what they used to be. The old-fashioned Dundee whaling ships had outlived their usefulness. The whaling vessels of the present day were fitted with a gun in the bow. The gun was the invention of a Norwegian, who devised the idea of harpooning the whale in that way, and then exploding a bomb when the harpoon struck. The small whale-catchers, having secured the whale, had to haul it alongside and pump air into the carcase to prevent it from sinking. Then they would tow it to the factory ship, which was anchored in one of the harbours. The whaling season in those southern latitudes did not extend over three or three and a half months in the year. It generally commenced in December and continued till March, when they were compelled to return because the ice-packs came in. The species of whales were mostly blue whales, finback, and humpback. A few "right" whales were caught, but very few.

The pastoral industry was flourishing, and the farmers were doing better now than ever before. That was saying a good deal for the islands. There were no resident owners, which simply showed how successful they were.

Fourteen months ago he erected a wireless station at Port Stanley, in order to communicate with Monte Video, which was 1100 miles distant. Within a month of its establishment the R.M.S. Oravia, of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company's fleet, ran ashore at the entrance to Port William, and, thanks to getting into touch through wireless, they were able to remove the passengers and crew—400 in all—without loss of life. The wireless station at Port Stanley maintained frequent communication with both Monte Video and Rio Grande do Sul in Brazil. The latter station was 1300 miles away.

The Governor and Mrs. Allardyce left Newcastle by the mid-day train on Saturday for Sydney, and will proceed to Melbourne after a few days.

FIGHT FOR FREEHOLD.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

The House of Representatives, in committee on the Land Bill, sat continuously from Friday afternoon to midnight on Saturday. The Opposition stonewalled the clause proposing to give holders of Crown leases in mining districts the right to acquire freehold. It was admitted that a Minister held about 1000 acres of such land.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Massey) pointed out that the clause expressly debarred the owner of such land acquiring the right to minerals, but the proposal was strenuously opposed by the leasehold section. The debate will be resumed on Monday afternoon.

NAVAL CRITIC.

MR. BURGOYNE, M.P., IN SYDNEY.

OUR ISOLATED FLEET.

Another member of the British House of Commons reached Sydney on Saturday—Mr. Alan H. Burgoyne, Unionist representative for Kensington North, a two-member constituency, his colleague being Lord Claud Hamilton, uncle of the present Duke of Abercorn.

Mr. Burgoyne arrived by the E. and A. mail boat St. Albans. He travelled across Siberia, and spent nearly a month in Japan. He is the son of Mr. P. H. Burgoyne, head of the great wine family of that name, and married a Sydney girl, a daughter of Mr. Ebenezer MacDonald, of Darling Point.

As a naval authority, Mr. Burgoyne is in the foremost rank. He is a man with a good deal of leisure, most of which has been devoted to the study of naval questions. He is the founder and editor of the "Navy League Annual," is the author of "Submarine Navigation, Past and Present" and "What of the Navy?" and of two naval novels, "Trafalgar Refought" and "The War Inevitable." Naturally, therefore, the establishment of an Australian fleet is a matter of more interest to him than to most visitors. But he is diffident as to giving expression to his views on this particular subject, at all events till he has been longer in the land.

A COLOSSAL FUTURE.

"First of all I would like to say a word about the Northern Territory," said Mr. Burgoyne yesterday. "The problem of the Territory is very closely related to that of defence. I travelled from Darwin to Townsville with the Administrator of the Territory (Dr. Gilruth). Dr. Gilruth is going to motor back to Darwin from Townsville across country. He is a fine type of man for the post he occupies, but I gathered that he was rather hampered. This territory is an immense land, with immense possibilities, but entirely neglected. It might well become one of the most essential of the Empire's naval centres. You have got to build that railway to link up with the southern systems. I consider the country has a colossal future. The people in southern Australia do not realise the possibilities of the Territory. As things are at present it may not be the most desirable place for white settlement. It is not a white man's country yet, but that same remark applied to the region of the Panama Canal, before the swamps were drained, before the advantages of civilisation were obtained, such as more life, more comforts, more rapid communication with other centres of white civilisation. The loneliness of the Territory seems in many cases to do one of two things—it has a tendency to either drive a man to drink or drive him out of the country to some other place where he can get a bit of society.

NAVAL BASE IN THE NORTH.

"The Gilruth regime seems to have been very fruitful of good results so far. He is a strong man, and should—up to a point, of course—be given full power to carry out the progressive policy that he has mapped out. You have got to recollect that whatever progress is made in the Territory will increase the attractiveness of it in the eye of those who may look upon your possession of that area with envy. This makes it all the more essential that two things should be developed—first, a naval base somewhere on the northern coast, and, secondly, as speedily as possible, a fleet to use it. In regard to the first the advantages of a naval base in the north will not be purely strategical, but will provide a point d'appui, so that the vessels of the local fleet may go farther afield and thus secure training for officers and men in less familiar waters than those immediately around the southern coast. That training would be as valuable as it is essential.

WHAT THE FLEET WILL COST.

"As regards the fleet, an admirable start has already been made, and one can only hope that the critics and press will never cease to impress upon the people of Australia the value of the ships they now call their own. At the same time they must emphasise the futility of being content with only a few samples when for battle purposes a complete homogeneous unit of each type will be required. Speaking as a naval critic, I might criticise the strategical and tactical errors of a separate fleet unit, but all such criticism is more than overshadowed by the Imperial ideal and national progress that the building of these first ships indicates. I am frankly and sincerely full of admiration for the spirit in which the people have, with scarcely a murmur, accepted the burden imposed than of a tax of some 7s per head, the more so since they must know that it cannot stop at this figure. In due course, as the costs of the naval establishment rise, the taxation will get nearer the £1 is per head that the population of the United Kingdom is at present called upon to find."

GOODS TRAINS.

COLLISION AT A STATION.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

A serious railway accident, in which two goods trains were concerned, occurred at Lowood on Saturday morning.

An Ipswich train had arrived at the station platform, and was standing there, when it is reported that a train from Yarraman Creek crashed into it head on, the impact causing the derailment of ten goods waggons, and the removal of the two front wheels of the engine of the standing train six inches above the lines.

The fireman of one of the engines was rendered unconscious for over two hours, and a driver suffered slight concussion.

The two engines and six waggons were damaged. The line was cleared about eight hours after the accident.

TRAIN ON FIRE.

MAILS DESTROYED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

A van attached to a train from Stawell to Ballarat caught fire on Friday night, about two miles from Dobie station.

The driver and fireman saw the flames, and stopped the train. Meanwhile, the guard had thrown the Melbourne mails out of the window, in order to save them from the flames. The van was detached, but so quickly had the fire spread, that nothing could be done to save the travellers' samples and other merchandise in the van. Ballarat and Geelong mails were also destroyed. All that was left of the van was the ironwork.

RAILWAY SMASH.

PENRITH, Sunday.

During shunting operations at the eastern end of the St. Mary's railway station a couple of long trucks broke away and dashed along the main line towards the station. The signalman, seeing the danger, turned them into the siding. The trucks struck the dead-end with terrific force, and knocked away a large portion of the brickwork. One of the trucks was smashed almost to matchwood.

SHIRES WITHOUT FUNDS.

BULLI, Sunday.

Owing to the delay in payment of road subsidy to the shires, the Bulli Shire Council at the last meeting decided to dispense with the services of six permanent maintenance men. These men have been given fourteen days' notice. If the subsidy is available before the notice expires they will be reinstated.

AERONAUTICS.

AEROPLANE ON FIRE.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.

An Austrian monoplane, while travelling with a passenger, caught fire when at a height of 2000ft, and descended almost perpendicularly, at Neuendorf, Neu-Brandenburg.

The occupants jumped from the machine just before it reached the ground, and escaped serious injury.

MR. HAWKER'S ACCIDENT.

LONDON, Oct. 10.

Mr. H. G. Hawker, the Australian airman, who was recently injured while attempting a long non-stop flight, is progressing favourably.

The airman explains that the accident was due to carelessness in turning in a strong wind with a heavy load of petrol while he was too close to the ground.

The muscles of his back were strained through bracing himself for the fall.

UNITED STATES TARIFF.

REBATE CLAUSE SUSPENDED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.

Advices have been received here to the effect that until further notice the clause in the new Tariff Act in regard to the rebate on goods imported in United States bottoms is to be ignored.

EMPIRE UNITY.

HOME GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE.

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.

Mr. H. L. Samuel, British Postmaster-General, during a series of conferences with the Canadian Postmaster-General, Dr. L. P. Pelletier, arranged for further reductions in the trans-Atlantic cable rates.

He stated yesterday that the Imperial Government hoped to introduce next session a bill making uniform naturalisation laws throughout the Empire.

Mr. Samuel added that the home Government was desirous of taking every opportunity of co-operating with the self-governing dominions in all projects conducing to greater Empire unity.

A DYNAMITING GANG.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.

The confession of a member of the Black Hand Society, who has been arrested on a charge of perpetrating a dynamite outrage, has revealed the existence of a dynamiting gang, to which is attributed a score of outrages that have occurred in New York and its environs during the past few years. Many arrests are expected in connection with the affair.

TREASURE HUNT FRAUD.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.

A colossal treasure hunt fraud has been unveiled by the police.

A university student named Sands arranged to lead an expedition to search for treasure in the South Seas. He induced 10 other students in different States to invest large sums of money in the undertaking.

The promoter arranged to meet them with a ship at Catalina Island. The students arrived there and waited 10 days, when they were informed by the police that Sands had disappeared.

OBITUARY.

PRINCE KATSURA.

TOKIO, Oct. 10.

The death is announced of Prince Katsura, the distinguished Japanese solider and statesman.

Taro, Prince Katsura, was without doubt one of the most notable of Japanese statesmen and soldiers, and he will always be remembered for the part he played in the modernisation of the Japanese army and institutions generally, and in the entente, and afterwards the alliance between Japan and Great Britain. Born in 1847, at Choshu, he commenced his career by fighting under the Imperial banner in the Civil War of the Restoration, and he displayed such talent that he was twice sent at public expense to Germany (in 1870 and 1884) to study strategy and tactics. In 1886 he was appointed Vice-Minister for War, and in 1891 received the command of a division. He led the left wing of the Japanese Army in the campaign of 1894-5 against China, and made a memorable march in the depth of winter from the north-east shore of the Yellow Sea to Haicheng, finally occupying Niuchwang, and effecting a junction with the second army corps which moved the Liaotung Peninsula. For these services he received the title of viscount. He held the portfolio of war from 1898 to 1901, when he became Premier, and retained office for four and a half years, a record in Japan. In 1902 his Cabinet concluded the first entente with England, for which he received the rank of count. Katsura directed the affairs of State throughout the war with Russia.

BILLIARDS.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The Auckland Electric Tramways Company has decided to increase its capital to £600,000.

The council of the Hockey Association has explained the situation in regard to the proposed tour to the New Zealand representative, and further discussion has been deferred until the latter's return to New Zealand.

The King and Queen have returned to Buckingham Palace, where the work of rebuilding the front portion is rapidly nearing completion.

Sir George Reid has been elected president of the Australian Chamber of Commerce in London.

The cruiser battleship New Zealand has arrived at Rio de Janeiro.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.

The New Zealand footballers defeated the Barbarians by 30 points to nil yesterday. The visitors hardly exerted themselves throughout the game.

[The Australian team last year opened their tour on a dusty, turfless ground, and defeated the Barbarians at San Francisco by 29 points to 8 (9 tries to 2). The Barbarians, though a fine body of athletes, showed weak combination, and were lax in the correct interpretation of the rules; but they played hard and fearless football.]

MADRID, Oct. 10.

M. Poincare, the French President, who is now on a visit to Madrid, and is a well-known lover of animals, firmly but courteously refused to attend a bullfight, which had been officially organised in his honour. King Alphonso, who had intended to accompany M. Poincare, was likewise absent.

SEOUL, Oct. 10.

The case of Baron Inchiko, ex-president of the Privy Council in Korea, and five others, who were sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for conspiring against the life of Count Teraichi, Governor-General of Korea, and whose sentences were afterwards reduced to six years, has been finally settled by confirmation of the sentences.

DURAZZO, Oct. 11.

At a meeting of representatives from Durazzo, Tirano and other towns yesterday, Essad Pasha was elected Governor of "Independent Albania." It is expected that the Servians will advance on Durazzo.

ROME, Oct. 11.

The sardine industry at Anzio is threatened with extinction, owing to the invasion of thousands of dolphins, which are destroying the nets of the fishermen. A delegation of fisherfolk has arrived at Rome to petition the Minister for Marine to send a torpedo flotilla to destroy the dolphins.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Lady Edeline Strickland and the Misses Cecilia and Mabel Strickland, and attended by Colonel Campbell, A.D.C., opened the bazaar at Concordia Hall, Bondi Junction, on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Strickland, accompanied by Miss Birch and Bishop Trower, was present at the opening of the week's fair at the Town Hall, Granville, in aid of church extension work of St. Mark's Church, Granville, on Saturday afternoon.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Joseph Cook) and the Minister for Defence (Senator Millen) left for Melbourne last evening.

At the Victoria Barracks on Friday the members of the Oversea Club presented an address of welcome to Rear-Admiral Patey, who warmly acknowledged the gift.

Messrs. Walter Marks (owner of the champion yacht Culwulla III.), J. Ure Smith, and W. Dalgarno, all well-known members of the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club, are leaving for Auckland by the Tyser liner Nerehana on Thursday to engage in some cruising in New Zealand waters.

The late Dr. R. C. Hinder was one of the stanchest supporters of the Western Suburbs Cottage Hospital. The committee of that institution has decided to erect a tablet in his memory.

Mr. E. V. Brown, who is in business at Darwin, was a passenger by the St. Albans, which arrived on Saturday. This is Mr. Brown's first trip out of the Territory for 26 years. He speaks in high terms of its great resources and possibilities.

TANNERS' STRIKE.

EMPLOYERS' FIRM STAND.

PROSECUTIONS PROPOSED.

The strike of tanners at the Mascot establishment of E. M. Farleigh, Ltd., continues.

The Master Tanners' Association has taken over the dispute, and has arranged to meet again to-day to decide what further action shall be necessary, following upon a meeting of the men which was held at the Trades Hall on Saturday night. Already the association has passed a resolution to supply to the Crown, for the purposes of prosecutions, the names of those who broke the agreement by suddenly ceasing work on Thursday last.

Unfortunately, the meeting on Saturday night did not provide a way out of the difficulty. Mr. E. J. Kavanagh, M.L.C., the secretary of the Labour Council of New South Wales, attended it, and submitted a suggestion to that end, which it is believed had the backing of the Industrial Department, through Inspector Kirby, who has been engaged in the matter of conciliation between the parties. The men, however, declined to accept it, and, according to what can be learned, the union thereupon proceeded to give consideration to the attitude to be adopted generally in regard to the non-union labour question in the tanning industry of Sydney.

Mr. Farleigh stated on Saturday that the two men in his employ who have not joined the union are classed as foremen, and therefore do not come under the preference clause. The union, on the other hand, takes the stand that these two men are not foremen in reality, but only in name.

OLD GRAMMARIANS.

REUNIONS IN TWO HEMISPHERES.

"Old Sydneians dining in London Saturday send greetings."

This was the cablegram received on Saturday from the London branch of the Sydney Grammar School's Old Boys' Union, and read at their annual reunion on Saturday night. The gathering was presided over by Mr. R. J. Black, M.L.C., president of the union, and the toast of the evening was proposed by Mr. A. B. Piddington, Chief Interstate Commissioner.

In submitting the toast of "The School," he said that the function had an importance of its own because it was the first annual dinner held since Mr. Sloman had taken charge of the school. About a year ago, while in England, he (Mr. Piddington) had the honour of proposing Mr. Sloman's health at the first annual dinner of the London branch of the Union. (Applause.) The foundation of that branch and the occasion which he mentioned marked a landmark in the history of the union. (Hear, hear.) At its first annual dinner there was present Mr. Bode, one of the best Sydneians, and one whom they might almost call the founder of the union. Then there were Dr. Wilkinson, Mr. Garnsey, Dr. Merrick, and Mr. Weigall. Last and not least was the secretary, Mr. Gordon Inglis. All of them rejoiced to know that Mr. Sloman had already justified the choice and confidence of the trustees. The school was growing in numbers, and was maintaining its high quality, and they knew that under the trustees' and Mr. Sloman's guidance it would continue to develop along lines which had made it one of the greatest in its contributions not only to public and official life and the high offices of the country, but also to the work-a-day world and the citizenship which was around them. (Applause.) It was his good fortune to visit the school on Empire Day, and what he saw there convinced him that the old school would maintain its position in turning out useful men for the country in which they lived. (Applause.)

Mr. H. N. P. Sloman responded. He gave a brief sketch of the progress which the school was making. During the year the number of pupils totalled over 620. He thought that was as many as, if not more than, they ought to take. He felt strongly that with their present accommodation in fairness to the boys and masters the attendance ought not to get much over 600. Proceeding, Mr. Sloman said: "I want to emphasise this point. There is a great tendency not only in Australia, but even more so in England, to regard Great Public schools as places where boys are taught things, and not places where they are educated. (Hear, hear.) I feel personally a very strong conviction that the best that one is going to get out of any school is what one can never transmute into marks at an examination, nor into L.S.D. in after-life. (Applause.) It is becoming increasingly difficult to persuade parents to allow their children to learn anything at all that cannot be definitely turned into marks, and I think that is a pity."

Mr. Hutchinson, on behalf of the Old Melburnians, conveyed fraternal greetings.

The toast of "The President" was proposed by the Rev. R. A. Thompson.

QUARANTINE.

PRESS ON WITH RELIEF MEASURES.

MR. COOK'S ADVICE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The following letter was despatched on October 9 by the Prime Minister, Mr. Cook, to the Premier of New South Wales, Mr. Holman:—

"With reference to your letter of September 30 relative to the withdrawal of the quarantine resting upon Sydney, I have the honour to state that my letter was written under no misapprehension. It was based on your own statement, as follows:—

'The Vaccination Bill, which is to be presented next week for consideration by the Parliament of this State, embodies a provision whereby the authorities may cope with any outbreak by quarantining specific areas as necessity arises or circumstances demand. With such powers in the hands of the State health authorities, I think it will be obvious that the existence of the present Federal proclamation would be rendered quite superfluous.'

'The clear implication of that paragraph is that your proposed legislation would be so effective that it would be sufficient to prevent the spread of the disease to other States. I repeat that when you have passed the legislation, and it is in operation, we shall then be in a position to consider the repeal of the Federal regulations. I do not agree with your statement that the raising of the quarantine restrictions is, however, one to be considered on its merits and quite apart from all questions of legislative policy within the State. Federal and State legislation and administration must be considered together. They are mutually dependent, and the one should be co-ordinated with the other and both directed to a common end, namely, the preservation of the public health of Australia. Our regulation exists until your legislative provisions have been shown to be effective in preventing the spread of the disease.

'This being so, would it not be better for you to press forward measures for the relief of the situation rather than adopt the theatrical method of endeavouring to pass the responsibility over to the Senate and senators. Surely this latter action was entirely superfluous, as by your eagerness to give publicity to your side of the question, you had already given the correspondence to the press before its receipt by this Government. There is no room, and certainly no justification, for political display in these matters.

'Every effort should be made to cope with the trouble, and if adequate powers had been contained and exercised earlier possibly the quarantine might have been raised long ago, and the city declared clean. The fullest consideration was given to the resolutions of your board, whose opinion is at all times valued by those responsible for the administration of the Department of Quarantine, and it is recognised that only by the heartiest co-operation of Federal and State authorities can the public health of Australia be adequately safeguarded. It would appear, however, that your board was perhaps not aware of the slight extent to which the vaccination laws of the other States had been enforced, otherwise I am confident that they would not have advised that the danger of the disease becoming epidemic in the other States was negligible, and this reason would not probably have been advanced as a ground for revoking the Federal regulations.

'In conclusion, I hope I need not repeat that it will give us the greatest pleasure to see the regulation repealed at the earliest date on which it can be safely done. Meantime, let me again assure you and your health authorities that we shall be only too pleased to give the fullest weight to their opinion, and should be glad to consider any more effective method that can be suggested for dealing with this very serious trouble.'"

MR. HOLMAN'S REJOINDER.

In his reply, the Premier stated that the Vaccination Bill, which had failed to pass the Assembly, had nothing whatever to do with the quarantine regulations, for which there was now absolutely no necessity. From the first Mr. Cook had accepted the advice of some young, inexperienced medical man, in regard to the quarantine, which was entirely a matter for the Prime Minister. It never had any relation to the proposed bill, and he criticised the attempt to connect the two.

"I can only say," said the Premier, "that Mr. Cook would be much better occupied if he refrained from attempting to influence the course of legislation with which he has nothing to do. His interference greatly added to the difficulties which the Vaccination Bill had to meet. That bill was entirely disconnected with the Federal embargo. I never dreamed of interfering with the embargo. What I did was to forward for Mr. Cook's consideration the considered opinion of our Board of Health, and it is a remarkable thing that Mr. Cook should regard the unsupported view of his own medical officer before that of a reliable body like the Board of Health; but that is Mr. Cook's responsibility. Mr. Cook describes my reference of the matter to the senators representing New South Wales as 'theatrical,' but I would point out that I have nothing to do with Mr. Cook, beyond acting as a channel for the Board of Health. When Mr. Cook declined to take notice of the expert opinion of the Board of Health, the matter became one for the Federal Parliament. The New South Wales representatives in the Federal Parliament are the senators who represent the State as a whole, and under the Constitution they are the natural guardians of any Federal interest locally affecting New South Wales, and the proper people to secure the redress of any Federal grievances against the State. If Mr. Cook thinks it theatrical to put the matter in their hands, he had better give further consideration to the Constitution which he is supposed to administer."

ROSE DAY.

CARNIVAL FOR CHARITY.

From early morning till late at night on Saturday next thousands of ladies will appeal for contributions in the streets of the city and suburbs on behalf of 56 charities of Sydney. These embrace institutions for the blind, the deaf, the sick, the destitute, the fatherless, the crippled, and the incurable, regardless of race or creed. The day is to be dedicated to charity. All that is needed is money, and unto everyone who gives will be given a rose, "the mother of flowers"—hence the name Rose Day. It is important that all growers of roses should co-operate. Depots for the reception of roses have been arranged in all parts of the city and suburbs. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Edeline Strickland, who have expressed whole-hearted sympathy with the movement of the executive committee, of which her Ladyship is president, will inspect [illegible] different city stands at 12.30 p.m. A prize of a box at the Quinlan Grand Opera will be given for the best decorated stand. Other prizes will be given, details of which will be found on reference to our advertising columns.

On Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2.30 o'clock, there will be a grand open-air entertainment on the Royal Agricultural Society's Grounds. Included in the events will be a military tournament, a ladies' tip-and-run cricket match, the contestants being Miss Florence Young's team versus a team from the Quinlan Opera Company, musical chairs played with motor cars, Rugby football match of actors versus the New South Wales Rugby Football League's best, demonstrations by the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, and a display by the men of the Australian fleet.

CANBERRA.

MR. GRIFFIN TO STAY IN AUSTRALIA.

WORK PUSHED ON.

Important references were made on Saturday evening at a banquet tendered Mr. G. W. Fuller, in Sydney, to the building of the Federal Capital at Canberra, by both the Prime Minister and Mr. Fuller, who was Minister for Home Affairs when Canberra was finally selected as the site.

Mr. Fuller said: "I find in an article appearing in the 'Sydney Morning Herald' on Friday regarding what it properly characterises as a national matter, that the late Fisher administration is entitled to the sole credit in connection with the building of the capital at Canberra. As a member of the Deakin-Cook administration, I cannot allow an article of that sort to go by without comment. It is perfectly true, as the 'Herald' says, that unnecessary delays took place in the fixing of the site; but I want you to remember that it was the Deakin-Cook administration that brought down the bill fixing the capital site as Yass-Canberra, and the Federal port at Jervis Bay. (Applause.) And it was the present Speaker, Mr. W. E. Johnson, who made the suggestion of Yass-Canberra. (Applause.) Senator Millen put the bill through in the Senate, and I, as Minister for Home Affairs, had the honour of putting the bill through the House of Representatives, fixing the capital site at Canberra, and I want here to acknowledge the services of Mr. Wade, who was then Premier of this State, and of Mr. Wood, Chief Secretary of New South Wales, for the great help they gave me, as Minister for Home Affairs, in connection with the various items and particulars which were necessary to be adjusted before we could get the Federal capital fixed.

DELAYS.

"The 'Herald' points out that after Canberra was chosen, Parliament delayed and delayed in connection with the matter. Now, the bill was not passed through the Federal Parliament until the end of November, 1909, and Parliament prorogued on December 8, 1909, so that, so far as that Parliament was concerned, nothing could possibly be done after the passing of the bill. But I, as Minister for Home Affairs, immediately made a start in connection with the matter. I appointed Mr. Scrivener to survey, not only the Territory, but the site of the capital; and I also started a number of other matters in connection with getting the capital going; and what has been done by the Fisher administration was merely to carry on along the same principles and lines laid down by their predecessors." (Applause.)

Mr. W. E. Johnson, M.P.: You, yourself, put in the first survey marks.

Mr. Fuller: "I don't want to make a personal reference; but, as Mr. Johnson has suggested, I myself took the first line of survey on the Federal capital site of Australia. (Applause.)

PRIME MINISTER'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

"The facts are as Mr. Fuller has stated them," said Mr. Cook. "He is responsible for the settlement of the Federal capital question. It was toyed with for many years until he took office as Minister for Home Affairs, and during the short space of 12 months he settled the Federal capital question once and for all in the place in which work is now being carried on. I hope and believe that before very long a movement will be made there to make that capital a worthy home for the Parliament of Australia. (Applause.) I want to tell you and the 'Herald' what has been done. When we returned to office we found things at sixes and sevens regarding this Federal capital question. A design had been prepared by Mr. Griffin—a very able man in his own line, and whose design for the capital has won the appreciation of architects throughout the length and breadth of the civilised world. We found that the design had been interfered with by departmental officers, and my first duty was to send for the man who made the plan and ask him to come and consider it on the spot, making such modifications as his personal investigations of the site would suggest, and, above all, taking care that his plan, and no other, should be finally adhered to. (Applause.) Mr. Griffin is now putting the finishing touches on his report, and, whatever it may be, it will be fully and determinedly subscribed to by the Government. (Applause.)

"I may as well tell you something more while I am on it. I am going to get Mr. Griffin to stay here and look after his plan himself. (Applause.) That seems to me the only guarantee we can have that his plan will be put into execution, and that a capital, stately and beautiful and capacious and worthy of the great Australia that is to be, shall rise eventually on the plains of Canberra. (Cheers.)

"May I remind you of something more; that up till now, £150,000 has been spent on the Federal capital, and we have placed on this year's Estimates £285,000."

A voice: That looks like business.

Mr. Cook: "It does not look like treating the matter carelessly. And we are going to spend that money during the year. There is not to be any delay interposed in the building of the capital and making it a worthy habitation and home for Australia's legislators in the future." (Cheers.)

TRADES AND LABOUR.

WATERSIDE CONFERENCE.

At Friday's sitting of the interstate delegates to the Waterside Workers' Conference, which is being held at the Trades Hall, consideration was given to a proposal to make uniform throughout the Commonwealth conditions of working, which now vary considerably, according to local circumstances. It was found that this scheme as a general one would be impracticable. The conference decided to allow the various branches to draw up conditions based on local requirements, and asked that these should be forwarded to the committee of management, to be placed among the questions which will be submitted later on to the Australasian Steamship Owners' Federation.

MEAT AND STORAGE EMPLOYEES.

An attempt is about to be made to bring about an amalgamation between the Australasian Meat Industry Employees' Union and the Cold Cold Storage Employees' Union. This, it is believed, will be a means of getting over a Federal difficulty that has arisen over the question of the registration of cold storage employees for purposes of an award. In Queensland the Meat Industry Union includes the cold storage men, but in Melbourne and Sydney they are separate organisations. A conference, suggested by the Federal Registrar, Mr. Stewart, will be opened at Sydney on Tuesday. If the amalgamation proposal should be given effect to it will be made a condition that the unions shall retain their local autonomy.

DEPUTATION TO MR. M'GOWEN.

A deputation from the Northern Collieries Employees' Federation waited upon the Minister for Labour (Mr. M'Gowen) on Friday, to lodge a complaint against the slow progress being made with the wages board business, of which Judge Edmunds is chairman. Mr. M'Gowen submitted several proposals to the deputation, which will lay them before the various lodges concerned.

TELEGRAPHS AND TELEPHONES.

MINIMUM WAGE QUESTION.

The Australian Telegraph and Telephone Construction and Maintenance Union waited upon the Deputy Postmaster-General, Mr. E. J. Young, and the Chief Electrical Engineer, on Friday, and placed before them complaints regarding the stoppage of extra pay for men acting in positions higher than their grading. By a circular in 1911 by the Postmaster-General these men were, after filling the higher positions for six months, to get the extra pay. This had been observed up to June last. Since then, however, there had been no extra pay.

Mr. Young, in reply, promised to treat the matter as urgent, and to communicate with the Public Service Commissioner.

In reply to a question by Mr. E. H. Burgess, general secretary of the union, a denial was given as to the proposed establishment of a re-organisation scheme.

The executive of the union will meet shortly in Melbourne to consider matters connected with the case to come before the Federal Arbitration Court. It is intended to apply for an interim award to raise the minimum wage of the linesmen from 8s 6d to 9s.

AMALGAMATED COACHMAKERS.

Evidence has been concluded in the case in which the Amalgamated Coachmakers' Union presented claims before the Leather Trades Group No. 8 Board, dealing with wages and conditions of employees in contractors' shops and in the manufacture of rolling-stock. The board, Mr. Wickham, barrister, chairman, is now considering its award, which will probably be gazetted on 22nd inst.

POST OFFICE.

REFORMS FORESHADOWED.

WAGES NOT REDUCED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Postmaster-General (Mr. Wynne) foreshadowed several reforms in the Postal Department at the smoke social of the Post and Telegraph Association held last evening.

He said he had been pressing the heads of the department to let him know what was to be done about racecourse business, and had received information that afternoon. (Applause.) It was provided that in cases where a telegraphist employed on night staff duty was required in addition to his ordinary duty to attend during the day for the racecourse or similar duty, he should be paid an additional day's pay for such attendance. No additional payment would be made in any case where an officer attending for racecourse duty was released from night duty in consequence. (Applause.) He was astonished to hear from Mr. Power, secretary of the association, that an alteration had been made in the wages of temporary mechanics. The Ministry had declared that there would be no reduction of wages whatever. It was intended to place the service under two good men as commissioners.

NEWCASTLE.

WORK AT THE PITS.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The collieries in the Newcastle and Maitland district during the past fortnight have been kept fairly busy. Although only 13 out of 42 put in the full time of 11 days, five lost less than a day each, and eight a day each, leaving the remainder losing on an average of about three days each.

Details are:—Lambton, Seaham No. 1, Seaham No. 2, Abermain, Elermore Vale, Abedare, Ebbw Vale, Shortland, Sea Pit, Hebburn, Stanford Merthyr, Broxburn, Jesmond, 11 each; Burwood, 10½; Pelaw Main, Rothbury, East Greta, 10½ each; Bellbird, 10¼; Wallsend C Pit, Wallsend Tunnel, Neath, Waratah, Aberdare Extended, South Greta, Dudley, Newcastle, 10 each; Whitburn, 9½; Duckenfield, 9¼; Northumberland, 9; Back Creek, 7¾; Sneddons, 7; Burwood Extended, Lymington, West Wallsend Co-operative, 6; Hetton, 5¾; Pacific, Killingworth, Northern Extended, 5; Rhondda, 1¼; Lambton B, Stockton Borehole, nil.

CASUALTIES.

FATAL RIDING ACCIDENT.

CASINO, Saturday.

Mr. Robert Wilson Norris was the victim of a fatal riding accident at Tatham on Monday last. Norris, who was practically a stranger in the district, was on his way home to Mr. Magner's, where he was employed as stud groom, when, in turning the corner at the Cross-roads, near the Tatham Convent, his horse fell with him. Being unable to rise, he was picked up and carried to the Tatham Hotel. Dr. Newman was sent for, but the patient was beyond human aid, and passed away on Wednesday afternoon. Deceased was 47 years of age. He leaves a widow, and a son aged 17 years.

JAMBED BETWEEN CARS.

WEST MAITLAND, Sunday.

Percy Hynes, tram conductor, had a narrow escape from fatal injuries. While in the act of coupling two cars at the West Maitland tram sheds, he was jambed between them. He sustained a broken collarbone and two fractured ribs.

RAILWAY FATALITY.

MARYBOROUGH (Q.), Sunday.

A railway fatality occurred at Tandur late last night, the victim being John Stark, aged 17. A train from Brisbane ran over Stark's left foot, severing it. The leg was amputated below the knee, but Stark died this afternoon.

POSTAL ELECTRICIANS.

A VICTORY FOR THE MEN.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

The President of the Federal Arbitration Court to-day gave his decision in the case of the Postal Electricians' Union. The Court's award had been that the wages of junior mechanics in the Postal Department should be £168 a year. The Federal Service Commissioner afterwards classified a number of temporary employees in New South Wales as junior mechanics at £144 a year. Objection was taken to this by the men's union. It is now decided by the President of the Court that each of the men was entitled to £168 a year. His Honor refused to accede to the wish of the Postmaster-General as expressed through Mr. Hesketh that temporary mechanics employed under section 40 should be paid as junior mechanics unless they passed the examination prescribed for junior mechanics who wished to become mechanics. In giving a statement of the events which recently occurred in the Sydney Post Office, his Honor remarked that to say the men acting as these temporary employees acted were guilty of a strike, or that they intended to strike, was a gross and palpable injustice.

MR. G. W. FULLER.

WILL CONTEST A FEDERAL SEAT.

Mr. G. W. Fuller, the ex-member for Illawarra, was entertained at a banquet in Sargent's rooms, Market-street, on Saturday evening by his Liberal supporters in the metropolitan area of the Illawarra electorate.

The chair was occupied by Mr. W. P. Judd, who proposed the toast of the guest, Alderman Smith, Mayor of Kogarah, and Alderman Lowe supporting. An address was presented to Mr. Fuller. In responding, Mr. Fuller said he hoped he had not ended his career in the Federal Parliament. He intended to try to win his way into it as a representative of the Liberal cause.

Mr. Innes Noad gave "Parliament," and Mr. Cook, the Prime Minister, in the course of his response, said that Mr. Fuller's reverse at the elections was only a temporary one. One would lose faith in democracy to think that the career of a man like Mr. Fuller was ended as far as Federal politics was concerned. It was impossible to conceive of the people of this country being so insane as to shut the door permanently in the face of a gentleman of his experience and his policy. (Applause.)

UNIVERSITY CHRISTIAN UNION.

A service for University men and women, arranged under the auspices of the Sydney University Christian Union, was held in St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday afternoon. Prior to the service there was a procession of women and men in academic dress to the cathedral. The Archbishop presided over the service, the Rev. E. Digges La Touche preached, and Professor Anderson Stuart and Professor Fawsitt read the lessons.

The Rev. Digges La Touche took his text from Colossians II., verses 2 and 3. In the course of his remarks he said that the modern age was the age of intellectualism. The discontent and mental unrest of the modern world was a sad commentary on the power of the human intellect to satisfy the needs of men. Reasons for the unsatisfactory character of this favoured age were indicated. In the first place the fact was often ignored that man was not pure intellect. Man was not simply a thinking machine, not simply a tabulator, but was a rational, sentient, moral being. "We know intuitively that we are not simply parts of a great machine to be scrapped when our work is done," said the preacher, "but that on the contrary we are free beings, in a free universe, making and moulding that which is of infinitely more importance than the whole of non-moral nature—character."

HOMEWARD BOUND.

DEPARTURE OF ADMIRAL SIR GEORGE KING-HALL.

This morning, at 11.30, H.M.S. Cambrian will leave for Home, and with her will depart one who has made himself dear to Australians during his stay, Admiral Sir George King-Hall.

The Cambrian will first proceed to Port Stephens, where an inspection will be made by the Admiral of what is probably to be the North Coast naval base of the fleet. This done, the Cambrian will go on to Melbourne, and thence Home.

His Excellency will embark this morning at 10.30. He hauls down his flag, as commander-in-chief of the Australian station on Trafalgar Day, October 21.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

Very little movement has taken place over eastern Australia in the different pressure systems.

The centre of the high pressure has moved slightly to the south-east, and is now centred to the south-east of Lord Howe Island.

The Antarctic disturbance, which promised some showers in the southern districts, has surged southwards, and, consequently, the rain probabilities have diminished; but owing to the position of the high pressure over the Bight there is some likelihood of coastal showers, with possibly some thunder.

Ocean Forecast.—Southerly burster on the New South Wales coast.

EMPIRE CHAMPIONSHIP.

SUMMERS KEEPS HIS TITLE.

Johnny Summers, welterweight champion of the British Empire, met Arthur Evenden at the Stadium on Saturday night, before a crowd that filled the huge enclosure, and numbered well over 14,000. The champion weighed 10st 3½lb, and Evenden 10st 6½lb, the pair being physically well matched. Summers was the favourite, and fulfilled expectations by winning, though Evenden gave him a hard tussle from start to finish, the bout being fast and clever throughout.

Both opened cautiously, Evenden crouching behind a two-handed smother, and ready to hook or swing with either hand. Summers retreated, but was first to lead with a clean straight left to the face—a class of blow that proved a great scoring medium as the contest progressed. Practically always on the retreat, Summers none the less did his share of the leading, while his defence was masterly. Crouched and threatening, Evenden steadily worked up to his man with both hands ready. Out shot Summers's left to score cleverly, but still Evenden came on. The champion backed almost to the ropes—he bumped them, and Evenden, thinking he had him cornered, attacked vigorously. Many a time the title was within an inch or two of changing hands under such circumstances, but the miss was as good as the proverbial mile to Summers. Down would come his head, and he would shoot from the ropes with lightning speed, ducking Evenden's left with the precision of a machine. There were times when he was really cornered, and then he would set both hands going fast, and mix matters willingly. But mostly he avoided rallies at close quarters. Summers did not seem to settle down to his work for a while, and Evenden won a couple of rounds in the first half of the contest, while a couple perhaps were even, but the title-holder was never in trouble. In the third round Evenden shook him with a left hook, but the veteran's defensive work enabled him to take a spell for a few seconds, and he was soon as strong as ever.

In the second half Summers indulged in brisk spurts of attacking, and grew more frequent as the contest went on. He was the faster and better boxer, and Evenden was several times in trouble, but the latter stuck gamely to his guns, and Summers came by no means unscathed from the exchanges. In the nineteenth round Evenden over-reached with a right swing and fell, and Summers, who could afford it at this stage, generously helped him up. Evenden, determined and plucky, went strongly to the final gong, when Summers duly received Mr. Arthur Scott's verdict.

Jim Sullivan, who was Summers' chief second, and who is matched to meet Jerry Jerome next Saturday, received an excellent reception from the crowd.

A good preliminary bout was provided by Jack Dunleavy and Billy Shields (lightweights), the former winning on points. The boxing was always willing, though often wild. Dunleavy was the heavier lad, and showed more cleverness, particularly in ducking the other's leads.

FOOTBALL.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

ANNANDALE WIN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The protracted season is now closed, and Annandale has secured the right to hold the Gardiner Challenge Cup. About 1500 enthusiasts witnessed the final at Epping. The first half was scoreless, though Lowe just managed to hold a long drive from Carmichael in time, and after Newtown had a fine goal, rightly ruled off-side, Annandale took a firm grip of the game, which they held to the finish. The game was splendidly handled by Mr. E. Lukemann, who had as assistants Messrs. W. A. Wright and W. Vickermann. The final was preceded by the annual referees' match, Sydney v Granville, the honours going to Sydney.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP FINAL.

GARDINER CHALLENGE CUP.

NEWTOWN v ANNANDALE.

Played at Epping, and won by Annandale by 3 goals to nil.

Newtown.—Mitchell, Blakeley, Dennis, Bywater, Carmichael, John Bruce, Grummett, Masters, James Bruce, M'Anish, and Blake.

Annandale.—Lowe, Mirtus, Hillyard, Keith, Newson, Nash, Parris, Chalmers, Butcher, Carroll, and Towle.

Referee: E. Lukemann.

Newtown defended the northern goal, and after Butcher had opened the game, the premiers attacked, securing a corner from Nash, which Masters spoiled. A free to Annandale enabled Nash to send Chalmers away, but Blakeley was vigilant, and cleared to Grummett, who was well taken by Hillyard, a momentary cessation of play becoming necessary. Masters obtained from the bounce, and Hillyard again staved off the attack, and Towle, accepting a long pass out of touch, spoiled Newtown's movement. Newson was then prominent, but Blakeley and Dennis effected changes through the off-side rule, and a spell of even exchanges followed. Chalmers set Parris going, but Butcher failed to hold a good centre, and Blakeley accepted the opportunity to move Blake up, but Keith spoiled his run. Annandale persisted, but off-side pulled them up, although a fine "speculator" by Carroll caused Newtown anxiety. Then Nash was penalised in a good position, and Newtown troubled the Annandale defence, a fine drive by Carmichael being splendidly saved by Lowe. The premiers persistently attacked, but half-time was taken with a blank score sheet.

When the game was resumed, play was even for some time, until Mitchell was penalised for carrying, but Newson sent wide. Dennis and John Bruce carried Newtown into Annandale's twenty-five, but Mirtus was in fine form, and drove them back, Towle getting away to find Blakeley alert. The same player again made a fine sprint; but Mitchell anticipated his shot, and Carmichael sent M'Anish away, who passed to Masters, and, although Lowe cleared marvellously, the ball was netted, but the goal was disallowed on account of off-side. From the free, Chalmers broke away, and Butcher following on, was enabled to open the score with rather a lucky goal. Elated through this advantage, Annandale again attacked, and Carroll gave Towle a fine pass, which, after a good sprint, was splendidly centred, and Parris being handy, Mitchell was given no chance. The Newtown men were not discouraged, and started by Dennis, John Bruce, M'Anish, and Blake bore down on Annandale, but a good centre from the latter was foolishly handled by Hillyard, and a penalty resulted, which Blakeley failed to convert. Carroll received from the goal kick, and, as Towle practically unmarked, he was enabled to put in a sprint from half way and make the final scores 3-0 in favour of Annandale.

Lowe gave a magnificent exposition as custodian, and Mitchell was most effective, having no chance with the shots which beat him. Blakeley played a splendid back game, next in merit being Hillyard, but Dennis and Mirtus were responsible for some fine football. Keith and John Bruce were equally good amongst the halves, and Nash and Bywater are to be commended for their share in an interesting game. Carmichael and Newson were solid rather than brilliant.

The champions' attack displayed better combination than Newtown, but Masters and M'Anish played brilliantly. Towle and Parris were better than Grummett and Blake; and Carroll, James Bruce, and Chalmers were more than effective. Butcher again proved a splendid pivot, although off-side roving spoiled many of his good movements.

Following are the State championship winners since the inception of the Gardiner Challenge Cup competition:—

	Winners.	Runners-up.	Score
1888	Caledonians	Parkgrove	4—3
1889	Pyrmont Rangers	Joadja	1—0

1912	Balmain	Sydney	1—0
1913	Annandale	Newtown	3—0

In 1889 finality was reached after a scoreless draw; in 1898, after West Newcastle had forfeited; in 1900, after a 3-all draw; in 1905, after a 2-all draw; in 1907, after a scoreless draw; and in 1909, after a scoreless draw.

Prior to the presentation of this trophy a Cup competition in name only, was played in 1885, 1886, and 1887, the winners being Granville, Granville, and Hamilton Athletic. These names are inscribed on the Gardener Challenge Cup pedestal.

REFEREE'S ASSOCIATION.

Teams from Granville and Sydney contested their annual fixture before the Cup final, which was won by Sydney 3 goals to 2. Gregory (2) and Read for the winners; Sloane and Hyslop for the losers (who were not fully represented) scored, and Mr. W. Sye refereed.

In the evening the teams dined together, and an enjoyable smoke concert followed.

FINANCIAL.

THE AUSTRALIAN THEORY OF WAGES.

A VICIOUS CIRCLE.

ECONOMIC CRISIS POSSIBLE.

In Australia to-day the theory of wages, not often expressed, but still apparently very generally accepted, is something of this sort:

Wages should bear a reasonable relationship to the cost of living, should rise with it, but should not fall if it falls, while the cost of living may be defined as the amount which it would cost a prudent breadwinner to maintain himself and a family in plain but reasonable comfort at the current prices of commodities, whatever they may be.

As an ethical ideal there is nothing to be said against the conception, but as a working rule of economics it is faulty in the extreme. Not only is it faulty, it is harmful to the morals of the community, and contains within itself all the elements of ultimate disaster.

It quite overlooks the fact that the cost of living itself is based in part upon wages, and so every rise in wages inevitably involves an additional increase in the cost of living, which thus, according to the theory, involves a further rise in wages, and so on ad infinitum. If this theory were substantially correct, there would be no limits to the heights to which wages could be forced. Legal tribunals could decree higher and still higher rates of pay, the employer could pass on the increased cost to the public, the public would say that the cost of living was still mounting up, and the wage-earners among them would demand and secure still higher wages in consequence. So the vicious circle would whirl round and round in its never-ending journey till we should be measuring daily wages in pounds instead of in shillings, as is the case to-day.

The question is, What will be the end of this sort of thing? Is it possible for us to create an artificial world in which prices of commodities and the prices of labour bear no relationship to those of other parts of the world beyond? As a matter of fact, that is exactly what we have already done to some extent. The tariff has enabled us to create an artificial condition of affairs, and so far to maintain it. But there is a limit beyond which we may not pass. Already we are reaching that limit in connection with some industries. Recently one branch of a pottery business was shut down because it could not afford to pay the wages demanded and at the same time compete against imports. Others are getting into a similar position. The boot industry is in a more or less parlous way. Imports are getting heavier, and local manufacturers are finding it harder and harder to compete. For them profits are, in most cases, non-existent. But they see a remedy, or, at least, a palliative, near at hand. They are agitating for higher duties, dimly conscious, however, of the fact that any advantage they get in this way will sooner or later be taken away from them as wages still further advance. This general advance in wages and in prices has served no good purpose as far as the employers are concerned. It is true that in most cases they have succeeded in passing on the increased cost of production to the public, and that, as this has involved the utilisation of more capital than in the past, they have made a profit on the additional capital as well as on the amount originally employed.

No doubt this is not the view of the workers. They feel that in some way their increased wages are coming, if not out of capital at least out of the profits of their employers, and they think they have evidence of the fact. Every now and then directors' reports and balance-sheets are issued, which denote that the profits of certain companies have been smaller than usual, and the reason given is that expenditure, chiefly on wages, has been so great as to materially eat into profits. It is clear enough, say the workers in such cases, that they have gained something at the expense of the capitalist. And so they have, but merely in a temporary way. In all such cases one of two things invariably happens—either the concern succeeds in passing the increased cost on to the public, or, if it cannot do so, then it sooner or later goes out of business. In no case does it permanently pay wages either out of capital or out of profits. Instead, it looks for a profit on that part of its capital which is utilised for the purpose of paying the increased wages. Were it otherwise, there would be no inducement for capitalists to remain in business. They do not conduct enterprises with all the attendant worries as a form of amusement. More congenial diversions could easily be found. Where profits are temporarily affected by an advance in wages, the industry, for the time being, is in a transitional stage. It has not at that point succeeded in passing the increased cost on, being prevented, perhaps, through having contracts still unexpired that regulate their own selling prices or charges for services rendered.

Nor do these continual increases in wages in any way benefit the workers. When they first begin to handle at the week-end more money possibly than they ever handled in their lives before they think they are better off. But they are not. The increase is quite illusory. With every increase the cost of living advances. If the bricklayer gets an advance the cost of building rises, and so do rents. But the cost of building rises at greater ratio than the increase in the bricklayers' wages, because the builder gets a profit on the advance he has to pay, and the rent advances more than what would fairly represent the added cost brought about through rise in the bricklayers' wages, because the landlord gets a profit on that added cost, as well as a profit on what would have been the outlay had the bricklayer received no increase in his wages. So the bricklayer himself must pay more rent, partly as the consequence of his having got more wages, and if the carpenters and the plasterers and the stone masons and the rest all succeed in getting advances, the cost of building is so raised that rents must materially rise too if landlords are to get any reasonable return on their investments. If they cannot get a reasonable return, then they do not provide houses rapidly enough, and competition between would-be tenants forces up rents whether they like it or not. The same argument could be used right through the whole gamut of industries. If the slaughterman gets better wages up goes the price of meat; if the baker gets more, it affects the price of bread; if the carters get more, practically everything rises.

We have heard workers say that they have been fooled over the increase in wages. They are now beginning to see that the advances they have at great pains succeeded in securing have been of no particular value to them, and those who can cast their minds back to pre-Federation days, when wages were not so high, but the cost of living was exceedingly low, realise that they were then better off than they are to-day. There is nothing to be surprised at in their feelings. They are perfectly natural. Nor can either the individual or the individual union remedy the evil. It would be Quixotic, indeed, for the bricklayer to say that he would take no advance, while the plasterers and the stone masons were getting theirs. If he adopted that attitude he would be merely injuring himself to no good purpose, because, whereas the rise would do him no permanent good it would place him in a less unenviable position than if he alone were standing still, while all his brother craftsmen were advancing; £3 10s per week may be no better than £3 a week was two years ago, but £2 a week for one man is certainly not so good as the £2 10s which his fellows are receiving at the same moment.

There are two other and serious objections to this theory that wages should follow closely on the heels of and be dependent upon the cost of living. It places a premium on the reducing of production. Just as the workers can increase the cost of living by securing higher wages, so, too, they can increase the cost of living by making the cost of production greater in other ways. One way is by reducing the hours of labour. If six hours a day were made the normal period for labour just as eight hours nominally now is, then the cost of production would be materially enhanced, and so the cost of living would be raised. According to the theory, this should involve an increase in wages; so we should get to this reductio ad absurdum, that the fewer hours a workman works the more he should be paid. In another way, too, the cost of production can be enhanced by the workmen. They can nominally work eight hours a day, but actually and effectively work but six through the adoption of the ca-canny system. Here, too, if the theory that wages depend upon the cost of living were accurate than the less work they did the more they would get for it. Not till it is fully realised that the real fund out of which wages ultimately come is the wealth that the labourer produces, will this theory die a natural death. It is a corrupting, debasing, demoralising theory calculated to make bad workmen, to cripple industry, and in time to paralyse all progress.

What is all this sort of thing leading to? The workers are getting more money, which is not benefiting them, the employers are getting higher prices, which are rendering them less fit to compete against outside competition. Can this continue? It cannot. Before long it will inevitably bring about an economic crisis. The closing up of the pottery works is symptomatic. When the breaking point is reached employers will have to shut down or be ruined. On this taking place wages boards and other industrial tribunals will be as helpless to stem the tide as King Canute was. Then the law of supply and demand will reassert itself, the artificial system we are labouriously building up will be rudely demolished, and be replaced by one that is more natural and more enduring, and the ultimate condition alike to employers and employees will be sounder than it has ever been in the past.

FARMER AND COMPANY.

The report of Farmer and Company for the year ended July 31 has been issued in London. The profits are £43,027, the largest amount earned since 1902. The following comparison may be made of the returns since the flotation of the company:—

a Including £6000 premium on vendors' pref. shares. b Including £2470 premium on ord. shares. c Including £370 premium on ord. shares. d Premium on ord. shares. e Excluding £10,000 to a special premises reserve.

The authorised capital is £400,000, in 20,000 ordinary and 20,000 preference shares of £10 each. There have been issued £356,230 in 15,623 ordinary and 20,000 preference shares fully paid; 12,334 preference shares were issued in February, 1897, at £11 per share. In October, 1902, the capital was increased to £400,000 by the creation of 5000 ordinary shares. The preference shares are entitled to a cumulative dividend of 6 per cent., and to priority for capital without further participation. The dividend given above includes the interim dividend.

E. S. AND A. BANK.

The chief features of the balance-sheet of the English, Scottish, and Australian Bank have been received by cable. The profit amounts to £249,444, and the interest in perpetual stock to £98,316. The following comparison to be made:—

YEAR ENDED JUNE 30.

* A further dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. just declared.

The addition of £35,000 to reserve funds brings the reserve fund up to £285,000, or over half the amount of the paid-up capital of the bank.

PATERSON, LAING, AND BRUCE, LTD.

Our London correspondent has cabled the results of the year's trading of the above company. The report disclosed a net profit of £72,382, out of which the usual preference dividend of 6 per cent. was paid, absorbing £21,000. A final dividend of 6 per cent. has been paid on the ordinary shares, £10,000 placed to reserve, £2500 added to bonus and pension fund, and £23,884 carried forward. The following comparison may be made:—

DEFENCE AND FINANCE.

Mr. Edward Foreman writes from Rockhampton:—

Sir,—I have just been reading in the "Sydney Morning Herald" a column headed, 'The Finance of Defence.' In the last paragraph you point out that scares are worked up by the armament firms. You seem, however, to be working up a mild scare of your own by drawing attention to the magnitude of the unemployed problem that you think would arise if armies were disbanded, etc., forgetting, no doubt, momentarily, that the capital now used for defence would be employed in other directions. For instance, the five millions Australia is spending in that direction could easily be expended on new railways which would not only prevent the unemployed difficulty you fear, but by opening up the country, would help to settle the defence question in the best way—by an increase of population.

We have received a letter from "Investigator," Melbourne, making the same point at much greater length. It may be stated by way of explanation that we regarded the unemployment problem as temporary, though severe, and not at all permanent. No one could imagine that the return of millions of able-bodied men to productive employment could be other than beneficial in the long run.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mr. Venour Nathan has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the board of the Sydney Ferries, Limited, caused by the resignation of Mr. H. E. Russell.

Mr. Cecil Hordern, who was recently elected a member of the Sydney Stock Exchange, has joined Mr. Harold H. M'Nall, and will carry on as Messrs. M'Nall and Hordern.

LONDON FINANCIAL CABLES.

PATERSON, LAING, AND BRUCE.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The report of Paterson, Laing, and Bruce, Ltd., for the year ended July 31 shows a credit to profit and loss of £72,384. A final dividend of 6 per cent. is declared, £10,000 is placed with the reserve, £2500 is added to the pension fund, and £23,884 is carried forward.

ENGLISH, SCOTTISH, AND AUSTRALIAN BANK.

The English, Scottish, and Australian Bank, in its report for the year ended June 30, shows a credit to profit and loss of £249,444. Interest on perpetual stock absorbs £98,316, and the reserve takes £15,000, leaving £136,128 available. Out of this sum a further dividend of 5 per cent. is declared, £35,000 is carried to the reserve, £14,385 is allocated for the cancellation of inscribed deposits, £2500 is added to the officers' fund, a bonus of 10 per cent. to the staff absorbs £8500, and £32,588 is carried forward.

The amount at current account at the end of the year was £2,683,789, on deposit £3,457,697, cash and investments amounted to £2,546,322, bills to £1,168,630, and advances to £6,128,056.

COMMERCIAL.

SCIENCE, TARIFFS, AND CHEMICAL PRICES.

Some reasons for the great decrease in the prices of heavy chemicals of recent years was given by the chairman, Mr. J. Brock, in submitting proposals for reducing the ordinary share capital of the United Alkali Company from £3,000,000 to £600,000, by cancelling £8 of every £10 share. When the company was incorporated in 1890, alkali products of the United Kingdom had access into almost every market in the world, and usually gave the manufacturer reasonable profits. About 1893 the company began to feel the effects of the tariff charges placed on the goods which they exported to foreign countries, and imposed mainly for the purpose of fostering manufacture in those countries. This was notoriously the case in the United States, where their business was very large, and also in Russia and some other countries. The effect had been that the manufacturers in those countries had been able, not only to supply the wants of their own countries, but had become exporters of surplusage. The company was thereby obliged to reduce prices in order to retain markets. In addition to the difficulties imposed upon them by heavy import duties, they had had to face the competition induced by the advance of science. The competition of the ammonia-soda process had been particularly heavy. This process they had adopted quite successfully, but the selling prices of the produce were now the lowest on record. Science, with its ever-increasing knowledge and control of the electric current, had brought them by way of competition the electrolytic process for the production of chlorine and soda. They maintained that their process was well able to compete with it, but obviously the products produced by it must find an outlet, or they must be content to contest its progress, with consequently less profit than they made at that day. Now, while science had been busy with devising new processes for producing some of their products, it had also been called to the aid of the consumer of their products, who in many cases had been enabled by recovery processes to reduce to an enormous extent his consumption of chlorine and soda, so that its effect was two-edged. The result of all that was that, although much of their plant had been reconstructed and modernised, an appreciable portion of their original works had been either demolished or rendered idle.

FRENCH TARIFF ALTERATIONS.

A letter has been received by the Sydney Chamber of Commerce from the president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Commonwealth, covering copy of translations of Article 15 of the French Customs tariff and of the law of August 8, 1912, relating to industrial awards.

BERTHING ACCOMMODATION FOR WHEAT.

The Sydney Chamber of Commerce has been in communication with the Sydney Harbour Trust and the Chief Commissioner for Railways in regard to the grain wharf at Pyrmont. It has been suggested that grain shippers occupying sheds on the grain wharf should be granted annual leases, also preference of wharf berth; but when the berths were not required by grain shippers, berths should be made available for general cargo purposes. At the council meeting of the chamber, held yesterday, a communication was received from the Chief Commissioner, to the effect that the matter is already in hand with the Harbour Trust, and it is hoped that it will be possible to arrange some modification of the present arrangements which will render these shipping appliances of more value for grain purposes.

FIREWOOD SUPPLIES.

LONGER HAULAGE AND HIGHER PRICES.

On Friday last no fewer than 46 trucks of firewood were available for sale at Redfern, Newtown, and Darling Harbour stations, when prices showed a sharp decline; in fact, it was the poorest sale of the commodity reported for over a year. This abnormally large number of trucks was due to the interruption to the railway traffic, most of the waggons having been held up at the Clyde marshalling yards for some days, and then hastened to their destinations in large batches, which upset the market. The prices obtained for firewood are wholly dependent on supply and demand, and if supplies well above requirements meet a slack demand, someone is sure to suffer, as many a consignor knows to his cost.

And there is the possibility of large supplies coming forward for some time, not that firewood is plentiful; far from it; but for the reason that there must be still at least 50 trucks of the fuel in the Clyde yards waiting to be sent forward for sale. And fresh supplies are arriving every day, which will further complicate matters. Anyone seeing the yards at Clyde on Saturday would have concluded that all was bright as far as the firewood business was concerned, but a chat with a proprietor of a country firewood mill disabused the mind on that score. There is a great dearth of wood suitable for fuel within a reasonable distance of Sydney, and, as the owner of one mill said, the time is not very far off when consumers will be hard put to it to obtain firewood, except at very high prices.

"I have been in this business since boyhood," said the sawmiller, "and I never saw things look gloomier as far as supplies of bush timber are concerned than they are now. Fancy having to go 10 and 15 miles for supplies of logs. Very different from the old days, when we got the wood from just around the mill, quite handy to Sydney. The bushes are being rapidly depleted, our mills are being driven farther and farther into the country, and the more we travel the more freight has to be paid to send the trucks to market; and this extra charge the consumer will have to pay. Of course, there is a limit, and it will not be very many years before this is reached. Doubtless many people complain at what they have to pay for their firewood, but we millers are working on a very small margin of profit. As I said, a good deal of my wood comes from within a radius of 10 to 15 miles, and to get over that distance takes time. If done by horses the return journey is a fair day's haul, and it would take bullocks two days. Now, the wood has to be chopped, loaded, and hauled to the mill here, where I buy it, or if I use my own teams have to pay wages, feed, and make allowance for ordinary wear and tear. Then it has to be stacked on end if none too dry, and if suitable cut up into 6in or 7in lengths at the mill, trucked, and despatched to market, the freight being paid by me. When the labour attendant on sending cut wood to Sydney is considered, the profits are not much, I can assure you. Another thing, very often we obtain wood from a distance by rail, and the freight that has to be paid on this is not an inconsiderable item, which, of course, helps to increase the cost to the consumer.

"As you know, once a bush is worked out it is done with for ever as far as we are concerned, and, as I said before, we must go farther afield. Reafforestation, which takes time, may help things a great deal three or four decades hence; but most of the land which we denude of its tree life is put to a profitable use, either for agriculture, for orchards, or for building purposes; therefore replanting would be entirely out of the question in many instances.

"Yes, the advent of the gas stove has lessened the demand for firewood, but the poor we have always with us, and these principally will be the people who will be called upon to pay increased prices for wood. Of course, I am speaking of the future, but not of the far distant future. As you say, happy is the man who has a good firewood bush close handy to the city, for his expenses will be lessened, and he will participate in the accretion of prices. But such bushes are very scarce. It may not be generally known that in many instances the timber on land about Sydney is more valuable than the land itself; or, to put it plainer, at the recent high prices obtainable for firewood, land which could be purchased at, say, £20 per acre, carried rung timber worth considerably more."

At Darling Harbour on Saturday 781 tons of wheat and 207 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour on Saturday totalled 9141 bales.

LONDON MARKET CABLES.

RAW JUTE.

LONDON, Oct. 10, 6.15 a.m.

The market for raw jute is firmer, native first marks, of October shipment, being quoted at Dundee at £35 per ton, an advance of 5/ since Tuesday.

METALS.

LONDON, Oct. 11, 6.30 a.m.

Closing quotations yesterday were:—

Copper, spot, £71 to £71/5/ per ton (£3 down); three months, £71 to £71/5/ per ton (£2/17/6 down).

Electrolytic copper, £77 per ton (10/ down).

Tin, spot, £184/15/ to £185/5/ per ton (10/ down); at three months, £185/5/ to £185/15/ per ton (15/ down).

Lead, soft foreign, £20/15/ per ton (6/3 up).

Antimony, £6 to £6/5/ per ton (unchanged).

MANUFACTURED METALS.

Quotations are:—

Tinplates, I.C. Coke, good brands, 13/1½ per box (1½d down on the fortnight); I.C. Charcoal, 14/1½ per box (1½d down on the fortnight).

Angle steel, Middlesbro' quality, £5/17/6 per ton (2/6 down on the fortnight).

Galvanised corrugated iron, 26-gauge, first brands £16 per ton (unchanged), second brands £14 per ton (5/ up since August 14).

Tramrails, £5/13/6 per ton (1/ up since August 14).

SILVER.

LONDON, Oct. 11, 5 p.m.

Bar silver was quoted to-day at 28⅛d per ounce standard, an advance of ⅛d.

COTTON.

The market for cotton is easier, American middlings selling at 7.07½d per lb (a fall of .35½d).

LINSEED OIL.

Linseed oil is again easier, spot pipes being worth £28/5/ per ton, equal to 1/10 1-16d per gallon (a fall of 2/6 a ton, or ⅛d per gallon).

RUBBER.

Rubber generally is easier, though smoked sheet plantation is higher. Quotations are: Fine hard Para 3/4 per lb (a fall of ½d); plantation, first latex crepe, 2/1½ (a fall of ½d); and smoked sheet, 2/6 (an advance of 1½d on the week).

HEMP.

The market for hemp is steady. October to December shipments being worth £29/10/ per ton (unchanged on the week).

COPRA.

The market for copra is dull. Little business has been done in South Sea descriptions. Holders are asking £30/17/6 to £31 per ton in bags. Buyers offer £30/12/6 for September-October shipments.

RABBITS.

The market for rabbits is dull, and prices are without change, viz., New South Wales blues 16/ per crate, ex store.

HIDES.

Hides at the auctions had little business. Quotations were:—Queensland, heavies 9½d, medium 9½d, light 9½d per lb; Sydneys, heavy, medium, and light, 9d.

The leather market is firm, and stocks are small. Best heavy Sydneys 13½d to 15d; Melbournes, 13d to 16d. Basils are in fair demand. First Sydneys 15½d; New Zealands, 16½d to 22d.

FROZEN MEAT QUOTATIONS.

Smithfield market quotations for the under-mentioned classes of frozen meats are based on actual sale of not less than 100 carcases of mutton and lambs, and 25 quarters of beef of fair average quality. These quotations are not for selected lines, but for parcels fairly representative of the bulk of the shipments now on the market:—

RAILWAY MARKET.

SMALL SALE.

Saturday sales at the Railway Market are getting smaller and smaller, and last Saturday only 22 trucks were in. Most of these comprised wheaten chaff, which sold well, to 5/. Stray consignments of other commodities were offered, including lucerne hay, which brought 5/4. Details of the trucks in position are as follows:—Hay 4, chaff 12, wheat 1, potatoes 5.

The following consignments were manifested to arrive:—Chaff 36, hay 20, maize 61, potatoes 5.

Sales effected were:—

Wheaten Chaff.—Norris, Grenfell (11177), 4/2; Bye, Wagga (8834), 4/6; Menzies, Brundah (17693), 4/8, (18086) 4/6; ex Greenthorpe (4212) 4/10; ex Brundah (1643) 2/11; Griffiths, Marrar (8176), 4/6; ex Ganmain (2685) 5/ per cwt.

Oaten Hay.—Wilder, Greenethorpe (15126) 4/ per cwt.

Wheat.—Golding, Forbes (5267), 3/8 per bushel.

Oats.—Armstrong, Coolamon (14317), 2/3½ per bushel.

Lucerne Hay.—Johnson, Scone (11715), 4/5; Stafford, Scone (18797), 5/4 per cwt.

PROPERTY SALES.

Hardie and Gorman Proprietary, Limited, in conjunction with Fred. Brown, advise the following result of the sale of Hillcrest Extension Estate, on the ground, at Hurstville, on Saturday. Twenty-six lots were submitted, 18 of which were disposed of at from 19s to 53s per foot. Total sales, £1580.

Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., report having sold by public auction, on the ground, on Saturday afternoon, 14 lots out of 20 of the Woolerina Estate, Liverpool, each 40ft frontage, at prices ranging from 10/ to 15/ per foot frontage. Total amount of sales, £269.

Messrs. H. W. Horning and Co., Ltd., report having sold by public auction several lots of the Cintra Estate, Burwood, at prices ranging from 70/ per foot. Total sales, £612.

Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., report having sold, on the ground, on Saturday afternoon, in conjunction with Marshall and Dempster, 11 portions of Willis's Estate Subdivision, at Ermington, at prices ranging from 25/ to 14/ per foot frontage.

Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., report having sold by public auction, on the ground, on Saturday afternoon, portions of the Epping Forest Estate, Epping, at prices ranging from £2/5/ to 20/ per foot. Total sales, £1204.

SYDNEY WOOL SALES.

At to-day's wool auction at the Sydney Wool Exchange, Bridge-street, commencing at 3 o'clock prompt, Dalgety and Co., Ltd., will offer a catalogue of 6631 bales, including the following consignments, viz.:—Dungalear (Walgett), 523 bales; Euroka (Walgett), 99; A. Hooke/Maxwellton (Burren Junction), 94; AJS/Glenmore (Moree), 232; Taviton/New England (Ashford), 101; C in block (Boggabri), 229; WG/Booloocooroo (Curlewis), 107; Currawinya/FCM (Hungerford), 264; Turee (Bourke), 99; JD/Nilera (Cobar), 151; ABT/Sussex (Cobar), 96; Gunningbar (Mullengudgery), 400; MK and S/Timbrebongie (Narromine), 298; DPKO/Warrana (Coonamble), 661; DNM/Weetalibah (Coonamble), 134; C. CONTINUATION SCHOOLS.

The total number of students at evening continuation schools, including 1481 pupils enrolled in the preparatory classes last quarter, was 3623, a decrease of 71 on the figures of the previous quarter; 28 pupils left during the September term, and the average attendance for the quarter was 1324.

MINING.

A SLACK WEEK.

RESTRICTED SPECULATION.

LONDON SHARE AND METAL VALUES EASIER.

No difference of opinion exists as to the cause of the undoubtedly stagnant, not to say depressed, market that ruled during the whole of the past week. It was due to the lack of buyers and sellers. But no two persons agree as to the reason why buyers and sellers have largely vanished from the scene. An operator who had been hit by the general decline in values remarked on Saturday:—"The past week has been almost a holiday for many of us. We have written but a very few lines. We've been in the position of having no work to do, hence the holiday has not been a pleasant one." Some operators, after attending the first call of the day, and noticing the deadly dulness abroad, left for their suburban greens to while away a few hours in a game of bowls, and found next day that they had not missed doing business by their absence.

In busy times the floor of the vestibule is littered with the envelopes of "pink 'uns," i.e., urgent telegrams, either from the Adelaide or Melbourne Stock Exchange instructing local operators to buy or sell certain stocks. Nowadays a "rush-wire" is almost a rara avis, for an equally depressed state of affairs exists in the southern Stock Exchanges. As to business with London, one operator remarked: "My experience for several weeks past is that London will sell you shares readily enough, but won't buy, even if you quote under the daily buying rates cabled to the members of the Stock Exchange. In a word, London has been for weeks, and still is, a seller all the time."

Naturally enough, this disposition of London operators to "unload," even at declining rates, combined with a lack of steadiness in the daily "middle" quotations for Australian stocks, whether gold, silver, copper, or tin, together with a fluctuating metal market, only added to the cloud of depression in which the Australian exchanges, as well as that of the old country, appear to be enveloped. One broker of a cheerful disposition, but limited vocal abilities, adjured the members in song to "Wait till the Clouds Roll By."

One of the noticeable incidents of the week was the further weakening of Ardlethan tin stocks, especially of Carpathias, Wild Cherry, Southern Cross, and White Crystal, with almost complete silence in the case of Big Bygoo and Ardlethan Options. Towards the end of the week, however, Carpathias seemed to get renewed strength. Values recovered somewhat, and as many of the transactions were "prompt at sellers' risk," it was assumed that this meant a growing shortage of scrip. On the other hand a prominent "bear" stated that they had a nice little nest egg of scrip to meet any possible attempt to squeeze them. The "bulls" ridicule this statement, and assert that the quiet buying that has been going on was by men who are confident that the Carpathia mine, even on present developments, will pay 10s in dividends. The decision of the directors of the Wild Cherry to erect a plant to treat the ore on the mine had the effect of strengthening the position of the stock.

Barriers participated in the general slackness in speculation, and it was no wonder that the daily lack of buoyancy shown by the London Stock Exchange had a weakening effect upon the Stock Exchanges of Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide. Furthermore, a shortage of water had an unsettling effect upon the market, as it led to the closing down or partial cessation of work on Friday of the Broken Hill South, Central, Zinc Corporation, British Broken Hill, and B.H. Junction North mines, and also of one section of the Amalgamated Zinc works. The lode developments in the B.H. Block 10 mine were of a satisfactory character, and had a marked effect upon the shares in the Australian and London Stock Exchanges.

A private cable message received on Saturday reported a reorganisation in London of the Broken Hill South Extended. The new company has been registered with a capital of £168,000, comprising 100,000 preferred shares of 2/ each, which are entitled to 9-10ths of the profits and assets, and 680,000 ordinary shares of 2/ each. The holders of the latter will receive share for share in the new company, and will likewise be entitled to participate in the allotment of the preferential shares. The old company made a plucky effort to trace the continuation of the Barrier reef under the plain country south of the great Barrier ridge, and proved conclusively that the Barrier lodes are not confined wholly to the hill or range. She continues south, but pitches in that direction. That only means deeper sinking to pick up the runs of ore worked further north, and materially strengthens the position of the B.H. South and Sulphide Corporation (Central), and Zinc Corporation (South Blocks) mines. It may be said, indeed, to have added a new lease of life to the Barrier mines on the southern end of the line of lode. The estimated profit of the Zinc Corporation last month—£15,976, taking spelter at £23 and lead at £15 per ton—was an excellent result, compares more than favourably with the previous months of the year, and proves conclusively that the Broken Hill metallurgists are not relaxing their efforts to increase the percentage of metal extraction, and to reduce costs.

Though the silver-lead lode of the Yerranderie mines is a mere pigmy to the big formations of Broken Hill, what it lacks in width is counterbalanced in a large measure by the richness of the ore. The value of a ton of crude ore on the Barrier ranges from £5 to £6, whilst the Yerranderie ore sold for treatment at Cockle Creek ranges from £9 to £17. Owing to the cost of carting 45 miles over the Burragorang Mountain to the Camden railway station, all ore carrying as much as £8 worth of silver and lead—equal to 3oz of gold—has to be dumped on the surface of the mines, with the result that there are accumulating big heaps of ore, classed as unpayable, though carrying higher metal values than the ore out of which the producing mines of Broken Hill are paying handsome dividends. For regularity, of footwall especially, as well as continuity, vertically and horizontally, the Yerranderie lode is not equalled in Australia. True, the operations of the mines will never be on the huge scale of the Barrier mines, but it is a most extraordinary circumstance that such a rich silver-lead formation, within 80 miles of Sydney, should lack railway communication, without taking into consideration the possibilities of Burragorang becoming a prolific producer of fruits, vegetables, and dairy produce.

As regards copper-mining, the prospects of the mines are most encouraging, despite the fact that the price of the red metal has fallen to £71/5/. The Hampden mine has restarted smelting, and the furnace is running smoothly. The ore developments at the Mount Oxide and Oxide Creek mines are very encouraging, and had they railway communication would be in a position to ship very high-grade crude ore. At the Mammoth copper mine the stopes are being got ready in ore carrying 9.3 per cent. copper, 1.2dwt of gold, and 4.1oz of silver, and smelting operations will soon be again in full swing. Smelting operations at the Great Fitzroy mines have been retarded by leaky water jackets, and a battery of new ones is being erected. The output of ore from the Mount Lyell mine is being increased, so that the monthly return of blister copper produced will be larger in the future. The lode developments in the "Lloyd" copper mine and the Grafton copper mine are of a very satisfactory character, whilst at the Mouramba copper mine (the old Nymagee) the manager is working hard to make an early start to resume, after several years' idleness, the reproduction of the purest copper ever exported from Australia.

As to the tin industry, the operations of the Tongkah Harbour and Tongkah Compound companies show that tin-bearing ground of good grade is being treated. The splendid yield of 10 tons of tin oxide from 11,000 cubic yards of material reported by the Horseshoe Tin Sluicing Company in the Stanthorpe district will be hard to beat in Australia. The company is a modest one, with a nominal capital of £5000 in 5000 £1 shares, of which only 4000 have been issued. This output of 2lb of tin per cubic yard is considered merely as prospecting work to prove the value of the ground. The area of land held is over 200 acres, and additional plant is being erected that will enable the company to double its output at a very much reduced cost. Tin oxide is selling on the field at 1/2 per lb, hence the yield of 2lb was worth 2/4 per cubic yard, and as the cost was /6 the profit was 1/10. The new plant is expected to treat from 15,000 to 20,000 cubic yards per month at a cost of £376 to £500, and it is expected that £1 ground will give a profit of £500 per month.

The Vegetable Creek Company, having connected Allen's and the Rock shaft, has blocked out approximately 4300 yards of a tin lead, with values ranging from 40lb to 180lb per cubic yard, and a depth ranging from 18in to 7ft. The width, of course, is not known. What has been proved, however, is worth from £2 to £9 per cubic yard, according to the density of the wash and the price of tin. Twelve months of heavy dead work enables the company to start on the production from a deposit estimated to carry from £15,000 to £20,000 worth of tin.

Stock Exchange operations, as is usually the case on Saturdays, were on very stagnant lines, and without any significance attached to the sales booked. The only noticeable incidents were a jump of £4 in the buying offers for Mount Oxide Options, and Carpathias holding a steady position.

MINING NOTES.

Gold-dredging yields:—Araluen Redbank (166 hours), 14½oz gold; Araluen Central (194 hours), 29½oz.

A further telegram from the manager of the Tyrconnel gold mine states:—"Bored through, reef ahead 2ft wide; drillings prospect 1oz per ton." This report refers to the reef which was showing behind the reef gone through and reported on previously.

During last month the 20-head battery of the Bullfinch Proprietary Company ran 609 hours, and treated 5545 short tons, for 4083oz of bullion, worth £14,417. The total working expenditure was £5003/16/6, and the profit £9413/3/6. The expenditure on development was £804/11/8.

The output of the Hercules gold and silver mine (Tas.) for the week ended October 3 was 103 tons of sulphides at Williamsford, leaving 60 tons broken in the mine.

In a run of 276 hours during the past fortnight the dredge of the Tongkah Compound treated 39,500 cubic yards of material, for 37 tons 6cwt of tin oxide. This works out at the excellent average of 2.110lb per cubic yard, thus showing a continuance of the good ground entered upon three weeks ago.

Work on the North Duchess copper mine, Cloncurry, which was suspended for so long, as a result of the contract strike, having been resumed, the manager is able to report that the shaft has been baled out, partitioned, and lined off to 52ft, and that sinking will be resumed on contract this week.

The Great Britain Sluicing Company's Britain plant has been run down, after sluicing 303 hours, for an estimated production of 5 tons 10cwt tin ore.

The manager of the Canbelego Copper Mine Company, Limited, reporting for the fortnight ending September 26, states:—All on surface in good order. About 30 tons of ore raised from No. 2 level, waiting to be carted. The parcel of about 29 tons mentioned in last report assayed 10 per cent. copper. The parcel of about 20 tons reported at the railway has been forwarded to Cobar, but the assay is not to hand yet. A new contract has been let for the No. 3 level.

The secretary of the Oxide Creek, Ltd., writes: "A telegram received from the manager of Oxide Creek, Ltd., states that the winze has been deepened 6ft for the week; total 32ft below adit level, and that it is still in rich ore, averaging 50 per cent.

Having cut the reef in the crosscut at the 150ft level of the Tyrconnel gold mine, the manager telegraphs:—"Reef 3ft 6in solid stone, worth 3oz per ton, 6in mullock behind it; another reef is showing, will prove it."

At the C.S.A. mine all work is still confined to breaking lead ore at No. 2 level. During the fortnight 237 tons were shipped to the smelters, and 214 tons broken and hauled to the surface, leaving a balance at grass of 21 tons. The stopes are producing fair grade ore.

The manager of the Cope's Creek dredging reports for the week ended October 4 as follows.—"Stripping overburden, the portion of creek being worked is narrow. Will open out about four chains further up stream, and will then be in kinder country."

Information has been received from the Mount David Gold mine that 18in of highly-mineralised quartz are now showing in the east drive off the crosscut from the Little Marvel shaft.

The B.H. Block 10 Company, in the fortnight ended October 1, despatched 5324 tons new mill tailings, 62 tons old mill tailings, 327 tons concentrates.

The manager of the Horseshoe Tin-sluicing Company, Ltd., reports:—"Sluicing operations at site No. 1, Spring Creek, were concluded on the 4th inst. when 1800yds were treated for 23cwt of tin, making a total of 10 tons tin for 11.000 cubic yards, sluiced at a cost approximately of 1/ per yard, the average value of the ground treated being 2lb per yard. The new power plant is at hand, and is now being installed at site No. 2, where sluicing operations will commence about October 20. The new plant should handle about 50 yards per hour, at a cost of about 6d per yard, and as a wide area of ground will be worked with the greater power now available, the average value will be brought down to about 1.5lb per yard.

DECREASING GOLD YIELDS.

The gold yield recorded for New South Wales for September is 13,303oz crude gold, equal to 10.577oz fine, valued at £44,928, as compared with 19,507oz crude, equal to 16,426oz fine, valued at £69,774 for the corresponding month in 1912. The yield for the first nine months of this year amounts to 133,671oz crude, equal to 107,152oz fine, valued at £455,155, as compared with 147,542oz crude, equal to 121.925oz fine, valued at £517,903 for the same period in 1912, thus showing a decrease of 14,772oz fine and £62,748 in value.

MINING IN THE STATE.

CRABOON, Saturday.

Excellent progress is being made at the Mount Laut copper mine, situated at Mumbedah, ten miles from the railway. Work has been going on for nearly 12 months, such as developing and timbering the shafts, and the mine is now in good working order. A drive is being put in north at the 200ft level. It is in 15ft, and the lode has been met with on the eastern wall. It is 3ft wide. This is a new lode that has been cut. The ore is of good quality. The manager thinks the strike a rich one, as yellow ore has not been seen in the mine before. Carbonates from the face of the lode have assayed from 6 to 31 per cent. The other ores are being reserved for fluxing with the yellow ore when the lode is opened up and ready for treatment. From the 100ft level up to the surface the ore is all payable. The men are at present developing the level at 200ft, where the yellow ore was struck.

TULLAMORE, Saturday.

Mining operations in this district are progressing favourably. The Mount Royal at Tottenham has practically completed the erection of new smelters.

LAWN TENNIS.

METROPOLITAN CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT.

There was a very good attendance at the Strathfield grounds on Saturday, when the metropolitan championship tournament was continued; but the spectators did not see any thrilling contests, nearly all the championship ties being won in straight sets.

It is seldom that the championship singles, as the finals are approached, are so devoid of close finishes as was the case on Saturday. In the four matches played no loser succeeded in saving more than three games in any set, while Bonnington failed to win a game against Parker, yet it must not be assumed that he was outclassed. His experience was similar to that of C. P. Dixon, when he met N. E. Brookes in the British Isles v Australia match; and, like Brookes on that occasion, Parker was almost infallible on Saturday. Parker kept his opponent tearing about the court from one side to the other, frequently driven far outside the side lines by acutely angled shots across the court. Bonnington, by strenuous exertions, would make many good recoveries in each rest; but whenever Parker got him on the run a breakdown sooner or later was certain to occur.

J. O. Anderson's victory over Marsh was nearly as decisive, though the latter won three games in each set. Marsh could not keep Anderson off his drives, and whenever these went deep to Marsh's backhand corner the point was invariably Anderson's.

In the doubles, Jordan and Whiting established a good lead against Wright and J. O. Anderson in the first set, Jordan being very brilliant and successful. But the effort did not last. In the second set, Jordan went off a good deal, and despite good work by Whiting, whose returns of the service were excellent, Wright and Anderson won rather easily.

Uts and Parker had little to spare from Rudd and Howell in the other match in this event. Parker appeared to be taking matters rather easily, probably in view of his singles to follow, but Uts did good work.

The mixed championship found S. T. Jones and Miss Jones victorious in two rounds, in each of which a third set was necessary. Jordan and Mrs. Doyle very nearly beat them in the first of these; and might have done so had not Jordan attempted a little too much. In their next match against J. O. Anderson and Miss I. Cozens, Jones and Miss Jones won the first set easily, Miss Cozens playing rather nervously. After losing the second set to one game, Jones and Miss Jones won the deciding set at 6-4. Miss Jones was the most consistent of the four, but S. T. Jones's headwork was an important factor in the success of the pair. Anderson has much to learn yet in mixed doubles. Marsh and Miss Collings proved too strong for R. O. Anderson and Mrs. Fuller, being superior both in team work and individual play. Mrs. Fuller has not yet regained her true form.

The handicaps again worked out well. In twenty-three completed matches fourteen ran the full three sets, while in six of the others one set at least was won at 6-5. Results:—

Metropolitan Singles Championship.

J. O. Anderson beat M. H. Marsh, 6-3, 6-3.

ROWING.

HENLEY-ON-PARRAMATTA.

LEICHHARDT WINS CHAMPION FOURS.

The North Shore Rowing Club's attempt to establish a Henley carnival on similar lines as those conducted on the Thames and the Yarra proved successful from every viewpoint. The weather was ideal for such a function, and a gentle breeze blew from the north-east that was entirely to the liking of the rowing men.

The river presented a splendid sight, especially in the vicinity of the Rowing Association's boathouse at Gladesville. The club's steamer Kookooburra was crowded with supporters, and looked very picturesque as she lay moored near the association's boathouse, with the pretty green background, and surrounded by a flotilla of small row boats and launches.

"The Lady Hopetoun carried a large number of prominent rowing enthusiasts, including Judge Backhouse, Messrs. J. Blackman, W. J. Hanna, A. Braund, J. Goldie, D. M'Lain, A. Maine, M. Thomson, S. A. Middleton, and J. Howie.

Quite a number of innovations were introduced during the afternoon, and the general organisation was excellent. The first experiment in short courses proved successful; and the oarsmanship was well up to the ordinary standard of an early season regatta. The racing was good and produced some exciting finishes. Results:—

Maiden Eights; course from Beacon, Putney Point to judge's boat, 20yds in front of N.S.W.R.A. boathouse, Gladesville, 1m.—First heat: Sydney Rowing Club—J. H. Titchen (bow), 10st 8lb; J. P. Mulholland, 10st 12lb; C. Bluett, 11st 6lb; K. Higgs, 12st 4lb; F. T. D. Mears, 11st 8lb; J. R. Osborne, 11st 4lb; J. J. Roche, 11st; K. S. Dowling (stroke), 10st 6lb; coach and cox, R. G. K. Whaley, 1.

Enterprise Rowing Club.—R. Nicholson (bow), 9st 8lb; C. Nash, 9st 12lb; H. Wilson, 11st 2lb; P. O'Reilly, 9st 12lb; H. Bothamley, 10st 8lb; H. Shackleton, 12st 8lb; N. Stevens, 12st; M. Keen (stroke), 11st; G. Noble, cox, 2.

Sydney University Boat Club.—R. J. Kay (bow), 11st 4lb; A. G. Ferguson, 11st 12lb; W. H. Donald, 11st 10lb; R. Harper, 12st 12lb; R. P. Francis, 14st 5lb; W. Hay, 10st 12lb; J. M'F. Russell, 11st 10lb; R. A. Woodward (stroke), 11st 4lb; A. P. Murphy (cox), 3.

Second Heat.—Glebe Rowing Club: J. Alsop (bow), 9st 7lb; G. Donald, 10st 7lb; E. Kegg, 11st 7lb; P. Becker, 11st 12lb; C. Harris, 12st 13lb; S. Probert, 11st 11lb; W. Keith, 12st 10lb; L. Hayton (stroke), 11st 9lb; R. Beray (cox), 1.

North Shore Rowing Club: G. Smith (bow), 10st; A. Dobbie, 11st; A. J. Bulte, 9st 6lb; K. M'Gregor, 10st 6lb; E. Connolly, 11st 4lb; E. O. Moore, 9st 6lb; A. E. Ellis, 10st; G. Temple (stroke), 10st 4lb, 2.

Leichhardt was much the best crew, but was badly steered, and finished the wrong side of the judge's boat. Glebe rowed a good race, winning some boat lengths from North Shore.

Final: Sydney Rowing Club, 1; Glebe Rowing Club, 2.

This was a great race, and caused a good deal of excitement, as the crews were together nearly all the way. Glebe made a desperate effort to make up the half-length which separated the boats; but they were beaten by about two feet. Coxswain Waley showed excellent judgment in bringing the Sydney crew along from time to time.

Ladies' Double Sculls.—Course from Tennyson Point to judge's boat, 20yds, in front of N.S.W. R.A. Boathouse, 1 mile.

First heat: Mrs. Searle and Miss Castle, 1; Miss W. Bance and Miss H. Ludwig, 2; Miss E. Crozier and Miss F. Crozier, 3. Won by half-length.

Second heat: Miss A. Kirkpatrick and Miss E. Field, 1; Miss V. Macintosh and Miss S. Macintosh, 2; Miss W. Ludwig and Miss A. Morrison, 3. Won easily by two lengths.

Final: Mrs. Searle and Miss Castle, 1.

Champion Fours.—Course, from Walker's Hospital Wharf to Gladesville, 1½m.

Leichhardt Rowing Club (No. 1 Crew): M. Symons (bow), 10s 4lb; P. Hallstrom, 12st 2lb; A. Kenny, 12st 4lb; J. Cogle (stroke), 11st 4lb; Allen Ramsay (cox), 1.

Balmain Rowing Club: S. Grant, 10st 10lb; S. Amess, 11st 4lb; E. Halborn, 12st; J. Robinson (stroke), 11st; W. Waldegrave (cox), 2.

Enterprise Rowing Club: C. Anderson (bow), 10st 12lb; J. Goswell, 11st 12lb; T. Roderick, 11st 2lb; H. Green, 11st 4lb (stroke), 3.

Leichhardt (No. 2 Crew), and Sydney Rowing Club also started.

Mr. M'Gregor got the boats away to a very good start, Leichhardt No. 1 being the first away, followed by Sydney. At Mortlake, Leichhardt No. 1 crew settled down to a nice long swing, followed by Enterprise and Balmain half a length in the rear, Sydney being last. Leichhardt, Enterprise, and Balmain were well together, and towards the finish Balmain made a brave effort, but Leichhardt won a very exciting race by a few feet.

Invitation Eights.—Course, from Putney to Gladesville, about 1m.—W. Koltz's crew, 1; G. Gumming's crew, 2; F. Erkard's crew, 3.

An excellent race, and, considering that the crews were mixed, the form was very good. A fourth crew would have started, but one of the clubs refused to allow their practice eight to be used.

Club Trial Fours.—Course, from Putney Wharf to N.S.W. R.A. Boathouse, Gladesville, about 1m.

A. L. Webb (bow), 10st; L. A. Hanlon, 11st 10lb; E. O. Moore, 9st 6lb; Gordon Smith, 10st (stroke), 1.

M. Garland (bow), 9st 7lb; A. Turner, 11st; A. J. Bulte, 9st 6lb; N. Lethbridge, 11st 7lb, 2.

Only two crews started, as the various clubs did not assist the North Shore Club by placing their four-oar boats at its disposal.

FANCY-DRESS CREWS.

Misses Browne, Riley, Hickey ("The Swan," St. David's Ladies' Rowing Club), 1; Misses Day, Richmond, Bateman ("Geisha Girl," St. David's Ladies' Rowing Club), and Misses F. and E. Crozier (Western Suburbs Ladies' Rowing Club) tied for second prize.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

The programme framed for the Canterbury Park October meeting on the 25th inst. demands the attention of owners and trainers to-day, for at 4 p.m. entries close with the secretary, Mr. W. L. Davis. The prize money aggregates 750 sovs, of which 150 sovs goes to the Canterbury Handicap, 125 sovs each to the Flying Handicap, Park Stakes, Three-years-old Handicap and the Shorts Handicap, and 100 sovs to the Jumpers' Flat Race.

The weights for City Tattersall's Club Spring meeting are promised this forenoon.

Messrs. H. Chisholm and Co. hold their annual spring sale of blood stock to-day at their stables, Randwick, commencing at 2.30 p.m. The lots catalogued include drafts of brood mares from the Plashett stud, in this State, and from New Zealand; the stallions Pontano, Currabulah Lad, Metallicus, and Llanwern; the racehorses Respect, Mulford, Former, Raise the Wind (imp.), Orama, Malt Flag, etc.; and untried stock, among which the sires Flavus (imp.), St. Savin (imp.), Cearicn (imp.), Fighting Furley (imp.), Newhaven, and Volpone (imp.) are represented.

The Western Australian Turf Club has provided valuable prizes for the two principal handicaps included in the bill of fare for the annual race meeting at mid-summer, and for which the secretary, Mr. George H. Wickham, invites entries up to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, the 28th inst. The items are the Perth Cup of 2000 sovs, 2m, and the Railway Stakes of 1000 sovs, 1¼m. At the same time nominations will be received for the W.A.T.C. St. Leger Stakes of 750 sovs, 1¾m, for now three-year-olds, to be run at the W.A.T.C. autumn meeting, 1914. Nominations can also be lodged up to the hour mentioned at the offices of the A.J.C., Sydney; V.R.C., Melbourne; and S.A.J.C., Adelaide.

The stipendiary stewards at Randwick on Saturday interviewed J. S. M'Donald, the rider of Magas in the Squatters' Handicap, with regard to his fall on the previous Monday. M'Donald, who has nearly recovered from the effects of his mishap, explained that his mount got on the heels of a horse in front of him, and that he did not regard the occurrence as other than accidental. He attached no blame to anyone.

Entries close to-day with the secretary, Mr. J. Grisdale, for the five events on the card for the Charities' Day meeting to be held on the 22nd inst. under the auspices of the Newcastle Jockey Club. The prize money totals 450 sovs, of which 100 sovs each endows the Benevolent Handicap, Charity Handicap, and Waratah Handicap, and 75 sovs each the Hospital Welter and Nurses' Handicap. This appeal to sportsmen should meet with a cordial response.

The stipendiary stewards at Randwick on Saturday thought P. Maher rode Posinatus an unsatisfactory race in the Randwick Plate, and told him so. The trouble appears to have arisen through Maher trying to carry out "waiting" instructions.

The Albert Club holds a race meeting on the Kembla Grange racecourse on Tuesday, the 21st inst, and for the half-dozen items on the card the honorary secretary, Mr. S. Mannix, invites entries up to 4 p.m. to-day at the office of the Kembla Grange Racing Club, Castlereagh-street, city. The prize money amounts to 300 sovs, of which 70 sovs goes to the Albert Cup, 50 sovs each to the Flying Handicap, Park Stakes, and Club Welter, and 40 sovs each to the Maiden Handicap and District Purse.

Mr. E. E. D. Clarke's colours were borne into first and second places in the V.A.T.C. Debutant Stakes at Caulfield on Saturday by a couple of fillies of his own breeding, and both of whom claim the imported horse The Welkin (son of Flying Fox) as sire. Cleis, the dam of the winner, Spica, is by Wallace (son of Carbine) from Wigelmar, by Bill of Portland (son of St. Simon) from the Trenton mare Etraweenie; while Cape Hatteras (imp.), the dam of Hathor, is by William the Third from Hattie, by Kendal from Skarte, by Silvester. Spica had already gained the winning list at the V.R.C. October meeting, and both are engaged in the V.R.C. Maribyrnong Plate, in which Spica will have to put up 10lb extra for her Debutant success.

Duke Foote, who carried 2lb more than his Melbourne Cup impost in the Randwick Plate on Saturday, was made favourite for the two miles handicap, and only a short price was forthcoming from the pencillers who did business on that event in the paddock after the close of the racing. Harpist, who had 8lb more than his Melbourne Cup weight in the saddle, was second favourite, double the odds offered against Duke Foote being available about the son of Sir Tristram, while Radnor was four points away next. For the Caulfield Cup Anna Carlovna and Mountain Princess disputed favouritism, a point in advance of Sea Prince.

Twenty sires—10 of whom were imported and one an English sire—were represented on the winning list at the A.J.C. Spring Meeting. With such a doughty performer as Duke Foote to act on his behalf, the defunct Sir Foote (imp.) had three wins; Maltster had two, Aleconner and Golden Hop; Flavus two, Mandowa and Alured; while sires with one winning representative each were Merriwee (N.Z.), Challenger (imp.), Multiform, Ruenalf, Soult (imp.), Ayr Laddie (imp.), Mozart, Earlston (imp.), Taree, Herloch, Positano (imp.), Traquair (imp.), Trussing Cup (imp.), Playbill (imp.), Captain Webb (N.Z.), Tarka, and Lally.

Seventeen trainers led in winners at Randwick during the four days' spring carnival, and the most successful was J. Barden, whom Duke Foote credited with three wins, and Challenge Crosse, Alfred Jackson, and Croaska one each; Mr. J. E. O'Brien had two winners, Beragoon and Golden Hop; and I. Earnshaw two, Marcultus and Woorak; while those who trained a winner each were D. J. Price (Vic.), F. Musgrave (Vic.), S. S. Martin, F. Davis (N.Z.), J. Allsop, R. P. King, J. H. Lamb, P. Nolan, G. Gilbert, H. Rayner, W. Kelso, T. Lloyd (N.Z.), M. Thompson, and H. England.

The list of winning jockeys at the A.J.C. Spring Meeting is headed by W. M'Lachlan with five, three of which were achieved on Duke Foote and one each on Challenge Crosse and Alfred Jackson; the New Zealand horseman, C. Emerson, piloted three winners—Mandowa in the Suburban Handicap, Matouree in the Waverley Handicap, and Croaska in the Members' Handicap; W. Adams two, Wimmera in the First Hurdle Race and Glenmore in the Dowling Steeplechase; J. Pike two, Beragoon in the Derby and Golden Hop in the Shorts; P. Maher two, Eugeny in the Breeders' Plate and Riverbird in the Squatters' Handicap; and A. Wood two, Woorak in the Gimcrack Stakes and Limelight in the Final Handicap; while those with a winning mount each were K. Bracken (Vic.), A. Shanahan, A. Oliver (N.Z.), J. Lightfoot, A. Hawkins, J. O'Connell, W. H. Smith, and P. J. Foley.

The steamer Runic, which arrived in port on Saturday, brought from England two thoroughbred fillies, purchased on behalf of Mr. Walter T. Brunton—b f (foaled 1912), by Cicero from Ben Doran, by Bend Or; and ch f (foaled 1912), by The Wag (brother to Topiary, the dam of Tracery) from Amphinome, by Amphion. The youngsters were landed in good condition.

VICTORIAN TRAINING NOTES.

CAULFIELD.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

It was dull and close this morning, but there was not much doing outside the horses spurting for their engagements this afternoon. Sea Prince did a good working gallop of a mile and a half in 2m 46s, Meritus assisting him the last mile in 1m 49s. The Parisian (McCloud) went attractively for two miles in 3m 41½s, doing his initial mile in 1m 51s, and his next in 1m 50½s. He pulled up all right. Tandanga spurted five furlongs in 1m 4½s. Ben's Charge ran a mile in 1m 54½s, and Gladwyn was 1m 57½s over a similar distance. Uki bowled along for nine furlongs in 2m 4s. Golden Shore and Offa went steadily. Powerful galloped a mile in 1m 51s. Wisconsin, Fosterton, and Monorail were 1m 9s running five furlongs. Belove and Sequarious were let off with easy tasks. Majestic Nut slipped over six furlongs in 1m 23s, and Elvanite followed him in 1m 22½s. Kase hit out for a mile in 1m 53s, and others to go that distance were Darrawa and Minnieboro, in 1m 50½s, and Posilipo in 1m 50½s. Crossgonne was responsible for a mile and a quarter in 2m 18s. Mousme did three-quarter pace exercise.

FLEMINGTON.

It was fine, calm, and pleasant this morning when the tracks were in excellent condition, and the tan very fast going. A very early start was made by Monodia (J. Higgins), and Nari (A. Renny), running a mile in 1m 49½s. Uncle Matt and Wise King galloped a mile and a quarter on the tan in 2m 12s. Lord Walla (J. Killorn)) and Burrinjuck (E. Baker) were associated for six furlongs on the tan in 1m 19s. Crucis (E. Barker) spurted half a mile on the tan in 52s, a performance about equalled by Bay Malt (J. Killorn), while Lao was 54s, Rosyth and Ethne 54½s, and Boongarry and Mountain God 54s, going the same distance, which was also covered in a little over even time by Wolowa, who has filled out considerably during his spell. Maharajah (J. Killorn) was going very easily alongside of Clanyard and Ciarngarroch for half-a-mile in 54½s. North Woodleigh (G. Harrison) was well in hand for six furlongs in 1m 25½s. Coora went along for half a mile on the tan in 53½s. Uncle Sam went freely enough while striding along for a mile in 2m 3s, and Doongarra and Arcadian covered the same ground in 1m 55½s. It did not look to cost Effervescence (light boy) any particular effort to gallop once round the sand (eleven furlongs) in 2m 29½s; and Tisgo also did well spurting half a mile in 50s. Gun Girl from a standing start took 3s longer, and her performance under similar conditions was just about repeated by Sanctity, Uxbridge, and Hypo, who ran a tan mile in 1m 55½s. Lacus was three-quarters of a second longer for a like task. Positus had little speed on for the first two furlongs of a mile and a quarter on the tan, but did the final mile in 1m 49s. Traquette, who looks very smart, was going very easily for five furlongs in 1m 11s. Tondoro did a furlong less on the tan in 55s. Captain White was striding along, his last half-mile being done in 58s. Sanskrit (light boy) galloped a mile and a quarter on the tan in 2m 30s, and he did the first mile in 1m 47½s.

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

While the racing at Caulfield yesterday could hardly be called exciting, and while it was less important from the standpoint of the class of horses engaged than some past Guineas days, it did not lack interest. The clash with the A.J.C. spring meeting has been felt in a marked degree by the V.A.T.C. this season. There were only two Sydney horses running on Saturday, and both the Guineas and Debutant Stakes were confined to local horses. Andelosia's reputation, which was damaged at Randwick, was, to some extent, established again by his fine performance in the Guineas. It can be admitted at once that the class of his opponents, judged on public form, was, excepting the case of Eubulus and Kildalton, just ordinary; but Andelosia won in fine style, an din very fair time. The fear that he would fail to finish strongly in yesterday's race, owing to his not having had a strong gallop since the previous Monday, when the Clibborn Stakes was run at Randwick, did not prove well grounded, as the colt ran away from his field in the last two furlongs.

Though Anna Carlovna failed to come up to expectations in the Caulfield Stakes, those who fancy her for the Caulfield Cup should not lose heart. When she won at Flemington she led all the way; but yesterday, though the distance was a furlong shorter, she was ridden from behind. She did not get too good a run, but finished fairly well. She probably shapes best when allowed to run in her own way.

The English horse, Audacity, shows signs of lameness off-and-on, and he was that way yesterday morning. Though taken to the course, it was not decided to start him in the Caulfield stakes until the last moment. He exhibited no signs of soreness in doing his preliminary, and after running a fine race pulled up apparently all right. Mountain Princess was returned the winner, but she only won by a neck, and Audacity struggled on gamely to the end. Mountain Princess, as was the case in her two previous wins, gained considerable ground through slipping up on the rails at the straight entrance. She looks in great condition. The winner of the Caulfield Stakes has never won a Caulfield Cup, but, of course, Mountain Princess's may prove the exception. This is how the weights in yesterday's race compare with the Caulfield Cup imposts:—

	Caulfield Stakes.	Caulfield Cup.
Mountain Princess (1st)	8st 13lb	7st 13lb
Audacity (2nd)	8st 11lb	7st 11lb
Anna Carlovna (3rd)	8st 9lb	7st 8lb
Wassail (4th)	8st 4lb	7st 5lb
Willow Green (5th)	9st 1lb	7st 11lb
Broadsword (last)	9st 4lb	8st 1lb

The time for the Debutant Stakes on Saturday, 49¼s, is a record for the race, the previous best being 49¾s, by Golden Gauntlet, two years ago.

The latest arrivals from Sydney are:—Belove, Sequarious, and Golden Shore, all of whom are located at Caulfield. Three are in the Caulfield Cup.

Grand Marshal was to have started in the Caulfield Guineas yesterday, but his departure from Sydney was delayed, and though he was in Melbourne he had been too brief a time off the train to think of running him.

V.A.T.C. SPRING MEETING.

ANDELOSIA WINS CAULFIELD GUINEAS.

MOUNTAIN PRINCESS CAULFIELD STAKES.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

There was, compared with the previous day, a complete change in the weather on Saturday. It was still close in the early morning, but later on a cold wind sprang up, and before the afternoon was through drizzling rain fell. The day was against an elaborate display of spring costumes, but ladies attended the opening of the Victorian Amateur Turf Club's Spring meeting at Caulfield in strong numbers, and the dressing if not gorgeous was neat. The attendance was not up to that associated with the opening day last year. Interstate competition was numerically speaking weak. Only a couple of Sydney horses put in an appearance, and one of them, Valido, made an exhibition of his field in the Toorak Handicap. The track was in splendid order, record time (for Caulfield) being registered in the Debutant Stakes.

An excellent start was made when 25 went to the post for the Iolo Welter. Recaller was always favourite, and he eventually went out at 5 to 2. Onaser was next in demand at 7 to 1, while Macduff, Avance, and Moonbria were also in good request. Avance made the early running, but at the railway side Moonbria took command, and led into the straight. Macduff headed Moonbria at the distance, and beat him home by two lengths, while Avance and Onaser were nearest of the others. Recaller was always well up, but he failed to come on, and finished some distance from the leaders. Macduff is owned by Mr. W. Leonard, a member of the V.R.C. committee.

There were eight starters for the Debutant Stakes, and Hathor was always favourite, with Fidelio, Newberry, and Blague next fancied, while Spica, who had 10lb penalty for her win in the Maribyrnong Trial Stakes, was also fairly well backed. Scobie's pair, Hathor and Spica, were always at or near the front. Hathor was first into the straight, but at the half-distance Spica was alongside of her, and a fine finish ended in favour of Spica by half a length. Blague was a moderate third, and Crown Steel beat the others. The result of the race provided a fine advertisement for Mr. E. E. D. Clarke's imported horse, The Welkin, who sired both Spica and Hathor.

Anna Carlovna opened favourite for the Caulfield Stakes, and for a long time she was at odds on, but at the close of betting operations even money was available about her. Willow Green made the early running, but at the three furlongs post Broadsword headed him. The field closed up at the home turn, and Mountain Princess, getting a lucky run on the rails, was in the lead shortly after the straight was entered. Audacity closed up at the distance, and a great race home ensued. Mountain Princess sustained her run well, and seeing the race right out, beat Audacity by a neck. Anna Carlovna was two lengths away third, and Wassail next. Mountain Princess is in great form. She won the October Stakes at Flemington last Saturday, and in the opinion of many good judges should have been favourite to-day instead of Anna Carlovna. The winner is in the Caulfield Cup at the nice weight of 7st 13lb, and is bound to run well in that event, but she is small, and a large field may not suit her as well as a small one. She is now trained at Caulfield by C. Wilson, and since going into his hands has not suffered defeat, this being her third successive win. She beat Anna Carlovna in the Heatherlie Handicap at Caulfield before registering her October Stakes success.

In a field of seven, the top weight—Jack Windsor—started favourite for the Ringwood Steeple, while Dunloe, Pladda, and Comus were also well backed. Jack Windsor was in front over the last round, and stalling off Comus in the straight, won by half a length, Dunloe finishing third.

The field for the Caulfield Guineas comprised 11, or one more than last year. On the score of quality, it was not a good, all-round field. Andelosia and Eubulus represented the best class, but Eubulus has lately proved very hard to train. Andelosia stood out as the gentleman of the party, but nothing looked fitter than Kildalton, who was strung right out. He had two classic events in Adelaide to his credit. Backers thought he might follow up the form by winning here. Andelosia was, however, always a hot favourite, and at the finish of the betting a slight shade of odds was laid on him. Kildalton was next in request, but sevens could easily be obtained about him, while Rameses and Maltravers also had a fair number of followers. Maltravers jumped out in front, but Kildalton and Andelosia were smartly off and never allowed the leaders to get far away. At the end of half a mile Kildalton, Andelosia, Scotch Malt, and Maltage were practically in line. As soon as the straight was entered Andelosia came away, and in a few strides had the field in hopeless trouble. He came on at his leisure and, though Kildalton finished gamely, he could never extend Andelosia, who won by only a length, but if required could have made the margin much more pronounced.

The whole of the 14 acceptors for the Toorak Handicap went to the post, the A.J.C. Epsom Handicap winner, Aleconner, despite the fact that he carried a 10lb penalty, being a pronounced favourite, with Valido, who had run a close fourth in the Epsom Handicap, next in demand. Yeneda, Mintstone, and Ireland were the best backed of the others. Valido is usually troublesome at the post, and he delayed the start somewhat. He eventually got off fairly well, and quickly worked his way to the front. Once he got there nothing had a chance against him. Valido possesses great pace, and the majority of his opponents were being hard ridden at the home turn without being able to make the least impression on him. He won in hollow fashion from Mintstone, while Flaith just cut Aleconner out of third place. Valido has hitherto been considered a non-stayer, but he lasted out the mile, and put up record time for Caulfield. Aleconner had every chance, but failed to show his Epsom Handicap brilliancy. The trip over from Sydney may have upset him. Mintstone pulled up very lame. Results:—

IOLO WELTER, 7f.

Mr. W. Leonard's Macduff, by Traquair—Columbia, 7st 7lb (W. Minter) 1
Mr. E. J. Watt's Moonbria, allowed 3lb, carried 7st 10lb (W. McLeod) 2
Mr. H. J. Whittingham's Avance, 7st 5lb (G. Lambert) 3

Other starters: Kwasind, allowed 5lb, carried 9st 4lb (Cody); Roseview, 8st 7lb (Cameron); Prince Malt, 9st 1lb (Potter); Yandilla King, 8st 1lb (Cundin); Nyan, 8st 13lb (Clarke); The Beggar Maid, 8st 13lb (G. Harrison); Bullawarra, 8st 11lb (M'Gregor); Recaller, 8st 9lb (Cairns); Royal Silver, 8st 7lb (Kelly); Elshon, Baldoyle, all. 5lb, carried 7st 12lb (Ridgway); Lady Mooltan, 8st 1lb (Baird); Posio, 7st 13lb (Killorn); Etruscan, 8st 2lb, inc. 7lb penalty, 7st 9lb (Lewis); Defence, all. 5lb, carried 7st 4lb (W. Smart); St. Constant, 7st 9lb (Leonard); Yourda, all. 3lb, carried 7st 4lb (B. Cain); Balranald, 7st 9lb, inc. 3lb over (Ross); Cock of the North, 7st 7lb (Holland); Onaser, 7st 7lb (Turner); Bowmore, 7st 7lb (Barker); Nikopoli, 7st 7lb (Kenny).

Betting: 5 to 2 v Recaller, 7 to 1 v Onaser, 8 to 1 each v Avance and MacDuff, 10 to 1 v Moonbria, 12 to 1 each v Royal Silver and Lady Mooltan, 15 to 1 each v The Beggar Maid, and Bullawarra.

Avance was quickest away, and at the back of the course was two lengths in front of The Beggar Maid, Recaller, MacDuff, and Posio. Racing down the railway side, MacDuff had run to the front, and was just clear of Avance, Recaller, and The Beggar Maid, who were together, with Moonbria next. Approaching the turn Moonbria worked his way to the front, and led into the straight from MacDuff, Avance, Recaller, and Onaser. MacDuff passed Moonbria before the distance was reached, and won easily from him by two lengths, with Avance three-quarters of a length further back. Then came Onaser, The Beggar Maid, Bullawarra, and Lady Mooltan, with Nikopoli last. Time, 1m 26½s.

DEBUTANT STAKES.—4f.

Mr. E. E. D. Clarke's Spica, by The Welkin—Cleis, 8st 5lb, inc. 10lb pen. (J. Killorn) 1
Mr. E. E. D. Clarke's Hathor, 8st 9lb (R. Lewis) 2
Mr. S. A. Rawdon's Blague, 9st inc. 14lb pen. (W. Smart) 3

Other starters: Worwood, 8st (Osborne); Fidelio, 8st (Turner); Newberry, 8st (Ettershank); Crown Steel, 8st (Lambert); Orillia, 7st 9lb (Kenny).

Betting: 2 to 1 v Hathor, 4 to 1 v Fidelio, 9 to 2 v Newberry, 4 to 1 v Blague, 8 to 1 v Spica, 15 to 1 v Crown Steel.

Hathor, Spica, and Blague were first off. Hathor and Spica led along the railway side from Newberry, Blague, and Crown Steel, with Wormwood last. Into the straight Hathor had control from Spica, Blague, and Newberry. At the half distance Spica went to the front and won by half a length from Hathor, who was two and a half lengths ahead of Blague. Then came Crown Steel, Newberry, Fidelio, and Wormwood, with Orillia last. Time, 49¼s.

CAULFIELD STAKES.—9f.

Mr. J. Mawley's Mountain Princess, by Hymettus—Princess Beatrice, 8st 13lb (G. Harrison) 1
Messrs. Clarke Bros.' Audacity, 8st 11lb (R. Lewis) 2
Mr. E. A. Connolly's Anna Carlovna, 8st 9lb (E. Turner) 3

Other starters: Wassail, 8st 4lb (Hopwood); Broadsword, 9st 4lb (W. Smart); Willow Green, 9st (Lilyman).

Betting: Even money on Anna Carlovna, 5 to 2 v Mountain Princess, 7 to 1 v Willow Green, 8 to 1 v Audacity.

Willow Green jumped out from Anna Carlovna, Mountain Princess, and Audacity. Broadsword was the last to leave the post. Entering the back stretch, Willow Green had charge from Mountain Princess, Anna Carlovna, Broadsword, and Audacity, with Wassail last. Along the back of the course Willow Green was two lengths from Mountain Princess, Anna Carlovna, Broadsword, and Audacity, with Wassail still at the rear. Rounding the far turn Willow Green was still in the lead followed by Broadsword, Mountain Princess, and Anna Carlovna. Audacity and Wassail were together last. Willow Green had the advantage of a length from Broadsword along the railway side, and, after another length and a half, came Mountain Princess, Anna Carlovna, and Wassail, with Audacity last. Wassail, Broadsword, and Willow Green were together about three furlongs from home, while close behind them were Mountain Princess and Anna Carlovna. Wassail had an advantage from Willow Green rounding the turn, and then followed Audacity, Mountain Princess, and Anna Carlovna. Mountain Princess was first into the straight from Audacity, and the pair raced home together, Mountain Princess finally winning by a neck. Anna Carlovna was third, two lengths behind Audacity. Wassail was fourth, Willow Green fifth, and Broadside last. Time, 1m 56½s.

RINGWOOD STEEPLECHASE.—About 2m.

Mr. T. Powell's Jack Windsor, by Windsor—Persuasion, 12st 1lb (J. M'Gregor) 1
Mr. G. Coleman's Comus, 10st 13lb (R. Koops) 2
Mr. Hawthorn's Dunloe, 10st 11lb (D. Coleman) 3

Other starters: Pladda, 10st 5lb (O'Neill); Noogah, 9st 5lb (Cosgrove), Aulic, 9st (Leahy); Leopardstown, 9st (Morris).

Betting: 9 to 4 v Jack Windsor, 7 to 2 v Dunloe, 9 to 2 v Pladda, 5 to 1 v Comus, 15 to 1 v Noogah.

Aulic showed the way over the first fence from Pladda, Jack Windsor, and Dunloe, with Comus last. Noogah, Aulic, and Jack Windsor were together at the first of the treble. Jack Windsor took charge at the last of the treble, and running along the back Jack Windsor was just in front of Comus, Dunloe, and Pladda. Jack Windsor led over the rest of the distance, and won by half a length from Comus, who finished three lengths ahead of Dunloe. Pladda was fourth, Noogah fifth, and Aulic last. Time, 3m 49s.

CAULFIELD GUINEAS.—1m.

Messrs. A. D. Murphy and M. Sheldon's Andelosia, by Fortunatus—Diffidence, 8st 5lb (C. Lambert) 1
Mr. J. N. McArthur's Kildalton, 8st 5lb (J. Killorn) 2
Mr. J. Widdis' Eubulus, 8st 5lb (R. Lewis) 3

Other starters: Maltravers, 8st 5lb (Connell); Allansford, 8st 5lb (Thomas); Maltage, 8st 5lb (Clarke); Singlestick, 8st 5lb (Munter); Rameses, 8st 5lb (Manning); Kingburgh, 8st 5lb (Ross); Quairburn, 8st (Leonard); Scotch Malt, 8st (C. Andrews).

Betting: 5 to 4 on Andelosia, 7 to 1 v Kildalton, 10 to 1 v Rameses, 12 to 1 each v Maltravers and Eubulus, 20 to 1 each v Quairburn, Scotch Malt, Maltage, and Singlestick.

Maltravers was first to find his legs, while Maltage was last to move. When the settled down Maltravers took charge from Kildalton, Andelosia, Scotch Malt, Quairburn, and Rameses. Kildalton went to the front at the back, followed by Andelosia, Scotch Malt, Maltage, Quairburn, Maltravers, and Singlestick. Rounding the far turn, Kildalton, Andelosia, and Scotch Malt were all close together from Maltage, Maltravers, Singlestick, and Eubulus. Maltage, Andelosia, and Kildalton were bunched down the railway side, the nearest of the others being Scotch Malt, Singlestick, Maltravers, and Kingsburgh, with Rameses last. Andelosia rounded the turn ahead of Kildalton, Scotch Malt, Singlestick, and Maltage. Andelosia was first into the straight from Kildalton, Singlestick, Eubulus, and Scotch Malt. Andelosia still held his advantage at the distance from Kildalton, Singlestick, Eubulus, and Maltravers, and easily stalling off a challenge by Kildalton, Andelosia won by a length. Eubulus was third, three lengths behind Kildalton. Singlestick and Rameses were fourth, and then came Kingsburgh, Maltravers, Allansford, Quairburn, and Scotch Malt, with Maltage last. Time, 1m 42½s.

TOORAK HANDICAP, 1m.

Mr. A. B. Cooper's Valido (imp.), by Veles—Seaveway, 8st 5lb (W. Lilyman) 1
Mr. A. H. Carkeek's Mintstone, 7st 11lb (Jos. Higgins) 2
Mr. J. Turnbull's Flaith, 7st 13lb (W. Manning) 3

Other starters: Ireland, 8st 5lb (Connell); Aleconner, 9st 9lb (Bracken); Ptah, 8st (Killorn); The Lintie, 8st 1lb (Ettershank); Avonwort, 7st 12lb (G. Harrison); Greek Fire, 7st 11lb (Clarke); Peck-O'-Maut, 7st 11lb (Kelly); Indiscreet, 7st 8lb (Leonard); Yeneda, 7st 3lb (Turner); Golden Goblet, 6st 9lb (Jackson); Field General, 6st 7lb (B. Cain).

Betting: 9 to 4 v Aleconner, 7 to 2 v Valido, 8 to 1 each v Yeneda and Mintstone, 10 to 1 v Ireland, 12 to 1 v The Lintie, 15 to 1 each v Flaith, Avonwort, and Field General, 25 to 1 each v others.

Aleconner, Golden Goblet, Peck-O'-Maut, Mintstone, and The Lintie were first out of the barrier, while Indiscreet was last. Along the back Valido was showing the way to Peck-O'-Maut, Field General, Aleconner, and Greek Fire, with Avonwort last. Valido still had charge at the far turn from Peck-O'-Maut, Field General, Ireland, Aleconner, Greek Fire, Flaith, Indiscreet, and Yeneda, with Avonwort at the rear. Valido led along the railway side from Peck-O'-Maut, Field General, Mintstone, Aleconner, Greek Fire, Yeneda, and Indiscreet, with Avonwort last. Rounding the turn Valido was still ahead of Peck-O'-Maut, Ireland, Aleconner, Flaith, and Yeneda. Valido led into the straight, attended by Peck-O'-Maut, Aleconner, and Mintstone, and running home won comfortably by three lengths from Mintstone, who was a length ahead of Flaith. Aleconner was fourth, and then came Greek Fire, Avonwort, Peck-O'-Maut, and Yeneda, with Indiscreet and Golden Goblet the last pair. Time, 1m 40½s.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN TATTERSALL'S CLUB.

ROMULUS WINS TATTERSALL'S CLUB HANDICAP.

PERTH, Sunday.

The Western Australian Tattersall's Club meeting was held yesterday at Belmont Park. Fields were good, but the attendance, owing to the agricultural show and other counter attractions, was only moderate. Liberator, winner of the Third-class Plate, paid a dividend of £53 2s for 10s. Results:—

CYCLING.

REDFERN CLUB'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

WON BY C. M. CUTCLIFFE.

C. M. Cutcliffe, the successful union back-marker, had a comparatively easy task on Saturday afternoon when he was matched with his club mates from the same mark in the Redfern Club's annual 10 mile road championship. Cutcliffe won easily, but A. A. Patrick, who put up such a good ride in the "Speedwell 50," stayed with the champion for the greater part of the journey, and was placed second by beating G. Matterson in the sprint home. The result was: C. M. Cutcliffe, riding time, 28m 14 4-5s, 1; A. A. Patrick, riding time, 28m 20s, 2; G. Matterson, 28m 20 2-5s, 3.

Cutcliffe has now won the Redfern Club's road championship three years in succession. There were 10 starters.

BALMAIN CLUB'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

WON BY J. H. BRADDOCK.

The Balmain Club held its annual 10 miles road championship over the Rydalmere course on Saturday afternoon. The result was:—J. H. Braddock, 1; W. Johnstone, 2; W. Martin, 3. Braddock covered the course in 27m 28s. No outside pacing was allowed.

MARRICKVILLE CLUB'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

WON BY H. GRIERSON.

Following is the result of the Marrickville Club's 20 miles road championship, which was held over the Burwood-Bankstown course on Saturday afternoon:—H. Grierson, riding time 57m 15s, 1; C. Grierson, 2.

NORTHERN SUBURBS AMATEUR CLUB.

BUTCHER SHIELD COMPETITION.

The Northern Suburbs Amateur Club held a 10 miles road race in connection with the Butcher Shield competition over the Roseville course on Saturday afternoon. The heavy and dusty condition of the course and the torpid weather were against fast times. The two scratch men, K. A. Wagschall and E. J. Stidwell, had little difficulty in overhauling the remaining ten riders, Wagschall winning in the sprint by a couple of lengths. The result was:—K. A. Wagschall, scr, riding time 29m 4s, 1; E. J. Stidwell, scr, riding time 29m 5s, 2; H. C. Turville, handicap 3m, riding time 32m 24s; F. Weitzel, handicap 1m 2s, riding time 31m 47s, 4. Wagschall, of course, secured fastest time.

WESTERN SUBURBS CLUB.

Following is the result of the Western Suburbs Club's 10 miles members' road race, which was held over the Burwood-Enfield course on Saturday afternoon:—L. Hammond, handicap 2m 10s, riding time 29m 27s, 1; W. Hill, handicap 1m 30s, riding time 29m 48s, 2; N. Hind, handicap 3m 20s, riding time 31m 20s, 3.

S. Edworthy secured the fastest time for the course in 28m 32s.

CENTRAL CUMBERLAND CLUB.

Following is the result of the Central Cumberland Club's 10 miles road race, which was held over the Baulkham Hills course on Saturday afternoon:—W. Hillsden, 1; J. Banks, 2; F. Patterson, 3.

Patterson secured the fastest time for the course in 28m 57s.

ARROW LEAGUE CLUB.

Following is the result of the Arrow Club's five miles members' road race, which was held over the Rydalmere course on Saturday afternoon:—E. M'Neil (handicap 40s), 1; M. Gleeson (handicap 1m 20s, 2; C. Newton (handicap, 1m 50s), 3.

McNeil secured the fastest time for the course in 12m 2s.

NORTHERN SUBURBS LEAGUE CLUB.

The Northern Suburbs League Club will hold a three-quarter mile handicap event for members at the Sydney Sports Ground on Wednesday evening. The handicaps will be declared on Tuesday.

LIVERPOOL TRACK CARNIVAL.

The entries for the open half-mile and one and a half mile handicaps, 5 miles scratch and novelty events, under the auspices of the New South Wales Cyclists' Union, by the Liverpool Bicycle Club, at Liverpool, have been extended until mid-day to-day, at the Sports Club.

WARATAH CUP.

BATHURST, Saturday.

The Waratah Cup cycling competition over an 11 miles course to-day, resulted:—R. Tooby, 1; W. Toole, 2; Low, 3. The fastest time was secured by J. Ovens, in 28m 31s, which is a record for the course.

MOTOR CYCLING.

JUNEE CARNIVAL.

Following are the complete results of the motor cycle races held under the auspices of the Auto-cycle Association of New South Wales at Junee on October 8:—Lap Dash: B. Oehm, (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 1; F. Oehms (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 2; F. H. March (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 3. Race for "full roadster" models, distance 3m: W. Selems (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 1; F. Oehms (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 2; R. H. Swan (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 3. Slow race: W. Selems (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 1; F. Oehms (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 2. Ten miles race: B. Oehms (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 1; F. H. March (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 2; R. Ralston (3½-Rudge-Whitworth), 3. Potato race: W. Selems (3½-h.p. Speedwell). Five miles open race: R. Ralston (3½-h.p. Rudge-Whitworth), 1; B. Oehms (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 2; F. H. March (3½-h.p. Speedwell), 3.

F. H. March failed in his attempt to lower the hour record for New South Wales standing to the credit of W. E. McCarthy, of Wagga. March rode well for the first half-hour, but slackened towards the end of his ride, a misfortune he puts down to the failure of the fuel supply. When the tank was examined at the conclusion of the run it was found to be bone-dry. B. Oehms also rode splendidly throughout the day, but was unfortunate in the open race, experiencing sparking plug troubles when well in the lead. Ralston's win, however, was well merited.

POWER BOATING.

MOTOR YACHT CLUB OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

Entries close on Saturday with Mr. Ernest C. Griffith, hon. secretary of the Motor Yacht Club of New South Wales, for the general handicap, open to all boats, which will be held by the club on Saturday, October 25, over two laps of the Rose Bay course. The distance is four miles.

The handicaps will be declared on Wednesday, October 22.

MOTORING.

MOTOR TRADERS' ASSOCIATION.

The members of the Motor Traders' Association of New South Wales held their second annual dinner on Friday evening. The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. A. H. Davies. Advantage was taken of the occasion to extend a hearty welcome to Mr. W. B. Larke, vice-president, and Mr. W. J. C. Elliott, who have just returned from a lengthened tour round the world. The health of the wanderers was proposed by Mr. Alick M'Neil, vice-president, and in responding Mr. Larke said no class was more interested in the development of the State than the motor traders, and he especially urged the importance of developing our country towns, and improving our roads as a means of inducing people to settle on the land.

Mr. W. J. C. Elliott gave an interesting account of his experiences in the United States, and mentioned the startling fact that in San Francisco, a city about the size of Sydney, with a population of only 650,000, there were 22,000 motor cars, or more than in the whole of the Australian Commonwealth.

ATHLETICS.

FIVE MILES CHALLENGE WALK.

WON BY SYDNEY AMATEUR CLUB.

The five miles handicap challenge walk between teams representing the Sydney Amateur Walkers Club and the Hornsby Churches' A.A.A. on Saturday was won by the former club, which finished with the smaller debit, viz., 52 points, against 85 points. The race was held at Hornsby, and started and finished at the Post-office.

H. Dent, who has lately been walking so consistently, was the individual winner. He had an allowance of 25s, and put up the fastest time,—40m 34s. Results:—

H. T. Dent (Sydney Walkers' Club, 25s, walking time 40m 34s 1
W. M'Laren (Sydney Walkers' Club), 1m 15s, walking time 41m 36s 2
A. W. Pickard (Sydney Walkers' Club), scratch, walking time, 40m 47s 3
S. Stearns (Sydney Walkers' Club), 30s, walking time 41m 42s 4

W. T. Waters (S.W.C.), 7m, 5; C. M. Cotten (Hornsby), 5m, 6; J. Von Hagen (H.C.A.A.A.), 6m 45s, 7; R. Braithwaite (H.C.A.A.A.), 6m 15s, 8; L. B. West (S.W.C.), 1m 20s, 9, E. W. Fumell (H.C.A.A.A.), 5m, 10, also finished.

When half the distance had been covered Waters held a long lead from Braithwaite, who was followed by Fernell, Potts, M'Laren, and West. A mile from the finish Waters was still in command from Braithwaite, M'Laren, Dent, and Pickard. Dent, who was walking in fine style, then passed the leaders, and finished 12s ahead of M'Laren, with Pickard, who started from scratch, 26s further back third.

BOWLS.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

Saturday was an off day with bowlers. The playing spaces are getting scarce, and for the next few weeks the majority of the greens will receive their annual top-dressing. It was a club day at Marrickville, and the president, Mr. J. Wall, was the recipient of several handsome presents from the members, including a silver tea and coffee service. The presentation took place at a supper, which was presided over by the patron, Mr. Enns, and attended by the president and secretary of the Bowling Association.

The Manly players wore black arm bands, and the flag was lowered to half-mast as a mark of respect to the memory of Mr. H. Trim, who was that day buried at Lismore. The following the the details of the different games:—

SAILING.

ROYAL SYDNEY YACHT SQUADRON.

YACHTING SEASON OPENS.

The members of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron celebrated the opening of the season on Saturday by a series of evolutions, and a rendezvous down the harbour.

The commodore, Sir Alexander MacCormick, took charge of the sailing craft, and delegated the command of the power boats to the vice-commodore, Mr. Arthur Milson.

As the commodore's fine yacht Morna hove in sight, the signal to form squadron was hoisted. This order having been carried out, the signal "N.G.S." (follow me in line) was made, and the sailing boats formed a procession as far as Bradley's Head, where two lines abreast were formed. After several other manoeuvres, the yachts again followed the commodore in line into Chowder Bay, and were joined by the power squadron, which had been manoeuvring as instructed by the vice-commodore from his yacht, Mischief. On the journey to an anchorage in Rose Bay, sail was shortened in response to signals; the fleet then moored under the lee of Steel Point, and dressed ship.

The commodore hoisted his flag, and received his guests on the s.s. Premier, which had followed the yachts with some of the members and guests. The evolutions were very creditably carried out in the fresh nor' east breeze, and a splendid sight was presented to those who attended the rendezvous.

The yachts participating in the outing were:—Morna (Sir Alexander MacCormick), Mischief (Mr. Arthur Milson), Scotia (Mr. P. W. Beemner), Sayonara (Mr. P. Ross), White Wings (Mr. H. J. Muston), Culwulla III. (Mr. W. M. Marks), Arethusa (Drs. Foreman and Jarvie Hood), Petrel (Mr. C. Trebeck), Athene (Mr. D. Carment), Shona (Mr. J. W. Manson), Sunbeam (Mr. A. W. Crane), Viking (Mr. J. A. Muston), Medovena (Mr. G. F. Bestic), Marinya (Mr. N. F. Stephen), Doris (Mr. E. O. Cox), Ruri (Mr. F. Saunders), Istria (Mr. C. M. Barker), Tinkerbell (Mr. B. Sinclair). Among the guests present were:—The flag officers and other officials of the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club, Sydney Amateur Sailing Club, and Motor Yacht Club of New South Wales. The squadron's representative on the Yacht Racing Association, Mr. Channing Heton, who is on a visit to Sydney, was also present.

Cheers were given for the commodore as he transferred his flag from the s.s. Premier to the yacht Morna, just prior to the termination of the outing, which was pronounced a success by all present.

The results of the various races decided on Saturday were:—

SYDNEY CLUB.

18ft Handicap.

Kismet (W. Dunn), scr., £12 1
Arline (W. Edney), 4m, £7 2
Mavis (F. W. Moppett), 1m, £5 3
Lilian (G. Degna), 5½m, £3 4
Australian (Chris. Webb), scr, £2 5
Nimrod (W. J. Duncan), 4m, £1 6

Won by 3m 5s, with 4s between second and third, 15s between third and fourth, 1m 50s between fourth and fifth, and 5s between fifth and sixth. Then came Eunice, Enid, Acme, Livonia, Desdemona, and Sunny South.

PORT JACKSON SKIFF CLUB.

Minora (F. Dearing), 4m 1
Greta (T. Lennie), 7½m 2
Meta (J. Drake), 5½m 3
Ibex (A. Dickinson), 4½m 4

Won by 2m, with 10s between second and third and 1m between third and fourth.

CREMORNE CLUB.

Kestrel (A. R. Marshall), scr 1
Sayonara (R. Macintosh), 3m 2
Coo-ee (R. Millard), 5m 3

Won by 6s, with 2m between second and third. Petuna capsized.

BALMAIN AMATEUR CLUB.

General Handicap.

Canoebie (A. MacPherson), scr 1
Tasman (W. Treloar), 3m 2
Ivy (R. Crawford), 4½m 3

Won by 1m 46s, with 4m 4s between second and third. Merlin started 5m late. Clio had no chance owing to her small sail. Elaine did not start.

ST. GEORGE CLUB.

The St. George Sailing and Motor Boat Club opened the season on Saturday with a series of evolutions, ending with a salutation of the commodore (Mr. Alec. Stuart). The participating boats were:—Sydney (W. Holmes), Stella (W. Douglas), Jessie (W. Kennedy), Botany (S. Garrett), Truant (W. M'Leod), Unique (H. Douglas), Myth (H. Powell), Dearing (H. Sippell), Olympic (B. Parr), Bernie (F. Delaney).

At the conclusion of the manoeuvres a scratch race was sailed twice round a triangular course, for which special prizes were awarded to the first and second in each of the dingy and skiff classes. This proved an interesting event, but Botany and Unique met with mishaps. Olympic was the first home, followed at close intervals by Truant, Stella, and Jessie. During the afternoon a large number of lady visitors were entertained by the committee at afternoon tea, and Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. Brunner were presented with floral baskets by Miss Violet Stroud. Alderman J. Crawford officiated as judge, Mr. J. Harper as starter, and Messrs. S. Kennedy and C. Wilson had general charge of affairs.

NORTHCOTE CUP.

CHALLENGE BY ST. KILDA CLUB.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The St. Kilda Yacht Club has lodged a challenge for the Northcote Cup, which will be sailed in the early part of next year at Sydney. The challenging boat is Mr. Clem Hack's Killara, which last year, when owned by Mr. C. Marshall, was defeated by Messrs. Albert and Sayer's Rawhiti II.

There will also be another Victorian representative, as a syndicate of the members of the Royal Yacht Club of Victoria has placed an order to build a six-metre boat designed by Mr. G. N. Laws, with Mr. J. Savage; and it is proposed to challenge with has also on behalf of that club.

NOTES ON THE RACING.

Kismet struck a day to her liking on Saturday, and, after sailing through the fleet of 18-footers in the Sydney Sailing Club's race, never gave her opponents a chance, and in the capable hands of W. Dunn, won easily.

Once the Australian champion got in front the interest in the contest really became centred in the struggles for the places, and with these the spectators were not disappointed. Arline, Mavis, and Lilian put up a great race for second; while Australian, Nimrod, and Eunice made a close race for fifth place.

Nearly all the boats appeared under their second suits, but Arline was one of the exceptions. The new boats, H. C. Press and Quibree, did not put in an appearance; while Swastika capsized off Clark Island, before the start, and Vision followed suit afterwards.

It was, of course, a work to the New Light, and Golding had only got as far as Bradley's Head when she lowered away and retired. Here Kismet had already disposed of Australian and Eunice, and, standing in to Taylor Bay she caught and put Mavis about.

At this time Advance, Sunny South, and Lilian were fighting matters out at the head of affairs, and a little later on Lilian went to the front, and then led down the harbour. Enid and Livonia were both moving well, but the latter had the bad luck to be caught on her "wrong" tack, and put about four or five times.

Acme, Desdemona, and Nimrod worked the eastern side of the harbour, but this was not as good as the other shore. Kismet had overhauled all her rivals except Lilian at the New Light, where the latter led by 22s. Arline, which had done well, was third, followed in order by Enid, Mavis, Nimrod, Livonia, Eunice, Sunny South, Advance, Australian, Acme, and Desdemona.

Racing up to Shark Island with spinnakers drawing, Lilian did better than most of the onlookers expected, and was leading at the island buoy by 3s from Kismet, which was 15s ahead of Arline, Mavis, now being fourth, followed by Enid, Nimrod, Livonia, Eunice, Australian, Advance, Sunny South, Acme, Desdemona.

The lead up to Clark Island saw Kismet go to the front and round the mark 12s ahead of Lilian, which now had 38s in hand from Arline, with Mavis fourth, and Nimrod fifth. Livonia, Eunice, and Australian made a neck-and-neck race of it to this mark, and rounded in the order written; in fact, Eunice and Australian had made a great battle of it from the start.

Now came the work to Taylor Bay, and this was where Kismet cleared out from her rivals. She did so well that at the Taylor Bay mark she had a lead of about 2½m from Arline. Mavis also did well over this part of the course, and caught Lilian at the Taylor Bay mark, where the order of the others was Nimrod, Australian, Eunice, and Enid.

The rest was easy for Kismet, but there was no certainty about the destination of the second prize. Remembering her bursts of speed over the triangle on the previous Saturday, many thought that Mavis would beat Lilian and Arline, but the breeze was not now as strong as before, and although she passed Lilian before reaching Shark Island, and also closed up somewhat on Arline during the race to the finish, she was still to be behind the latter at the finish, Lilian being a close fourth. Arline made the most of her extras, and in this way landed the second prize.

Nimrod was fifth boat to round Shark Island, closely followed by Australian and Eunice, but, after racing on terms for a while Nimrod struck trouble in setting her spinnaker, and Australian forged ahead, and secured fifth money by a few seconds from Duncan's charge.

SWIMMING.

SEASON OPENS.

The first events of the 1913-14 swimming season were held on Saturday, when three amateur clubs catered for their members with the customary sprint events. At Lavender Bay, the North Sydney Club's 50y handicap was won by the well-known interclub performer, E. C. Fox. In this race S. C. Wright showed good form in winning his heat in 26 1-5s. Another consistent interclub swimmer, Jas. Murray, won the Leichhardt club's race. The other club to open the season was the Metropolitan Ladies' Club, which decided four heats and a final of a 50yds handicap at the Domain baths.

NORTH SYDNEY CLUB.

Fifty Yards Handicap.—First heat: P. Tranquille, 4s, 1; E. C. Fox, 1s, 2; A. Anderson, 10s, 3. Time, 31s.

Second Heat: S. C. Wright, scr., 1; K. Wright, 2s, 2; Q. S. Spedding, 2s, and G. Henry, 3s, dead heat, 3. Time, 26 1-5s.

Final: E. C. Fox, 1; S. C. Wright and K. Wright, dead heat, 2; P. Tranquille, 4. Time, 28s.

LEICHHARDT CLUB.

The Leichhardt amateur club decided a 50yds senior handicap on Saturday. First heat: J. Murray (scr.), 1; J. Wilson (3s), 2. Second heat: J. Halliday (4s), 1; R. Gardiner (3s), 2. Third heat: W. Elliott (5s), 1; E. Murray (9s), 2. Final: Murray, 1; Elliott, 2.

METROPOLITAN LADIES' CLUB.

Fifty Yards Handicap.—First heat: Miss Townsend, 1; Miss Offord, 2; Miss Ryan, 3. Time, 48s. Second heat: Miss Valentine, 1; Miss Fitzjohn, 2; Miss Phillips, 3. Time, 53s. Third heat: Miss Wian, 1; Miss Cambridge, 2; Miss Cullen, 3. Time, 48s. Fourth heat: Miss J. Evans, 1; Miss Johnson, 2; Miss Cockburn, 3. Time, 47s. Final: Miss Townsend, 1; Miss Evans, 2; Miss Wian, 3. Time, 46s.

ANGLING.

AUSTRALASIAN FLY-CASTING CHAMPIONSHIP.

The New South Wales Anglers' Casting Club continued the Australasian fly-casting championship tournament at the club's pond, Centennial Park, on Saturday. A very strong wind blew irregularly from behind and across the targets, rendering accuracy very difficult at times; nevertheless, very good performances were accomplished. The winner of the event—wet fly-casting with three flies at oblong targets, 19 to 51 ft from the pontoon—was Mr. W. E. Wilson, whose total placed him 47 points ahead of the second man, the other four placed competitors being close together. Mr. C. H. Gorrick's first round was an exceptionally good one; the wind may have favoured him a little, but his casting was very clean and consistent throughout. His second effort was not nearly so successful. Mr. Wilson scored evenly right through. He used his left hand, which gave him an advantage, and proves the value of ambidexterity in fly-casting. Mr. H. J. Ackland's first round was his best, although the wind was extra violent while he was on the pontoon. Mr. F. W. Ebeling's casting was very good; in the two rounds he only lost 8 points for demerits. Mr. H. K. Anderson performed best in the second round, but was badly treated by the wind in the first. The judging was in the hands of Mr. J. W. Bradshaw, assisted by Mr. H. J. Solomon. The scores were:—

1. Mr. W. E. Wilson, first round 169 points, second round 198 points; total, 367 points, 5 points in aggregate.
2. Mr. C. H. Gorrick, first round 216 points, second round 104 points; total, 320 points, 4 points in aggregate.
3. Mr. H. J. Ackland, first round 188 points, second round 122 points; total, 310 points, 3 points in aggregate.
4. F. W. Ebeling, first round 166 points, second round 140 points; total, 306 points, 2 points in aggregate.
5. H. K. Anderson, first round 128 points, second round 176 points; total, 304 points, 1 point in aggregate.

Aggregate points: Messrs. C. H. Gorrick 15, H. K. Anderson 12, H. J. Ackland 11, Dr. H. L. Maitland 6, Messrs. W. E. Wilson 5, F. W. Ebeling 5, H. O. Chidgey 3, J. Scoular 2 points.

On Saturday next the final event in the championship tournament, viz., wet fly-casting, for distance, will be conducted, and on Friday, October 24, the annual dinner will be held at the Wentworth Hotel, when the distribution of trophies will be made. A consolation tournament, open only to members who have not won a championship event, will conclude the season's events.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

THIS is addressed to those mothers of girls and boys who are beginning to be afraid that "music simply isn't in" their children, it's so hard to keep them interested in it.

SHE PRACTISED AND SHE PRACTISED— BUT SHE NEVER LEARNED TO PLAY.

Surely, you never heard of a child who didn't love music. But practising—that's another matter. Nothing is harder or more tiresome work—especially when there are other things going on—evening parties or outside games.
There's only one way to make practising less hard and less tiresome—that is to keep in front of your boys' or girls' minds the fact that SOME day they are going to be good players, musicians.
But how?
Incentive. They should know what good music is and what good playing is. If you could play and WOULD play for them, they couldn't ask for a better incentive. They would practise till their fingers ached to learn to play as well.
But you don't play. And that is why you need the Steck PIANOLA Piano to give your children the incentive you yourself can't give them. Keeping up their interest will be the least of your worries when a PIANOLA Piano comes into your home.
Do you think, because anyone can play the Steck PIANOLA Piano, that they will lose interest or become discouraged with their own efforts?
No. They will practise as never before—to be able to do with their own two hands what the PIANOLA Piano does so perfectly. It is the greatest incentive in the world to make girls and boys want to be good players, and try to be.
And then, think of your world of beautiful music, of finished masterly playing, to offset the finger exercises and scales you listen to while your children are still beginners.
The Steck Pianola Piano, whose wonders as a Player-Piano are not equalled by any other at any price, is an instrument ideally unmechanical and mysteriously sympathetic to your slightest expression and modulations.
Come and hear it to-day. We ask you to be our guest, without obligation of any kind.
If unable to call, let us send you a Catalog of the Steck Pianola Piano. We will send it free if you will ask for Catalog T.

A RELIABLE PIANO FOR YOUR HOME.
Good intentions and good materials alone will not make a perfect piano. Unless highly skilled workmen of experience and ability are employed, the very best results are impossible. When you purchase one of the latest models of OUR BRITISH-BUILT SAMES PIANO you obtain an honest instrument that will give you perfect satisfaction. The care and thoroughness with which the SAMES is made ensures the permanence of its rich tone quality and great durability, and we place our own full guarantee as a further safeguard on every instrument. SAMES PIANOS, in handsome Upright Models, artistic in tone quality, and perfectly durable, are sold by us for cash or on easy time payments. Catalogues and price lists are free, but it will pay you better to call and inspect.

FRECKLES AND TAN ARE EASILY MOVED.
"Herald" women-folk readers will be interested in the new way of PERMANENTLY removing the worst freckles, tan and browness, coarseness and roughness resulting from the sun. Massage a little pure Thermol into the face, arms, or hands every night, and in a fortnight or so there'll not be a freckle or trace of tan left. Thermol causes the outer harsh freckled brown skin to flake off in tiny flakes that you cannot see or feel, revealing the clear, smooth, soft underskin in all its purity and sweetness. It'll then be many months before the skin can freckle or tan again. Get the large 3/9 jars (post free 4/1), which may be had from DURNO, LTD., Chemists, Pitt-street, Sydney; and FIRKIN and DALBY, Chemists, Newcastle.

"KEEP THE STOCK MOVING,"

This is one of the first principles of successful merchandising.
Goods are bought to be sold—quickly.
And the more successfully a merchant buys, the more keenly will he be able to sell—and the faster will his goods travel from shelf to customer.
There you have one of the reasons why the goods at Denison House are always fresh and up to date. That also explains why we are able to offer the Weekly Specials which have made our store a source of attraction to Sydney's economists. Just look at the wonderful value we have set apart for this week.

SNOWS
DAILY MARKET REPORT.

A CHANGE SHEET WHICH SHOWS THE LATEST MOVEMENTS IN INVESTMENT STOCKS.

"The world is my Spy and I pay the highest price for information,"
This was the reply of a great financier when asked why he succeeded in big deals which brought disaster to others.
A good rule for Stocks and Shares should be equally good in buying Ladies' and Children's Apparel and House Drapery. Information for the buyer of these things is given daily in this space of

SNOWS.

It tells you where the best values are to be had—and it is reliable.

SPONGE CLOTHS—THE MATERIAL ON WHICH FASHION IS SMILING.

Everywhere the cry is for rough-surfaced materials—Sponge Cloths, Ratines, and Crepes. They are the rage—and at Snow's you can be sure of getting just what you require.
WE'VE MADE A WINDOW DISPLAY OF THESE NEW SPONGE RATINES.
It's a new fabric, and is sure to be most popular. Snow's bought early—result, a big price concession for you. Note the large range of shades—Vieux Rose, Tan, Sand, Banana, White, Grey, Brown, Lime, Green, Saxe, Sky, Pink, Cerise, Sulphur. Width, 40 inches. Might easily fetch 2/3 yard. SNOW'S PRICE, 1/11½.

ALSO A WINDOW OF TUSSORE SILKS.
—and note the width—34 inches. Hardly necessary to remind you that 34 inches is THE WIDTH for Tussores. SNOW'S PRICES 1/4½, 1/6½, 1/9, 1/11½, and 2/6 yard.
HEAVIER TUSSORES, 2/11, 3/3, and 3/6 yard. Something with plenty of body, fine quality, 3/11.
Assam Silks, 4/11, 5/6.
SPONGE CLOTHS, 40 inches wide. This is a heavy ratine weave for the combination Coats and Skirts, like those seen at the Races. For the pretty Costees large and small broken checks, in Tan and White, Brown and White, Black and White, Saxe and White, Blue and White, Grey and White for wearing over White or self-coloured skirt. SNOW'S PRICE, 4/6 yard.
HEAVY SPONGE CLOTH, with diagonal stripes. 40 inches wide. Quite a novelty and most attractive. This material may be used for Costees or full "Suits." Shades are Blue and White, Saxe and White, Brown and White. SNOW'S PRICE, 3/11.
STRIPED RATINES, 40 inches wide. Another splendid material, in shades of Saxe and Blue, with Black, and Tan with Brown. SNOW'S PRICE, 3/11 yard.
SPONGE VOILES, 40 inches wide, in shades of Brown, Tan, Sulphur, Pheasant (a new brown), Saxe, Black, White, Vieux Rose, Sky, Pink, Grey, and Navy. SNOW'S PRICE, 2/3 yard.
SPONGE CLOTHS.—They always look fresh and dainty, 40 inches wide, in the following shades:—Pink, Vieux Rose, Tan, Sand, Banana, Brown, and Sky. SNOW'S PRICE, 1/11½ yard.
SPONGE CLOTHS—FRENCH FINISH. This is a very fine quality, and nice to handle. Choice shades include Saxe, Brown, Tan, Lime, Pink, Apricot, Sand, Banana, Navy, and White. SNOW'S PRICE, 2/6 yard.

THE "WECK" METHOD OF PRESERVING FRUITS AND PROVISIONS.

DAILY DEMONSTRATIONS
FROM 2 to 5 P.M.
The "Weck" Patent Apparatus ensures provisions of all kinds being preserved in a thoroughly fresh condition.
This system of sterilising food has been evolved after many years' testing and experience. It is not at all complicated, in fact, those who attend the Demonstration are surprised at the ease with which its splendid results are accomplished. Samples of various foods preserved in the Patent Weck Jars may be inspected at the Demonstration. There has never yet been any system of Preserving to equal that of the "Weck." We cordially invite attendance at the afternoon Demonstrations.
Patrons will also have the opportunity of viewing the Demonstration of the "Calorie" Fireless Cooker, which is held at the same time, and in the same Department.

OFFER THESE

SPLENDID VALUES IN LADIES' LINGERIE.

—as illustrative of these many attractions present in our Underclothing Department.
Every garment we show is freshly-opened stock of the most satisfying style, and the small prices marked make them very appreciable values, indeed.
LADIES' CAMISOLES, 2/11.
In Muslin, with embroidered front—muslin sleeves—trimmed edging and beading—threaded ribbon. This Camisole is finished with basque and made in various sizes for all figures. The muslin will wash well, and the embroidery is a fine quality and pretty design.
LONGCLOTH KNICKERS, 2/6.
Another special line of good style and finish. Is trimmed with embroidery, tucks, and feather-stitched braid. In good lengths. Cut with ample material. An exceptional value—quite beyond the ordinary.
LADIES' NIGHTDRESSES, 2/11.
In either Calico or Madapolam. Fitted with long sleeves, finished at wrist with tucks and embroidery. The body has full tucked front trimmed embroidery, collar or square neck. Seams are strongly sewn. At 2/11 this garment will meet with approval by every lady who sees it.
These goods will be seen in Underclothing Department, 2nd Floor.

COSTUMES.

"SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT" FOR MONDAY, TUESDAY, and WEDNESDAY ONLY.

"A Special Table of Ladies' Robes at 29/11 each." This is a popular price, and Foy's are going to still further popularise it by marking 3 big tables of Ladies' Dresses at that price. Now, Ladies, there will be something really marvellous in the way of value, some of them worth as much as 63/. They are in Voiles, Satins, Glace Silks, Hand-made Muslins, Sponge Cloths, etc. They are in all the latest styles, and the price is only 29/11. 29/11.

Good news for Bargain Seekers. Foy's have to-day purchased a big stock of Manufacturer's Goods at an enormous reduction—owing to that unfortunate individual going insolvent, but one man's loss is another's gain, so come and join in the feast of bargains, Ladies, for every garment is under manufacturer's cost. There are all classes of Robes, Coats, Skirts, and Maids' Frocks, all sizes, and all prices.

Just some of the daintiest Voile Blouses it has ever been your pleasure to behold are on view in our Showroom at the present moment. There are sixteen different styles in all, and we are really proud of them; the seams are all double-sewn, and we guarantee they will not tear or break apart; in fact, you are welcome to test them for yourself. Ladies', we want you to come and inspect these blouses; you will be delighted with them, especially at the price, for we offer you your choice for 10/9.

Another shipment to hand of dainty "SUMMER WEIGHT SPORTS' COATS." in fancy mercerised stripes. These are all the "Rage" in London at the present moment, and they are worn for Tennis, Golf, Yachting, etc., and they are sure to be a "Boon" here, so set the fashion yourself, for the price is only 12/6. All colours.

A fresh "Shipment" of Ladies' Model Blouses, in French Hand-made Lingerie, just to hand. They are in high or low necks, long, short, and ¾ sleeves, each style is a distinct model in itself, and the prices are very moderate indeed for such beautiful Blouses. Prices range FROM 11/9 to 19/11.

A Special Table of Ladies' Fancy Coloured Veiled Ninon over Net and Lace Blouses. These are in two styles—one a dainty Magyar Blouse, the other a very pretty little Baby Puritan Blouse, with lace ruffle at neck and sleeves. These are the very thing for wearing with Navy Serge Skirts, for they look very neat and ladylike. Prices—9/11 and 10/11.

Special Table of Ladies' Fancy Cotton Underskirts, in Cambric and Fancy Striped Sateens. The Sateen Underskirts are nicely pleated and finished with Floral Paisley Border. The Cambrics are similarly finished. Foy's Special Price is Cambric, 2/11½; Floral Sateen, 3/11½; Plain Black, also at 3/11½.

Another Special Table contains some very useful and serviceable Sateen (Black) and Fancy Striped Cambric Blouses; with high starched fancy collars of same material. These we have in good assortment of fancy stripes and all sizes. Prices—2/11, 3/11, 4/11.

Something Very Special To-day in Foy's Showroom in Ladies' Smart One-piece Tussore Silk Robes. These are very cool for summer wear, and we have a large range of the very latest styles. There is one style at 18/11 and 14/11 each, the value of which will surprise you.

Ladies.—We have just received from the Continent the very latest thing in Bath Gowns and Surf Gowns. They are made in very fine-quality Turkish Towelling, in plain colours and striped effects. They are cool, and will wash and wash for ever (almost), and they look very neat. Good collection of styles to choose from. Prices range from 10/6 to 22/6.

PITT-STREET HORDERNS

CAN OFFER YOU PRESSING REASONS FOR A QUICK VISIT.

Folks have learnt by experience to TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT.
WHEN WE SAY, "BUY QUICKLY," THERE'S ALWAYS A REASON.

TO-DAY WE HAVE ONE HUNDRED DOZEN of those Wonderful
OSMAN TOWELS.
as fine a White Turk as you ever handled, WORTH HALF A CROWN, with the words "Osman Sheeting" in the centre. The Towel is to advertise the Sheeting, and a better sheeting has never been made. Just because of the Ad. the Half-crown Towel sells at 13½d!
The last lot we had, 150 dozen, popped out before 11 a.m. the day we advertised them.
BUY QUICKLY.
Then we have, also,
THREE HUNDRED
SAMPLE TURK. TOWELS,
in White and Variously Coloured Stripes.
WHY, IT'S SURFING TIME! and the Sample Towels are marked at Sample Prices, which means about ONE-THIRD OFF USUAL.
Do you expect to find many left after a morning's selling? We don't, so
BUY QUICKLY.
Once more, here's another reason why you should catch that early train, tram, boat.
TWO HUNDRED
SAMPLE TOILET COVERS.
These are in Honeycomb and Marcella, in all sizes and many qualities.
Every bedroom needs them, and these are worth putting away until you want to use them, for here, again, Sample Prices mean about ONE-THIRD OFF USUAL.
Hotel and Boarding-houses are interested in a line like this, and they waste no time about it, either, so
BUY QUICKLY.
Then, again, if you have an eye for Beauty as well as Economy, you will admire this DANDY LINE OF MERCERISED DAMASKS.
WE HAVE ONLY SIX PIECES.
The quality is of the finest, and the face is like a piece of Satin, while the patterns are, honestly, about the prettiest we have yet seen.
This Damask is 68 inches wide, washes and wears splendidly, and is fit for anybody's table.
It is easily Half-a-Crown Value.
TO SELL AT 1/11 PER YARD.
You can surely do with a cloth or two at a price like that, but we have only six pieces, so
BUY QUICKLY.
It's as we said, we can show you good reasons for your Early Visit to-day; and every day you will see our departments awake with something to attract and save you money.
IF YOU UNLUCKILY CAN'T GET IN, pop a letter into the post right away, with our full address to avoid mistakes; or, better still,
RING UP 3800 CITY,
HOUSE LINEN DEPARTMENT.
WE PAY CARRIAGE ON THESE AND ALL DRAPERY, BOOTS, AND CLOTHING ALL OVER AUSTRALIA.

HORDERN BROTHERS,
THE HOME DRAPERS,
203 TO 211 PITT-STREET, SYDNEY.

"NEGLECT"

IS GOOD

FOR THE DENTIST.

Perhaps you are one of those who think that your teeth are not so bad after all. One or two gone, one or two broken, a few somewhat discoloured, or, maybe, one or two loose ones, and so on, but still you "manage" with them. Wait till something goes wrong, and you fly for a doctor. It does not occur to you it might be your teeth that have brought on the trouble; yet it is more than possible. Bad teeth cannot do their work properly, and the digestive organs are thereby subjected to undue strain by solid pieces of food that were "bolted." With my facilities and inducements, there's no excuse to put off a visit. The facilities I offer are complete absence of pain—and if you cannot pay cash, I am willing to open an account. The inducement I offer is a written guarantee that ALL WORK WILL BE KEPT IN PERFECT ORDER AGAINST ACCIDENT OR OTHERWISE FOR THREE YEARS WITHOUT FURTHER CHARGE. I do my work at prices that sweep aside opposition.

A GOLD FILLING FROM 10/6.

CROWNS FROM ...... 41/1.

A SET OF TEETH FROM 42/2/.

PAINLESS EXTRACTIONS 2/6.

OUR DAILY SPECIAL LINE.

EVENING WRAPS OF SATIN ANGLAISE.

TO-DAY 42/—USUALLY 57/9.

A fascinating design—and the latest for evening wear—made of soft shimmering Satin Anglaise, in several delicate shades, and also Black and White.

It is the greatly favoured Magyar effect, a loose shape, easy to slip into. Outlined round neck and down front with hem-stitched satin ruching, and trimmed with two satin half medallions at fastening. This is an exceptionally charming design, and a splendid value at the ordinary price.

TO-DAY 42/; USUALLY 57/9.

The reduced price is for to-day only. Country residents who mail their orders immediately on receipt of this announcement will have their order executed at the reduced price and sent carriage paid.

SPECIAL OFFER
BETWEEN THE SEASONS.

Ladies' Tailor-made Costumes, cut and fitted by Mr. Page, at a special price of 9 gns. The object of this low price is to retain our large staff of workers throughout the summer season.
